ARABS RELEASE PASTOR WITH A KISS FOR $2,500

Ohio Preacher Tells Kidnap Adventure.

JERUSALEM, July 25 (AP).—Exhausted and ill as a result of eating tribal food, the Rev. Gerould Goldner, 29 years old, kidnaped Ohio minister, was returned to the Holy City and the arms of his father today, a week after he had been taken captive by a wandering Arab band in the Moab hills.

The Rev. Gerould Goldner.

Describing the experience, which ended in a friendship feast with his captors, the young pastor said it was an adventure "I'll never forget nor want to do over again."

The overjoyed father, Dr. Jacob Goldner, also an Ohio minister, and the son made no mention of a ransom payment, but it was learned that the Bedouin emissary who conducted the final negotiations carried $2,500 on his trip into the hills—half the amount that was originally demanded.

Hidden in Dry Well.

District Commissioner Keith Roach, driving his automobile between Bethlehem and Hebron, saw Goldner riding a donkey toward Jerusalem, ascertained his identity and rushed him to his waiting father at the Jerusalem Y. M. C. A. Father and son embraced with tears of joy.

"Gee, pops, I'm glad to see you, pops," cried the young minister.

The son was immediately taken to a private room and given warm food in an effort to ease his stomach pains.

He ripped off grimy clothing, supplied by his Arab captors, took a shower and shaved, all the while talking animatedly to his father and his friend, the Rev. Clifford Moore of Akron, O., of being hidden in a dry well in the desert.

While Goldner talked Dr. Kalbian, Jerusalem physician, completed his medical examination and announced that the pastor's condition was good except for exhaustion, diarrhea, and bites from sheepticks.

Goldner related that he left the gang's latest hiding place near Hebron shortly after noon, after he and his captors had kissed each other on both cheeks and had sworn eternal friendship."

Goldner's story was that the captors "treated me fine, but there was once or twice when things came to close shave, and I thought the end was near."

"When my father left me I thought I was never going to see him again," he said, "and I tried my best to keep up my spirits by singing songs, learning Arabic, playing cards and other games with my captors."

Returns Victim's Watch.

However, he said, the Arabs were anxious about his welfare and when they parted at a farewell feast, at which speeches were exchanged, the rebel leader returned his gold watch and other effects which had been taken from him. The leader explained that he understood the watch was a present from Goldner's wife.

The pastor said he had pledged his word not to disclose his captors' names, identities, or whereabouts. He said he was ignorant of his whereabouts throughout his captivity. Although he sometimes saw the lights of villages, his captors never took him close.

After receiving congratulations from George Wadsworth, American consul general, Goldner was put to bed for his first night of uninterrupted rest since his journey to Mar Saba, by the Dead sea, which ended in his capture on July 18. The physician refused to allow him to be disturbed for an official statement when police arrived shortly after he went to sleep.

Father "Speechless with Joy."

Wadsworth expressed appreciation for all who had aided in the negotiations, and received the "grateful thanks" of the father and son.

"I am speechless with joy and happy

PLOTS TO STEAL AND KILL LAID TO COMMUNISTS

Witness Bares Plan for Armed Revolt.

San Francisco, Cal., July 25 [Special].—Testimony that communists on the Pacific coast approved of robbery to replenish their funds, plotted murder to accomplish their ends, and planned a revolution "by bullets, not ballots," was given today at the Harry Bridges deportation hearing here.

Merriel P. Bacon. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

The witness who made the charges is Merriel P. Bacon, a policeman from Portland, Ore. Called as an expert in communistic affairs, he said he had joined the communist party as a spy in 1930. One of his most sensational statements was that he had been informed party members had engineered a $40,000 robbery of a bank messenger in San Francisco.

Describes Red Teaching.

"This was communicated to me while I was a communist by persons of high authority in the party," Bacon declared. "They taught it was not wrong to seize property if it could be done without harming the standing of the party among labor organizations."

San Francisco policemen professed to be puzzled about the testimony of Bacon. They said there was only one robbery of a bank messenger in the city still unsolved, and the amount involved was only $2,500.

Bridges is president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union and west coast leader for John L. Lewis' Committee of Industrial Organizations. The immigration service is seeking his deportation to his native Australia on the ground that he, an alien, seeks the overthrow of the United States government by violence.

Seek to Prove Violence.

In two weeks of testimony before Trial Examiner James M. Landis the immigration authorities have presented a mass of evidence to show that Bridges is a communist. They are now seeking to supply proof that violence is among the tenets of the communists.

Bridges was not present at the hearing today. His lawyers said he was ill.

Many communist pamphlets and books were introduced and identified by Bacon, who resumed his police work after getting out of the communist party when his true status became known. These publications, he said, were recommended by the leaders.

"It is taught," he testified, "that the ruling class will not give up without a struggle, and that there must be armed conflict. Here's a book that says you have to use a rifle and fight in the streets."

Quotes Communist Leader.

Bacon quoted from a speech which, he said, was delivered in Los Angeles by Paul Cline, a communist leader. The quotation was:

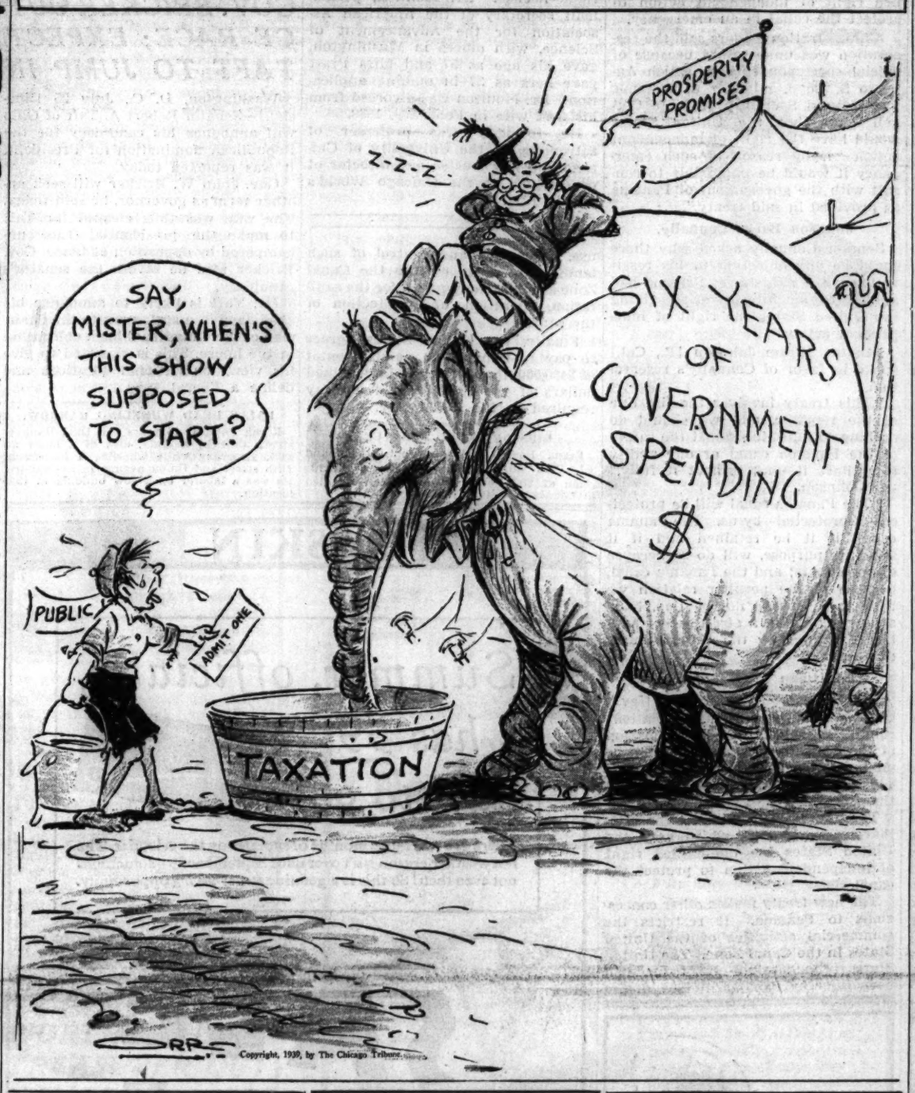
"We want new members, but they must understand it is hard to be a communist. They must, upon demand, give up the entire week to follow the decisions of the party. They must understand that the revolution will be fought with bullets."

At another point Bacon asserted a group of Los Angeles communists plotted to "murder several stool pigeons of the Los Angeles police department." The plot, which was not carried out, was discussed as Bacon drove the group to San Quentin prison to visit several persons convicted of criminal syndicalism, the witness said.

Bacon's only reference to Bridges came when he said that the labor organizer was described by communists as a man who was doing a lot of good work for the party.

The government will soon complete its presentation of testimony. Attorneys for Bridges will then offer their defense.

STILL WATERING THE ELEPHANT



Lays a Wreath on Lake Grave of Sailor Son

BY MARCIA WINN.

Two miles out in Lake Michigan off Calumet harbor in South Chicago a black triangular structure juts out of the water. To this spot Mrs. Clara Pentosky of 350 Second avenue, Joliet, yesterday made her way.

The black steel triangle is the tip of the A-frame superstructure of the motorship Material Service which sank ten minutes from harbor, in a fierce squall three years ago this Saturday. Aboard her were 2,000 tons of sand and gravel and twenty-two men.

Seven of the men were saved. The bodies of fourteen others later were recovered, but the body of Marshall Oberlin, 28 years old, is still in the sunken cabin where he was sleeping. Divers saw it, but were unable to retrieve it.

Calls Wreckage a Memorial.

For three years Mrs. Pentosky has tried to get near the sunken ship. She wanted a picture of the spot where the black triangle juts out of five fathoms of water, for to her, she says, the triangle stands as a memorial to her son. Marshall Oberlin was her eldest son and the father of her five grandchildren.

Once she tried to get near the spot in a launch, but the waves were too rough. At other times she has walked to the end of the Calumet breakwater and gazed across the water. Finally, hearing that even the black triangle was sinking gradually, she appealed to the United States Coast Guard.

So yesterday afternoon, despite threatening skies, Mrs. Pentosky set out in a coast guard speedboat piloted by Chief Petty Officer C. E. Howell. In her hand she carried a wreath, and all along the way she made confused little apologies for disturbing the coast guard.

"But it's his grave, you know," she said, "and I've never been there, and when that disappears I'll never know where he is."

She Conquers Her Fear.

On the way she spoke of her fear of the water. She never wanted to be near it, she said. But when the little speedboat arrived at the spot where the superstructure, a tiny, silver gull resting on its tip, loomed out of twenty-five feet of water above the 250 foot hulk of the ship, she picked up the wreath and moved from her seat.

"I want to hang this on it," she said, stepping quickly out onto the prow. And when Chief Howell started to deter her, she said, calmly, "O, no! I'm quite all right. I'm not afraid."

Then, as the boat moved away, she sighed, "I think I'll be satisfied now. I've never been satisfied before."

PEER URGES BRITAIN TO ACT FOR SOLUTION OF DEBT TO AMERICA

LONDON, July 25 (AP).—Lord Samuel, former home secretary and high commissioner to Palestine, told the house of lords today he hoped that Lord Lothian, ambassador designate to the United States, would be able to make "some progress toward solution of this grave matter." He referred to Great Britain's war debt to the United States.

Lord Samuel said he hoped for such action, "first because it [the debt question] concerns our financial credit with the United States and with other countries, which may be of great moment should there be war; second, because it has a strong political bearing upon opinion in America, which also is a matter of perhaps even greater moment; and most of all, because the honor of the British name is involved in our failure hitherto to fulfill obligations solemnly undertaken."

Two Family Bibles Record Births Since 1798 and 1828

Pana, Ill., July 25 [Special].—W. E. Barbre and wife, for many years residents of Christian county, have two family Bibles dating back to 100 and 150 years ago. Barbre's Bible records the date of the birth of his great-great-uncle, Edward Barbre, in 1798. His wife's Bible has a record of births dating back to 1828 and 1836. The pen writing of the records of births and deaths is perfectly legible.

Lion Escapes; Claws Two; Terrifies Carnival Throng

Watertown, N. Y., July 25 (AP).—A 250 pound lion escaped at a carnival today, clawed two attendants, and terrified an old home week crowd before it was recaptured an hour and a half later. The lion escaped while being transferred from its cage to a display wagon, intended for a Lions club celebration in a public square. State police, using tear gas, finally drove the lion back into its cage.

Son of Doctor Charged with Porch Slaying

Benton, Ill., July 25 [Special].—A warrant charging George W. Gore Jr. with the murder of his stepmother was issued late tonight by State's Attorney J. Ray Jones.

Jones said the accused man, who is 30 years old, would be released tomorrow on $10,000 bond signed by his father, Dr. George W. Gore, wealthy surgeon, and another relative. This was in accordance with an agreement made between the prosecutor and young Gore's attorney, Carl Choisser, before the murder warant was issued. Choisser is the accused man's cousin. It was indicated young Gore would remain at liberty until the grand jury considers his case in September.

Await Check on Alibi.

It was explained, however, that he will not be admitted to bond unless the report of Chief of Police James Mundell is satisfactory. Mundell is to report by telephone tomorrow from Sikeston, Mo., where young Gore and his wife, Kathryn, 26, say they were at the time Gore's stepmother was shot to death on a sleeping porch at her home here early last Sunday.

The young Gores were brought back here late today from Marion, where they had been held in the Williamson county jail. At Marion they had been placed in a room where there was a dictograph, but officials said the instrument gave them no help.

For two hours the couple and the slain woman's husband were questioned here. Young Mrs. Gore and Dr. Gore were then released.

Unable to Suggest Motive.

It was learned that Gore and his wife registered at the Marshall hotel in Sikeston at noon Sunday, about nine hours after the slaying in Benton, approximately 100 miles away.

Dr. Gore has insisted that he cannot advance any motive for the slaying of his wife. He said she was shot five times when she arose from bed to investigate the smashing of glass in the sleeping porch window.

While the investigation proceeded this afternoon funeral services were held for the slain woman.

Mrs. Gore was 45 years old—20 years younger than her husband. She was his second wife, whom he married two years ago. She had been his secretary for ten years.

Gunmen Raid Nonunionists on Bridge Job

Boonville, Ind., July 25 [Special].—One man was shot to death, another was critically wounded, at least six others received minor gunshot wounds, and nearly a score were beaten today in a battle between laborers and nonworking union men.

Arrows locate labor battles in Indiana.

The fight occurred at a bridge construction project in Millersburg, a village of fewer than 500 persons, ten miles northwest of here. Members of the local Hod Carriers and Common Laborers union have been attempting to force the workers into the union.

Six Wounded by Shotgun.

Sheriff Gus Barclay of Warrick county announced tonight the arrest of George Delk, 45 years old, of Millersburg, a former Kentuckian. The sheriff said Delk, a project worker, admitted the killing but insisted that he shot in self-defense when union men fired at him.

The man killed was John Pilkleton, 35, of Elberfield. George Hammond, 45, who lives near Millersburg, is in an Evansville hospital with serious gun shot wounds. Both were members of the union. Six others are known to have been struck by shotgun pellets. The sheriff said they were workmen.

Gerald Scales, 36, of Huntingburg, a nonunion worker, was beaten with clubs. Twelve stitches were required to close a gash in his head.

Tonight Sheriff Barclay went to Evansville and arrested John Soucie, the union organizer, on a charge of rioting. Soucie has admitted, according to Henry Moser, a deputy coroner, that he was in command of the union forces at Millersburg. He was freed on bond.

Sheriff Warned of Trouble.

Sheriff Barclay was called to the bridge at 7 a. m. by a report that workers feared an attack. Since he was awarded the bridge building contract last spring, O. P. Ollinger of Huntingburg and his workmen, Ollinger said, have been threatened.

Sheriff Barclay remained at the bridge about four hours. The battle started when he left.

One witness said a dozen automobiles containing armed men drove up to the bridge and that twenty-five men jumped out and began firing. Guns were produced by the defenders and the battle raged 15 minutes. Many swung clubs.

Deputy Coroner Moser said Soucie told him that unknown men drove up and began firing while he and his followers were trying to persuade the foreman to hire only union workers.

TEAR GAS ROUTS PICKETS

La Porte, Ind., July 25 [Special].—Four men were injured and a crowd of 200 pickets and sympathizers was dispersed with tear gas today in an outbreak of labor violence at the strike-bound plant of the La Porte Foundry company.

Pickets armed with clubs attacked a group of forty workmen in an unsuccessful effort to halt a back to work movement. After a sharp skirmish, all but four of the workmen entered the plant, which had been closed since May 17.

NEW DEAL RACES TIME TO RESCUE SPENDING BILL

Key Measure's Fate Held in Doubt.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—The senate late today began consideration of President Roosevelt's 2 billion 390 million dollar lending-spending bill, which has yet to be reported by committees of the house of representatives and the ultimate fate of which remains in doubt.

Consideration of the bill was delayed in the senate all day yesterday and for five hours today by a parliamentary snarl produced by other legislation.

Each day's delay increases the apprehension of administration leaders. With congress impatient for adjournment by the end of next week at the latest, proponents of the lending-spending scheme acknowledge their fear that it will be sidetracked in the closing days of the session.

Barkley Confesses Fears.

Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.] manifested uneasiness about the clamor to adjourn and leave the spending bill on ice. In a statement to the senate he said his attention had been directed to rumors that enough senators would leave Washington by the end of this week to make it impossible to obtain a quorum.

"It is incredible to me that members of the senate would do such a thing," Barkley said. "I cannot believe that the rumor has any foundation. I certainly hope it has not."

The senate is expected to devote the remainder of the week to the lending-spending bill and there is little prospect that it will be reported to the house in time for consideration before next week.

The formula of the lending-spending program was proposed before the monopoly committee by A. A. Berle Jr., assistant secretary of state and a leading New Deal financial brain truster.

Denounced by Special Committee.

The Republican special committee on national debt policy, consisting of 10 house members headed by Representative Daniel A. Reed of New York, relied on Berle's testimony in a report today denouncing the lending-spending scheme as "state socialism by stealth."

The Republican report assailed the New Deal's fourth huge spending program as a "gigantic political pork barrel," a device for "spending by deception," and a subterfuge to evade the statutory debt limit of 45 billion dollars.

The President's proposal calls for spending outside the federal budget. The Reconstruction Finance corporation would finance the various separate programs by selling government guaranteed debentures to the public.

Call It Sign of Lost Faith.

The Republican committee quoted Berle's testimony that a continuation of direct government financing of activities heretofore supposed to be private would result inevitably in government control and ownership of those activities.

"Only those who have lost faith in America and, as a consequence, have fallen prey to the collectivist infection, would propose such a bill as this," the committee said. "The President evidently believes that America is stagnated permanently because in proof he points to 'vast reservoirs' of private capital.

"The President, however, ignores the paramount fact that these reservoirs of credit have been created and rendered stagnant by his own unsound deficit financing program."

"Our analysis reveals that the new program differs in two major and highly dangerous respects from previous New Deal spending efforts," the report continued. "First, spending from now on will take the deceptive form, as well as the deceptive name, of lending; second, runaway spending by lending will become a permanent function of the federal government and will be under the absolute discretion of the President."

CHARGE WAGE LAW CZARISM

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—A charge that organized labor dictates the administration of the wages and hours act was denied by Elmer F.

Andrews, wage-hour administrator, at a noisy hearing before the house rules committee today.

Andrews' words were quoted to support the allegation. He admitted he had been correctly quoted recently when he said that it would not be ethical for him to support an amendment exempting $200 a month employés from the act because of the "swell job" organized labor had done in coöperating with him in administration of the statute.

Labor Changes His Mind.

"Have you adopted a policy that you should be governed by organized labor?" inquired Representative Eugene E. Cox [D., Ga.].

"No," replied Andrews. He said he had changed his mind about exempting the so-called white collar workers because labor unions had convinced him that such an exemption would discriminate against veteran employés who attained the $200 monthly salary and more because of long service.

Such workers should not be penalized by being exempted from the forty-four hour week in effect at present which will eventually become a forty hour a week maximum, he said.

Andrews appeared to protest against amendments offered by Representative Graham A. Barden [D., N. C.] which would exempt many classes of agricultural workers from provisions of the law. He echoed President Roosevelt's statement that such amendments would exempt 2 million workers in the lowest wage scale.

Sought by Agriculture.

"I am getting tired of these statistics which are apparently grabbed out of the chandelier," retorted Barden. "The figure is nowhere near 2 million persons. These amendments are earnestly desired by agriculture and the house should be given an opportunity to consider them."

Barden asked the committee to grant a special rule bringing up his amendment for a vote in the house. He was opposed by Mrs. Mary T. Norton [D., N. J.], chairman of the labor committee, who, at the administration's behest, has been keeping the amendments locked up in her committee.

"Mr. Barden is a victim of the agriculture lobbyists," said Mrs. Norton. "After he has assured me many times that he was in agreement with me he has had his mind changed by these selfish pressure groups."

Disputes Mrs. Norton.

Barden reddened with anger and interrupted when, a moment later, Mrs. Norton intimated that Barden had not told the truth about a motion he said he had made before the committee.

"I have always made it a habit to be courteous to ladies," he said, "but maybe this is a case where courteousness to ladies is not right. I want to say in the most polite manner that I can that the lady's statement is not true."

The Barden amendments would eliminate the overtime provisions in regard to employés engaged in the grading or storage of grain; the wholesale distribution of fruits and vegetables; logging; the processing of dairy products; canning of seasonal fruits and vegetables; slaughter of live stock; marketing of poultry, and the preparation of tobacco.

The Barden white collar amendment eliminates the overtime provisions for employés receiving $150 a month or more if such employé is not required by his employer to work any specified minimum number of hours in any work week and has been notified by his employers in writing.

The committee postponed action until tomorrow, suggesting that Mrs. Norton, Barden, and Administrator Andrews get together and work out a compromise.

SENATE RATIFIES NEW CANAL ZONE DEFENSE TREATY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—The New Deal's "good neighbor" treaty with Panama, obligating the United States to consult with that country before taking any naval or military action to safeguard the neutrality or security of the Panama canal, was ratified today by the senate. The vote was 65 to 16.

The senate approved the treaty after rejecting, 49 to 30, a reservation by Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.], to give the United States the unqualified right of independent action to protect the canal in an emergency.

Administration leaders said the reservation was unnecessary because of official correspondence in which Augusto S. Boyd, minister of Panama, had assured Secretary of State Cordell Hull that the United States would have the right of independent action "if by reason of such emergency it would be impossible to consult with the government of Panama as provided in said treaty."

Johnson Backs Connally.

Senator Connally asked why there could be any objection to his reservation if the minister of Panama had agreed to an interpretation giving the United States the right of independent action.

Senator Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.] spoke in favor of Connally's reservation.

"This treaty involves the life line of the republic, and we should do nothing to militate against the safety of the Panama canal or our ability to protect it—and protect it fully," said Johnson.

"The Panama canal will be protected—if protected—by us. The Panama canal, if it be retained and if it serve its purpose, will do so because of our efforts; and the Panama canal, because of the peculiar relation we have to it, should not be tied, hamstrung, or put in a strait jacket by a treaty ratified by the United States of America."

Pittman Fears Affront.

Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.], chairman of the foreign relations committee, said the senate's adoption of the Connally reservation would be an indication of distrust of the people of Panama and would offend them.

The new treaty supplants the original treaty of 1903, which gave the United States the unqualified right of independent action to protect the canal.

The new treaty makes other concessions to Panama. It restricts the commercial activities of the United States in the Canal Zone. The United States renounces the grant, made in perpetuity by Panama in 1903, of the use, occupation and control of such lands and waters outside the Canal Zone as might be required for the sanitation, operation, and protection of the canal.

Finally, the United States agrees to pay to Panama an annual rental of $430,000, the equivalent in devalued dollars of the $250,000 gold annuity required by the 1903 treaty.

MISS ALICIA PRATT.

Norristown, Pa., July 25 [Special].—Dr. Forest Ray Moulton, astronomer, and Miss Alicia Pratt of Winnetka, Ill., have applied here for a marriage license. Dr. Moulton, permanent secretary of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, with offices in Washington, gave his age as 57 and Miss Pratt gave hers as 37 in making application. Dr. Moulton was divorced from his first wife in February, 1938.

He formerly was professor of astronomy at the University of Chicago and was trustee and director of concessions at the Chicago World's fair in 1933.

LYONS CHARGES VOTE STEAL BEAT HIM FOR SENATE

Salem, Ill., July 25 (AP).—Richard L. Lyons of Libertyville charged today that the Democratic organization in Chicago "stole enough votes" in the 1938 election to defeat him for the office of United States senator.

"If any man ever was elected United States senator in Illinois, Dick Lyons was elected," he declared in an address before the Republican day crowd at the fifty-sixth annual soldiers and sailors' reunion here. He denounced what he called the maintenance of a political machine at the cost of WPA jobs for the laborer.

Besides Lyons, an avowed candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in 1940, three other Republican leaders—all introduced as potential candidates for the gubernatorial nomination—were on the program. They are Edward A. Hayes of Decatur, C. Wayland Brooks of Chicago, and Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield.

The annual Democratic rally will be held tomorrow, with United States Senator James Slattery of Chicago and Lieutenant Governor John Stelle as principal speakers.

GOV. BRICKER OUT OF RACE; EXPECT TAFT TO JUMP IN

Washington, D. C., July 25 [Special.]—Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio will announce his candidacy for the Republican nomination for President, it was reported today.

Gov. John W. Bricker will seek another term as governor, he said today. The way was thus cleared for Taft to make the presidential race unhampered by opposition at home. Gov. Bricker said he favors the senator's candidacy.

Mr. Taft is likely to announce his candidacy in a statement to the chairman of the Ohio Republican delegation in the house. This is expected to give his views on national questions and define a liberal.

FALLS DEAD WHEELING BARROW.

FARLEY OUSTER TALK IS ALL 'TOMMY ROT,' DECLARES PRESIDENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—President Roosevelt today dismissed as "tommyrot" reports that Thomas G. Corcoran, No. 1 White House adviser and lobbyist, and other New Deal radicals are bent on deposing James A. Farley as postmaster general and chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Thomas G. Corcoran.

The phrase was uttered when Mr. Roosevelt was asked at his press conference if he had any comment on rumors that Corcoran and others were out to oust Farley. As laughter at the pun on his advisers' first name died, Mr. Roosevelt said he did not mean to disparage Mr. Corcoran by the remark, but to nail down the reports.

In answer to a second question, he declared that without doubt Farley will still be postmaster general on his return from a seven week vacation in Europe. Farley will begin the trip when he sails from New York at noon tomorrow.

Chicagoans Escape When Car Crashes in Rain Storm

Three Oaks, Mich., July 25 [Special].—Dr. Elizabeth Straus of 1312 Astor street, Chicago, her three children and two other members of her household escaped serious injury today when their car turned over near here and smashed against a tree. Dr. Straus said her machine was crowded off the road by another car during a rain. With Dr. Straus were her children, Mary, 14 years old; Frances, 7, and David, 9; a maid, Mrs. Eugenia Deisel, and a nurse, Mrs. Carla Fritz. Dr. Straus bought a new car here and proceeded, with her party, to her farm at Three Rivers, Mich.

GARBAGE SYSTEM CHANGES WILL BE DISCUSSED TODAY

The city council finance committee will hold a special meeting today to consider changes in the city's refuse and garbage disposal system. Objections of property owners to dump nuisances have resulted in the closing of all dumps on the northwest side.

Yesterday ten members of the committee visited dumps, railroad loading platforms, and sites of proposed dumps. The aldermen also inspected the abandoned incinerator on Goose Island, which cost $800,000.

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, said it would require $350,000 to put the incinerator back into operation. Garbage disposal by the incinerator method would cost 53 cents per cubic yard compared with 32 cents for loading platforms and 25 cents for ordinary dumping pits, he said.

LONELY LIFE? NOT TO LIGHT KEEPER; HE'S TOO BUSY

Anyway, He's Now Become a Commuter.

If you want to insult a lighthouse keeper, just suggest to him that he leads a lonely life. He will deny it with vigor and illustrations.

R. A. McKillop, keeper of the Chicago harbor lighthouse, did yesterday. He resented the insult for the three lighthouses which operate the fourteen light in the Chicago area. Lighthouse keepers are not lonely, he says, because of [1] the telephone, [2] the radio, [3] modern transportation, and [4] the work they do in a seventy-two hour week.

They Now Commute.

Anyway, lighthouse keepers no longer live with their charges. They're just like railroad men, Keeper McKillop says. They live at home, but just go away to work two or three nights a week. The rest of the time they commute. Three years ago, in the severe winter of 1936, the five men at the Chicago harbor light walked back and forth across the ice for six weeks.

"Why not?" asks McKillop. "It was 18 inches thick."

"But if we are lonely," McKillop conceded, "it's because we don't encourage visitors. There's always been a kind of taboo on it. Some stations are always open, and have thousands of visitors, but we aren't.

"Maybe that," he sighed, "is why nobody knows what lighthouses are. Very few people know about it."

On Aug. 7, however, Chicagoans will have a chance to find out. On that day, the 150th anniversary of the founding of the United States lighthouse service, lighthouses in this area will be opened to the public. They will be open for a week, and any one may call. But unless you are an excellent swimmer, you'll need a boat to take you to the lighthouse door.

A World of Enchantment.

Once there, you will find yourself in a world of enchantment. Keeper McKillop's lighthouse, for example, is a wonderful, cylindrical tower, made of steel and built upon stone. You'd never guess it, but it is six stories high—85 feet—and is full of winding staircases, a wealth of polished brass and shining machinery.

In a big sea, the steel tower rocks and squeaks and giant waves crash against the windows, but never a drop of water seeps in. The five men who operate it may be storm-locked for two or three days, but they are never lonely. They have their own giant beacon to operate from sunset to sunrise [one revolution every 180 seconds], their own fog signal to control [two blasts every 25 seconds], the Grosse Point light at Evanston, seven "unattended aids" [light towers that house no offices] to care for. They must supervise the pierhead light and signals, the four mile crib lights and the Carter Harrison crib lights from a giant control panel. No, they're never lonely. They have no time for it.

STATUTE BARRING RELIEF FLOATERS BECOMES A LAW

3 Year Residence in State to Be Demanded.

BY WILL O'NEIL.

The bill designed to keep indigent floaters off the Illinois relief rolls became law at midnight last night without the signature of Gov. Horner. The new law requires that all applicants for relief in Illinois must have been residents of the state for at least three years before they can get on the relief rolls.

The law also will prevent downstaters who have lived in Illinois for a three year period from coming into Chicago and becoming charges of the Chicago Relief administration. The CRA and other relief administering units are authorized to charge the indigent person's or family's home community for the expense incurred in supporting them.

Transients May Be Sent Back.

Another provision permits the use of relief funds to send transient indigents back to their home communities.

Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, said the new law will be applied in considering reapplications of the 190,000 families, consisting of more than 500,000 persons, now on the state relief rolls. A reëxamination of the state rolls was ordered last week by the IERC.

The law is to be interpreted to mean that the reliefers who will reapply must have been residents of the state for three years before their original applications for relief were made, Lyons said.

James R. Cannell, president of the Township Supervisors' association, and other officers of the organization are to meet with Lyons this morning to discuss the state-wide examination, the three year law, and other new relief provisions. [The township supervisors are overseers of the poor in their respective townships.]

Leader Welcomes Conference.

"I am glad that we are going to sit down with the commission staff for the first time for an amicable discussion of our mutual problems," Cannell said. "We have been on too much of a dog-eat-dog basis in the past."

Joel D. Hunter, superintendent of the United Charities and one of the veteran professional social workers in Chicago, was reported Monday to have urged Gov. Horner to call a special session of the legislature because Hunter thought there was a relief crisis in Chicago. Monday afternoon Hunter denied the report and said he did not contemplate an immediate request for a special session.

"I don't think the legislators would do anything if they were called into special session," he said.

Hunter Does an About-Face.

Then Hunter received a series of reports of alleged relief woes in Chicago from the professional social workers who run his district offices. On the basis of these reports, which Hunter admitted he did not verify with the Chicago Relief administration, he did an abrupt about-face yesterday.

On his personal stationery he wrote to Gov. Horner urging him to call a special session to consider what Hunter decided is "the worst crisis in the history of Chicago relief work." Hunter insisted that he wrote as "an indignant citizen" and not as superintendent of the United Charities.

DIES WHILE MOWING LAWN.

While mowing the lawn at his home at 4303 North Wolcott avenue last night Edward Patwell, 60 years old, fell dead, supposedly of a heart attack.

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Should a reliefer work for government aid? If so, how many hours should he work a week?

Where Answered.

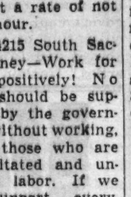
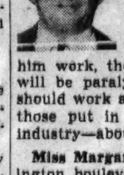
The Answers.

Stanley A. Wachowski, 3030 Cermak road, loan association secretary—Of course people should work for relief money. The government should do away with the chiselers now receiving relief without working. I've been to London and I've seen the dole system in operation there. Believe me, it's bad for the morale of the people. I think reliefers should work a minimum of thirty hours a week at a rate of not less than 50 cents an hour.

Joseph A. Lasecki, 4215 South Sacramento avenue, attorney—Work for relief—positively! No person should be supported by the government without working, except those who are incapacitated and unable to labor. If we just support everybody without making him work, the morale of our people will be paralyzed. I think reliefers should work about the same hours as those put in by persons in private industry—about forty hours a week.



Miss Margaret Crowley, 4000 Washington boulevard, telephone operator—I definitly believe that no one should receive relief without working. If he did, he would become a parasite, living off the rest of us who are employed. Reliefers should give something for their keep. It seems to me they should be compelled to work just as long as the people who have regular jobs. I think that would be about forty hours a week.



Mrs. Kay Freed, 3848 Maypole avenue, housewife—I believe that every one on relief should work for the money the government gives him. Otherwise, what incentive would he have to get out and look for a job in private industry again? It would be wrong for the government to encourage idleness by making it too easy for the reliefers. I think a forty-four hour work week wouldn't be too long for them.

John J. Stazak, 4929 Wellington avenue, pharmacist—I believe a man has a right to be supported if he can't find a job in industry. But there is no doubt that he should work for this support. Too many people feel the government owes them a living. This is unfair to those of us who are obliged to work. I favor a forty hour work week for reliefers.

WORTH SCHOOL TREASURER OUT; NAMES SUCCESSOR

Emory C. Pronger, school treasurer of Worth township for thirty years, quit his post a week ago, it was learned yesterday. He has been succeeded by Albert Brandt, who is also president of the village of Oak Lawn.

It was also disclosed that a surety company is making an audit of the township school books. The result of the audit is expected to be announced today.

Pronger lives at 12739 Maple avenue, Blue Island. There was no one at home there last evening.

HORNER VETOES LOTTERIES FOR SLUMS HOUSING

Calls Measure Violation of State Constitution.

Springfield, Ill., July 25 [Special].—Gov. Henry Horner today vetoed the Vacco bills establishing a lottery to finance slum clearance projects in Chicago. A worthy cause, he said, cannot legalize an illegal means.

This legislation would have legalized the sale of $2.50 tickets bearing numbers for a drawing to be held monthly. Winners would have been declared "honorary" officers of the Illinois Home Builders corporation and given salaries of not more than $50,000 for their month's tenure of office. What they would have drawn would have been determined by the total sales of lottery tickets.

Ten per cent of the total would have gone for prizes, 6 per cent for expenses, and the remaining 84 per cent for building bungalows, small dwellings, and apartments.

The sponsor, Representative Carmen Vacco [D., Chicago], predicted in Springfield that ticket sales would reach $2,000,000 monthly.

Violation, Says Governor.

The governor held that the plan was unconstitutional, a specific violation of the following section of the state's constitution:

"The general assembly shall have no power to authorize lotteries or gift enterprises for any purpose, and shall pass laws to prohibit the sale of lottery or gift enterprise tickets in this state."

His veto message added:

"It is urged that the worthy cause sought to be aided by this legislation should be reason for permitting it to become law. No matter how noble the cause, it cannot change the character of the enterprise.

Other Measures Become Law.

The governor signed a number of measures and permitted others to become law without his signature.

Approved were two bills sponsored by the house judiciary committee. They increase by ten per cent payments under the workmen's compensation act to wage earners injured in nonfatal accidents.

Also signed was the Palmer-Marvel bill providing for the apportionment of the common school fund.

Vetoed was the Torrence bill to exempt insurance policies of $1,000 or less from consideration of assets in determining a person's eligibility for relief.

The governor declared that one fault of this measure was that it would have exempted a person's total insurance, if policies were not for more than $1,000 each.

"This bill," he added, "would increase the number of persons eligible for public assistance, thereby reducing the amount of money available for those on the relief rolls. It would benefit persons who have resources."

INDICT M'ELROY ON KANSAS CITY FRAUD CHARGES

Kansas City, Mo., July 25 (AP).—Henry F. McElroy, who was city manager of Kansas City for 13 years under Boss Tom Pendergast's Democratic machine, was indicted by a county grand jury today for conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses in connection with a water leak survey which cost the city $365,500.

Indicted with him on the charge were John J. Rathford, head of the bogus Rathford Engineering company which collected the money, and J. J. Pryor, contractor whose office is alleged to have received many of the warants in payment for the survey.

McElroy, Rathford, and Pryor already are under county grand jury indictment for embezzlement. McElroy became ill shortly after he resigned under fire last April as the Pendergast machine began to crumble. Seventy-three years old, he has been reported near death several times.

Subway Cave-In Delays Car Trafic on State Street

Work on the State street subway was delayed for the third time in five days yesterday when compressed air in the tunnel escaped, causing the pavement fifty feet south of Erie street to sink slightly. Southbound State street cars were rerouted on Clark street. Work was expected to proceed today. There was a cave-in last Thursday at almost the same spot. Smoke from a straw fire in the subway caused further delay Friday.

MADGE EVANS BECOMES BRIDE OF PLAYWRIGHT

York Village, Me., July 25 (AP).—Without waiting to change the dress she wore in the final act of the play "Brief Moment" at the Ogunquit playhouse, Madge Evans, 30 years old, movie actress, eloped tonight with Sidney Kingsley, 32, Pulitzer prize winning playwright, and was married here by a justice of the peace.

An official of the playhouse who announced the wedding said Damian O'Flynn, Ogunquit actor, was best man for Kingsley and quoted O'Flynn as saying the honeymooners left in a southerly direction by automobile after the ceremony. Mrs. O'Flynn, an actress, attended Miss Evans. Kingsley is author of the plays "Men in White" and "Dead End."

Divorcee Becomes Bride of Sewing Machine Heir

New York, July 25 (AP).—Robert Vanderpool Clark, 21 years old, "glamor boy" and sewing machine heir, today married twice divorced Mrs. Suzanne de la Salle Chambers Hiteman, fifteen years his senior. The wedding was an unannounced ceremony at the Marble Collegiate church on 5th avenue. Mrs. Clark was divorced from Robert F. Chambers in Reno in 1931 and from Russell Hiteman in Palm Beach in 1933. Clark is a grandson of the late Alfred Corning Clark, one of the founders of the Singer Sewing Machine company.

BUILDERS OF CHICAGO

By CALEB

MEN and events so rapidly pass and repass, in the course of a city's growth, that no series of mentions could do more than seize, here and there, on a significant figure and make it representative of many others equally entitled to portrayal—but omitted for want of space.

Such an arbitrary choice falls on the person and work of Matthew Laflin, whose unusually long life . . . he died at ninety-four . . . enabled him to eye-witness Chicago's drama from the days of Fort Dearborn to, and past, those of the Columbian Exposition.

New England birth, of Scotch-Irish parents, on December 16, 1803, followed by education at Holyoke Academy, supplied a fine combination of ancestral stock and sound training with which to make one's way in the world a lengthy and notable one. Having clerked for a while in his older brother's store at Lee, Massachusetts, young Laflin at 21 joined another brother in the gunpowder business. At 22 he became part owner of powder mills at Canton, Conn., selling out several years later, and opening a similar business in New York.

Drawn by news of the Illinois-Michigan Canal project, and seeing in it a market for the wares of his employers, the Saugerties Powder Mills, Matthew Laflin came on to Chicago when he was 34. Inside of three years, the business was flourishing; but more and more Laflin's interest became identified with real estate, to which he finally devoted all his energies. Owning at one time nearly 150 acres of Chicago land, it was Laflin who organized the first city bus line, built the first stockyards in 1851, and helped organize the municipal water works. Important promotion also linked his name with Waukesha, Wis., as well as with a timely investment that preserved the Elgin Watch Company's business life. . . .

Ten years before coming to Chicago, Matthew Laflin had married, at 24, and had three children. Having devoted his activities to the city's development for more than six decades, in continuity of service no other pioneer figure approaches his. As the Laflin Memorial, he presented to Chicago in 1857, its oldest institution of the kind—the Academy of Sciences—and when he died on May 21, forty years later, his impress on the city of his adoption was as noteworthy as it has since proved permanent.

BRITONS IN CHINA PROTEST LONDON DEAL WITH JAPAN

Business Men Brand It Betrayal of Rights.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 25.—Growing opposition to the new British-Japanese agreemen was manifest in political and commercial circles tonight. Under the agreement, Britain recognized "special requirements" of the Japanese military machine in Japanese occupied areas of China.

Alarm was expressed in political circles that the pact will intensify isolationist sentiment in America and check President Roosevelt's efforts to support the so-called democracies of Europe.

Prime Minister Chamberlain's political opponents contended that the deal has aroused American suspicions of the British government's motives.

Britons Protest Deal.

Coincident with reports that thirty British firms have been notified to quit Tsinan, capital of the Japanese controled province of Shantung, the British Chamber of Commerce at Shanghai cabled a protest to London against Chamberlain's "deplorable betrayal of British rights, interests, and obligations in China."

The business men complained that the agreement, by implication, recognized that Japanese insults and indignities to Britons in Japanese blockaded Tientsin were justified. They said it makes no reservations regarding legitimate British interests in China, which, they added, appear sacrificed to the mercy of the Japanese army.

The agreement was denounced as indicating that "Britain is abandoning its duty, obligations, and legal position in a manner as injurious to her honor and prestige as to her interests."

Chamberlain Rejects Proposal.

LONDON, July 25 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain today rejected an opposition move to have parliament remain active during August and September as a "watch dog" over the government's foreign policy through a period which many believe will be critical.

Geoffrey L. Mander, opposition Liberal, proposed that parliament meet once weekly during the recess which is to start Aug. 4, but the prime minister said he could not consider such a step.

Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, in reply to a question said Britain already had agreed to give Poland credits of $37,400,000, but that the two countries had not reached an agreement on a British cash loan to Poland. He added that there was not time now to get the necessary legislation for such a loan passed before parliament recesses.

The loan under discussion was understood to be for $39,800,000, to be provided by the British and French governments.

THOUSANDS HUNT RICHES IN NEWLY FOUND GOLD FIELD

NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico, July 25 (AP).—Rich strikes have sent thousands of Mexican peasants swarming to the gold field around Mesquite, which in recent weeks has been transformed from a tiny village of 20 persons into a boom town of 4,000.

Arrow locates scene of gold rush.

The gold field has been extended six miles from the spot where Francisco Arballo first struck pay dirt several weeks ago. Sonora peasants, thrilled at the story of Javier Gomez' good fortune, have joined the search for gold in droves, many of them bringing their wives and children. Until recently, Gomez was a poor rancher. Now he averages $500 daily and has taken an estimated $7,000 from his rich claim.

Violence already has been reported. Joaquin Soto, mayor of Cucurpe, was found fatally beaten after he had gone to Mesquite in an apparent attempt to establish law and order. His jurisdiction included Mesquite.

New York, July 25 [Special]—Film Actress Sharon Lynn, in private life Mrs. Benjamin F. Glazer, has denied she is seeking a divorce and $600 weekly alimony. In her denial she said: "I am living most happily with my husband in a New York apartment. I am not suing for a divorce and never had the remotest intention of doing so." Glazer is a film scenario writer.

piness," said the elder Goldner, who is 67 and was taken captive with his son but released two days later to arrange a ransom.

The elder Goldner, exhausted by anxiety and the vigil of waiting for his son, at one time was forced to take to his bed.

He asked that Gerould's wife be informed that he was well, and "we shall be seeing them soon."

His immediate plans, he said, would wait until his son had rested and was well enough to travel.

Congregation Pledges Cash.

Cleveland, O., July 25 [Special].—The 1,750 members of the Rev. Jacob Goldner's Euclid Avenue Christian church tonight stood ready to pay their pledges for the ransom of his son, the Rev. Gerould Goldner.

The father's church is not a wealthy one. The members are working people. But from the moment they learned that Arab kidnapers had demanded $5,000 for the freedom of the younger Goldner they have been besieging Assistant Pastor Howard Spangler with offers of money.

Knowing that the money would be available when needed, the church board deposited $5,000 in a bank for payment of the ransom. Although $2,500 is believed to have been paid when the kidnaped pastor was liberated today, the source of the money has not been learned here. Church members, however, expect that they will receive a request for payment. They will then pay their money to the church board—an average of about $1.42 each.

Australia to Take Action for Legation in America

SYDNEY, Australia, July 25 (AP).—Australian newspapers reported today, with expressions of approval, that the commonwealth government shortly would record a decision to establish an Australian legation in Washington, D. C., provided America sends a minister here. Sir Henry Gullett, minister of external affairs, and R. G. Casey, a former cabinet member, have been mentioned for the post.

DARKENED BERLIN READY FOR WAVE OF NAZI BOMBERS

Four Million Residents Know What to Do.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 25.—More than four million residents of Berlin tomorrow will be subjected to hypothetical air raids conducted by the German air force, which the Nazi high command has called the mightiest in the world.

The raids and consequent blackouts will continue for several days. The entire city is to participate in the most severe test yet administered to the elaborate system of air raid defense that has been contrived to protect the German capital in event of an enemy invasion through the air.

One of Ten a Trained Worker.

One of every ten residents of Berlin will engage actively in the tests. These specialists have been given meticulous training in methods of preventing or reducing fatalities. Their instruction has included the fastening of gas masks, giving first aid to injured or gassed citizens, managing and provisioning underground shelters, and removing débris caused by bomb hits.

Each of the city's 100,000 apartment buildings has its own air raid defense unit.

Those who will not participate directly in such work will rush for the many air raid shelters constructed especially for such emergencies. The city will be blacked out completely each night of the exercises. Automobiles must be parked in the most convenient side streets, and windows of all office buildings, homes, and apartments must be darkened.

A siren will sound a warning of a raid, after which flights of huge German bombers will roar over the city, adding the final realistic touch.

Two Reasons for Blackouts.

The blackouts are being conducted for two especial reasons. The first is to give the thousands of trained defensive workers practice under conditions which approach as closely as possible the conditions which an actual air raid would produce.

The second is to make the entire population conscious of the danger and possibility of such an attack and to impress upon it the necessity of knowing what to do and where to go in case of a raid that wasn't being conducted by friendly German planes.

CHARGES NAZI PLANES CROSS ENGLISH COAST

LONDON, July 25 (AP).—The royal air force was reported today to be keeping close watch on England's east coast after the appearance in recent weeks of German military aircraft which may have actually crossed the English coastline. The report was made by Capt. Norman MacMillan, the Daily Mail's air correspondent.

The German machines apparently have been engaged either on "specific exercises or normal routine training flights," Capt. MacMillan wrote. He added that they had been noted particularly in the vicinity of the Thames and Humber river estuaries "on a number of occasions in the last few weeks."

It was said that there was nothing in international law to prevent foreign military aircraft from carrying out exercises up to the three mile limit off the coast. But MacMillan asserted, "There is evidence that certain German planes have actually crossed the English coastline."

Nazis to Take Away Czech Citizenship from Benes

REICHENBERG, Germany, July 25 (AP).—Eduard Benes, former president of Czecho-Slovakia, will be the first "emigrant" of the Bohemia-Moravia section of the partitioned republic to lose Czech citizenship under an impending law, Konrad Henlein's newspaper Die Zeit said today. The law would enable the protectorate government to "annul protectorate citizenship of Czech instigators abroad and to confiscate their properties," Henlein's paper said.

MAHARAJA LOPS $32,000 A YEAR OFF HOUSEHOLD COST

INDORE, India, July 25 (AP).—The young and rich maharaja of Indore, who disclosed on March 28 his marriage to an American woman, announced today a drastic cut in his personal spending. The move was attributed to the influence of his bride.

The maharaja, who was noted for lavish spending before his marriage to the former Mrs. Marguerite Lawler Branyen, 30 year old divorcee he had employed as a nurse, lopped $32,000 a year off his household expenses.

The announcement said the maharaja "feels there is little justice in maintaining antiquated customs of pomp and pageantry when the pressing needs of poor people are not provided for." The maharaja's subjects staged a strike May 25 protesting against increased house and water taxes. However, since his marriage the maharaja, who was educated at Oxford, has built public recreation fields and provided other facilities for his people.

JAPANESE ORDER CANTON CLOSED TO FOREIGN SHIPS

Blockade of International Settlement Planned.

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, July 26 (Wednesday) (AP).—The Japanese admiralty today called naval reservists to active duty and simultaneously it was disclosed that a new squadron had been organized and attached to the combined fleet. Observers believed the new squadron and the calling of reservists at this time were connected with the Japanese friction with Russia over Sakhalin Island oil and coal concessions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONGKONG, July 25.—The Japanese consul at Canton today notified other foreign consuls that the Canton [Pearl] river would be closed to foreign shipping, for military reasons, for two weeks beginning at midnight tomorrow. It was learned unofficially that the Japanese also will begin a blockade of the foreign settlement on Shameen Island at Canton.

Some quarters believed the stoppage of commercial shipping on the 60 mile waterway from the south China port to this British crown colony was purely an economic blockade. Others believed it might be intended to facilitate Japanese troop movements—either to conduct a mop up campaign in the Canton area, or to permit the transfer of troops from Canton for operations elsewhere on the Kwangtung province coast. An American gunboat will sail from here to Canton tomorrow before the blockade begins.

Will Search Civilians.

As in the Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions at Tientsin which began on June 14, it is believed the Japanese will post sentries at both bridge entrances to Shameen to search all persons entering or leaving the island. The American consulate and American business houses are located on the island.

Despite the Tokio agreement in which the British promised not to interfere with Japanese operations in occupied portions of China the Japanese intensified anti-British measures in North China.

The British consul general at Shanghai protested to the Japanese consul general against the detention of H. Rose, chief of the international settlement's health department, by police of the Japanese controled part of Shanghai. Besides Rose, the police detained a Russian and 100 Chinese employés of the department. It was reported the Japanese municipal régime planned to detain all until the international settlement paid $4,500 arrears and a monthly fee for garbage dumping privileges.

Intensify Boycotts.

At Peking the Japanese sponsored Chinese party, Hsinminhui, instructed its branches in Shansi, Shantung, Hopei and Honan provinces to extend anti-British boycotts and demonstrations. Hsinminhui will use theaters, posters, and cartoons in a widespread propaganda campaign.

At Chungking, China's provisional capital, speaking before he knew of the full extent of Britain's concessions in the agreement with Japan, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek told a Kuomintang [Chinese People's party] meeting that a "far eastern Munich" was unthinkable.

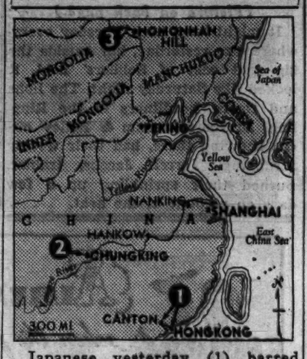
Chiang expressed the opinion that Britain could make only such concessions as would not conflict with China's interests or with provisions of the nine power treaty guaranteeing the open door to foreign trade in China and protecting China's territorial integrity.

Taking advantage of the bright moonlight last night, twenty-seven Japanese planes raided Chungking. The scores of bombs dropped caused fewer than thirty casualties, but caused extensive damage including one fire that burned for two hours. Chinese dispatches said one Japanese plane was brought down.

Close range fighting between soviet Outer Mongolian and Japanese-Manchukuan forces on the disputed Mongolian-Manchukuan frontier continued today. The fighting included rifle and machine gun fire from soldiers in trenches, an artillery duel, and aerial battles above Nomonhan hill.

The Japanese reported three aerial clashes in which fifty-eight soviet planes were said to have been downed. They asserted that 160 soviet planes participated in the first combat and forty-one were brought down. Seventy soviet planes participated in the last two combats. The Japanese admitted the loss of one plane.

Foreign Ships Barred



Japanese yesterday (1) barred foreign shipping from the Canton river between Canton and Hongkong; (2) Japanese planes raided Chungking, Chinese capital; (3) Japanese and soviet planes fought aerial battles above Nomonhan hill.

TWO CHICAGOANS HELD; CEMETERY FRAUD CHARGED

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 25.—(AP)—L. A. Klein, 40 years old, and Albert Olshan, 35, both of Chicago, were arrested at a hotel here tonight on charges of violating the Indiana securities act. They were taken to the Noble county jail at Albion to be questioned.

At Indianapolis Charles R. Swaim, attorney for the state securities commission, said Klein and Olshan were charged with violating the state securities act in an affidavit on file in Miami Circuit court at Peru.

He said the affidavit, filed by Ernest W. Owen of Indianapolis, commission investigator, charged the two bought and sold securities without a state license. The men, Swaim said, traded cemetery lots to elderly persons for stocks and bonds and then sold the latter. The charge in Miami county, filed last week, had to do with a deal allegedly made with an invalid living in that county.

OUST FASCISTS, LET ARMY RULE, FRANCO URGED

Generals Ask for Removal of Italy's Friend.

HENDAY, France [at the Spanish Frontier], July 25 (AP).—Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano, fiery former Nationalist commander for Andalusia, was reported today to have asked Generalissimo Francisco Franco to form a military directorate to rule Spain and to oust the blue shirted Falangist [Spanish Fascist] party.

Queipo de Llano, backed by a number of other Nationalist leaders including Gen. Juan Yague, former commander of the Moroccan army corps, Gen. José Solchaga, another civil war commander, Minister of Finance Andres Amado, and leaders of both the Carlist and Alfonso monarchist groups, was said to have made the proposal today in a second interview with Gen. Franco at Burgos.

Want Minister Ousted.

Reports reaching the border said that one of the group's requests was that Ramon Serrano Suner, Gen. Franco's brother-in-law and minister of the interior, be ousted from the government.

Serrano Suner is the recognized Falangist leader in the government and stands for close ties with Fascist Italy in foreign affairs. Gen. Franco had not yet made a decision.

Dispatches reaching France indicated Spain was going through her most important political upheaval since the civil war ended last March, with Gen. Franco faced with the necessity of putting down opposition to the Falangist program or accepting some form of compromise with the opposing groups.

Removed for Public Slap.

Spanish sources in Irun, across the border from Hendaye, said Gen. Queipo de Llano was removed from his Andalusian command last Friday because he had publicly slapped Serrano Suner. The same sources said Foreign Minister Francisco Gomes Jordana had offered his resignation to Gen. Franco but that it had been refused.

Officials at Irun said Queipo de Llano slapped Serrano Suner at Burgos last week during a political argument over the Carlist and Falangist wishes.

British Freighter Strikes Mine Off South China Coast

HONGKONG, July 25 (AP).—The captain of the 3,554 ton British freighter Haitain radioed her owners tonight that she had struck a mine off the China coast which had torn a hole in her side, flooding one of her holds. He said, however, that the Haitain was in no immediate danger, although she had had to stop her engines and anchor off the coast a little north of Swatow, awaiting aid.

YARNELL GIVES UP AMERICAN CHINA FLEET COMMAND

SHANGHAI, July 25 (AP).—Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, who as commander of the American Asiatic fleet has been saying "no" to the Japanese in China, turned over his command today to Admiral Thomas C. Hart. Yarnell sails for home in the President Coolidge on Aug. 2 to await retirement when he reaches the active service age limit of 64 years in October.

Admiral T. C. Hart.

Yarnell's service in the orient began on Oct. 30, 1936, and was marked by friction over the Chinese-Japanese war. The most tense periods were associated with the sinking of the American gunboat Panay and the shelling of the cruiser Augusta at Shanghai.

His last public action was rejection on June 22 of Japanese warnings that American vessels leave Swatow because of impending hostilities there. Then he restated the policy he has adhered to rigidly:

"The paramount duty of American naval vessels is the protection of American citizens and they will go wherever it is necessary at any time to carry out that mission."

FRANCE, ENGLAND READY FOR SOVIET MILITARY PARLEY

Prepare to Send Missions to Moscow Talks.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 25.—A French military mission headed by Gen. Doumenc, commander of the Lille army corps and soon to be appointed to the superior war council, will leave for Moscow within the next ten days to enter into general staf negotiations with British and Russian army officials, it was reported tonight by sources close to the French foreign office.

Optimism here and in London about the speedy conclusion of the political pact over which the British and Russians have been wrangling is greater than it ever has been and apparently is better founded than heretofore. It is said now that seven of the eight articles which will comprise the Anglo-Soviet political accord already have been completed.

Sketch New Formula.

The eighth and most important, that dealing with assistance in case of indirect aggression, for instance, against the soviet union's tiny neighbors on the Baltic, has not yet been cast into satisfactory form.

Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet spent several hours today conferring with the British charge d'affaires here and with Charles Corbin, French ambassador in London.

It was believed that the French statesman, still playing the rôle of friendly intermediary between Moscow and London, helped to sketch out a new formula which will make it possible to wind up the political phase of the negotiations and take up the difficult problem of how the three nations are going to make good their promises of armed aid against any possible future German aggression.

Molotov Makes Proposal.

Paul-Emile Naggiar, the French ambassador in Moscow, is understood to have reported to Bonnet that the suggestion that military talks should be speedily begun came from Vyacheslav Molotov, the Russian foreign minister.

This is taken as an indication that the Kremlin is at last satisfied that the British are in earnest. Dispatches from London today said Britain was ready to send a military mission to Moscow immediately to participate in the staff talks.

Soviet military aid to Poland and Rumania are expected to present a number of ticklish problems. It is possible that staff talks with the Polish and Rumanian army chiefs will be carried out on the margin of the tri-partite conference to sooth the suspicions which Poland and Rumania nourish about the eventual price they may have to pay for assistance from their huge soviet neighbor.

MOSCOW DENIES GERMAN REPORT OF SUNKEN SUB

MOSCOW, July 26 [Wednesday] (AP).—Soviet circles declared this morning that they had no information concerning a sunken soviet submarine off Murmansk, as reported by the Berlin newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter. Murmansk is in the extreme northwestern part of Russia, near the border of Finland and the Arctic ocean.

Reports 34 Aboard Craft.

BERLIN, July 25 (AP).—The Voelkischer Beobachter carried a dispatch under a Moscow date line today saying there were reports from Murmansk, Russia, that a soviet submarine collided with another ship and sank with thirty-four aboard. The newspaper's report said rescue operations were started immediately and that a diver was able to make contact with those inside the submarine by pounding on the side.

INDICT NINETEEN IN WILL COUNTY ELECTION FRAUD

14 from Chicago; Charge Floaters at Polls.

Fourteen Chicagoans and five residents of Joliet were indicted yesterday by the Will county grand jury on charges of illegal voting and conspiracy in the June judicial election. If convicted they face a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Judge E. L. Wilson.

The indictments were the first obtained since an investigation was begun by State's Attorney James E. Burke into charges that wholesale vote frauds were attempted. A. F. Schupp, Republican party chairman, charged that a Joliet gambling syndicate brought in 55 floaters to stuff the Will county ballot boxes with Democratic votes.

Criticized Judge Defeated.

Campaign issues centered on Judge Edwin L. Wilson, a Democrat, of slot machine fame, who sought reëlection. His opponents cited his handling of receivership cases and the injunctions he issued to protect slot machines and law breaking saloons.

Turning out in near record numbers, the voters of Will, Kankakee, and Iroquois counties, comprising the 12th circuit, trounced Judge Wilson. Despite a heavy machine vote in Joliet, he ran a poor fourth to three Republicans. It was the first time since 1905 that all three judgeships were filled by Republicans.

Most of those named in the indictments are in the county jail at Joliet, unable to post bond. Police Chief Nicholas Fornango said virtually all have admitted voting at least three times for Judge Wilson at $1 a vote.

Dennis Kelly and James McFarland, two of those indicted for conspiracy, were identified as workers for Judge Wilson. Kelly is business agent for the Joliet Bartenders' union and is a brother of Leahm Kelly, Will county Democratic leader and Judge Wilson's personal bailif.

Accused of Hiring Floaters.

Leo Nemerovsky of 1931 Humboldt boulevard, Chicago, an insurance agent, was accused by Chief Fornango of hiring many of the alleged Chicago floaters. The indictment also charges him with voting four times.

Others named in the indictment are Carmen Carpinelli, 315 North Central Park avenue; Harry Kristy and Peter Caputo, 212 North Hamlin avenue; Steve Kish, William Lavin, James Farrell, Steve Sara, John Hraber Jr., Julius Popely, William Oliver, Michael Murphy, and John and Alex Lamberger, brothers, all of Chicago; Albert Astbury, Alfred Edwards, and John Bourguignon, a former deputy sherif, all of Joliet.

EX-WILL COUNTY TREASURERS ARE INDICTED AGAIN

Herbert R. Jones and his uncle, Ben D. Jones, former Will county treasurers, were reindicted yesterday by the regular Will county grand jury on charges of forgery. Herbert Jones also was named in a perjury indictment. Each case concerns an alleged shortage of $600,000 in county funds.

Last spring the two Joneses were indicted by a special grand jury called by Former Judge Edwin L. Wilson. When the Joneses were brought to trial July 10 Judge George W. Bristow of Paris, Ill., quashed the indictments.

Judge Bristow held with the defense that the special grand jury was handpicked and illegal. Judge Wilson had been advised of this, it was charged, before he summoned the venire. In selecting the jury, Judge Bristow said Judge Wilson either was "ignorant or dishonest".

Arrest Gimp Rosenbaum; He Says He's a Trucker

Police interest in what Sanford [Gimp] Rosenbaum is doing these days resulted in his arrest last night at 63d street and Dorchester avenue. Rosenbaum, who was once bodyguard for Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, beer baron of prohibition days, said he was transportation manager for a trucking company operated by Spike's brother, Steve. Rosenbaum gave his address as 4542 North Racine avenue.

CONFESSES EIGHT BURGLARIES IN 6 SOUTH SUBURBS

James Moore, 34 years old, colored, confessed in the state's attorney's office yesterday to eight burglaries and seven attempted burglaries in the southern suburbs of Flossmoor, Harvey, Riverdale, Olympia Fields, Phoenix, and South Holland.

James Moore.

After admitting his crimes Moore took Sergt. Nicholas Disteldorf and Police Chiefs Joseph B. Dineen and Albert F. Roll of Flossmoor and Harvey, respectively, on a tour of south side pawn shops where he disposed of his loot. The state's attorney recovered several articles of jewelry and impounded others pending more complete identification.

Moore was shot in each leg early Monday by Sergts. Joseph La Point and Ray Hanes of the Harvey police. Numerous squads had been on the lookout for the burglar since women residents of the suburbs demanded protection from the marauder. Moore attempted to flee from the police when they sought to question him. He dropped a kit of burglar tools when the police chased him.

Sues Circus for $25,000, Alleging Fall on Seats

Claus Wickstrom, 56 years old, 8351 Green street, a street car motorman, filed a $25,000 personal injury suit in Superior court yesterday against the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey circus, now playing in Burnham park. The bill alleged that Wickstrom was hurt seriously when he fell between rows of seats in the grandstand at Sunday's performance.

You've hit your inner stride

....when you regain healthy per-i-stal-sis

Kinks smooth out...you swing along with joy and ease...once you hit your inner stride!

Inner stride takes its pace from a contracting... expanding... contracting motion in the intestines known as per-i-stal-sis. It's a motion you don't even notice till it slows down. Then you have that heavy, constipated sensation.

To clear the way for normal elimination, you probably need a quick, thorough flushing-out. That's when to get Eno!

What fluid-action does

Eno has fluid-action. It also exerts a mild stimulation. By attracting moisture to the intestines from other parts of the body, it flushes away accumulated waste gently, thoroughly. What quick, welcome relief!

Now you're ready to get back on schedule! You can hit your inner stride again!

Do you need "alkalizing?"

Because Eno also helps neutralize excess stomach acids, millions use it for this purpose. They like its sparkling, tangy taste. So will you.

Try Eno, when you're off-stride. Notice the new freedom when peristalsis is rhythmic, easy. Buy Eno today, at any drug store.

CLOTHIER ROUTS 4 YOUNG THIEVES; SEIZE 3 IN CHASE

When Alexander Petrouski came out of the back room yesterday he saw four colored youths stuffing goods into a huge paper sack in his clothing store at 3310 South Halsted street. He routed them with four shots from a revolver. Running after them, he seized a youth whom he identified as one of the gang.

Walter Lamb, Democratic precinct captain living a short distance away at 3320 Emerald avenue, heard the shooting and began touring the neighborhood in search of those who escaped. Four blocks away he captured two young men later identified by Petrouski. Those held are Cleveland Burkins, 17 years old, of 2949 Indiana avenue; Robert Readus, 17, of 4726 Michigan avenue; and Alton Cochran, 15, of 5633 Calumet avenue.

It might have been Tuesday everywhere else yesterday, but outside the big tent east of Soldiers' field, it looked like Saturday night. The lions and tigers, headliners in the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey circus showing there, had their weekly scrubbing. Terrell Jacobs, trainer, pushed their sprinkling up a few days on account of the heat.

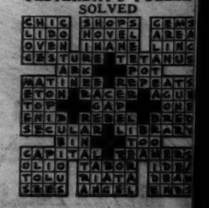
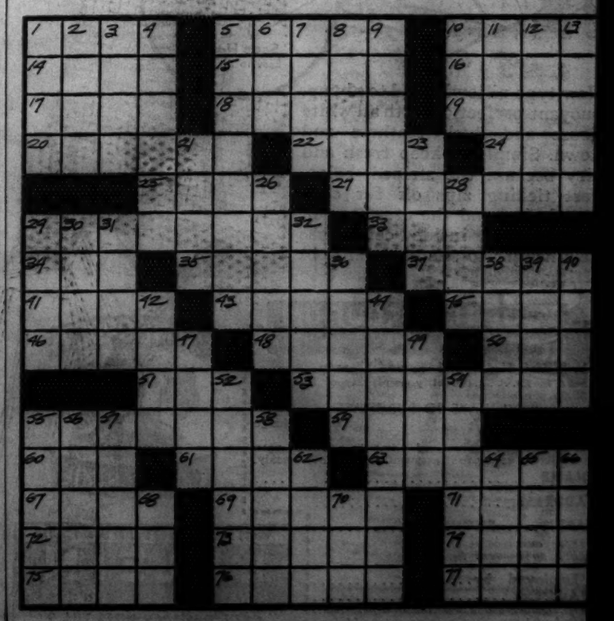
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





KONKOWSKI GETS 1 TO 5 YEARS IN JOB SALE FRAUD

Ex-Alderman and His Aid Freed Pending Appeal.

Frank E. Konkowski, former alderman of the 26th ward, and Stephen Idzikowski, his one-time political aid, who were sentenced yesterday to terms of one to five years in prison on a charge of conspiring to sell police jobs, were free in bonds of $5,000 each last night pending an appeal to the Appellate court.

F. E. Konkowski [top], and Stephen Idzikowski.

The sentences, the maximum possible under the law, were imposed by Judge William J. Lindsay in Criminal court. Konkowski also was fined $1,500, within $500 of the maximum fine. The prison terms and Konkowski's fine were in accordance with the verdict of a jury which found the two men guilty on July 18 at their second trial.

Woman Gets One to Ten Years.

In a similar case yesterday, Mrs. Mary B. Conroy, a former typist for the board of education, was sentenced by Judge Joseph A. Graber to one to ten years in the women's prison at Dwight. She pleaded guilty to a confidence game charge which embraced the cheating of a police job aspirant out of $700.

Mrs. Conroy, who is 39 years old and lives at 5959 South Mozart street, admitted getting the money from James Tax, 3809 Montrose avenue, on her promise to get him a police job. The job never materialized.

Konkowski and Idzikowski were freed by a jury at their first trial in March, but at their second trial a jury convicted them in one hour and fifteen minutes. The state charged that the former alderman and his lieutenant obtained at least $3,800 from seven persons who sought an easy way to police jobs.

"The stories told by the defendants on the witness stand were puerile and inadequate," commented Judge Lindsay in passing sentence. "I couldn't conceive of twelve men possibly believing them."

Calls Konkowski an Ingrate.

Then calling Konkowski before him, the court said:

"It surprises me that a man of your intelligence, whom I have known since law school days, would betray his people and bring disrepute on a great political organization." [Konkowski was ousted last fall as Democratic ward committeeman.]

"You are an ingrate," continued the court as Konkowski stood with eyes downcast. "I have had a great deal of experience in politics but this is the first case in which I actually heard of a man being required to pay for a job. It is common knowledge that aldermen and ward committeemen use their influence to help constituents obtain jobs as a matter of political expediency, but they do not take money from constituents."

Denies New Trial Plea.

Attorney James M. Burke listed fifteen points in a petition for a new trial, which was overruled by Judge Lindsay. One of Burke's objections was that there were no women in the jury panel, although women became eligible for jury duty on July 1 before the second trial started. County jury commissioners have announced that jury lists including women will not be ready before September.

Four other charges against Konkowski, and one involving both defendants, were stricken with leave to reinstate at the request of Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Bugan.

Ordered Held to Jury in Egg Crate Slaying

A coroner's jury recommended yesterday that Willie Cox be held to the grand jury for the murder of Charles Frasemer, 68 years old. Cox, 27 years old, a Negro, 1341 South Sangamon street, has admitted killing Frasemer with an ax July 6 in Frasemer's second hand egg-crate store at 1017 14th street.

Big Time Bandit Turns Up His Nose at Small Change

A bandit looked with scorn yesterday upon the $5 in change in the till of a cleaning shop at 1363 Wilson avenue. "I can't be bothered with that small stuff," he told Miss Ann Scovel, manager. Pocketing his gun, he walked out without loot.

SCOUT TRAINING HELPS LOST BOY LIVE EIGHT DAYS

Wanders 35 Miles Over Maine Mountain.

Sherman, Me., July 25 (AP).—Using nature lore he learned as a Boy Scout, Donn Fendler, 12 years old, emerged today, naked and exhausted, from the Mount Katahkin wilderness in which he had wandered for eight days.

Donn Fendler.

Object of one of the state's greatest searches, the Rye, N. Y., boy who became lost on the chilly summit of the mile high mountain, was found moaning and crying in underbrush near the east branch of the Penobscot river, thirty-five miles from where he disappeared.

Reassures His Parents.

Clad at the outset only in light hiking clothes, the boy scrambled over rocky trails and through dense thickets down the side of the mountain, through thick woods and over tangled paths until his screams attracted the attention of Nelson McMoarn, owner of a sporting camp.

McMoarn put across the river in a boat and carried the boy back into camp in his arms. Mrs. McMoarn asked his name.

"Donn Fendler. I was lost on the mountain," he replied weakly.

Given some coffee, Donn appeared somewhat refreshed and insisted on telephoning his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donn Fendler, at a Bangor hospital, to assure them of his safety.

"I'm all right, mama," he told his mother. She set out at once for the camp, eight miles from the Millinocket-Houlton highway. The father, suffering an eye injury received during the hunt, was unable to leave.

The worst of the boy's injuries was a hip sore apparently suffered in a fall. His body bore many deep scratches and he was badly bitten by mosquitoes and flies.

Mountain Streams Followed.

Young Fendler told McMoarn that he had followed mountain streams in the belief they would lead him to human habitation. He lived on berries and made full use, he explained, of the nature lore he had learned as a Boy Scout. His clothes had been torn from his body by the brush and rocks.

The boy became lost Monday afternoon last week when he went ahead of his father and some other companions in starting descent of the rugged mountain. A few minutes later, just before a hailstorm swept the summit, his companions rushed to overtake him but did not find him.

CHICAGO FISHERMAN DISAPPEARS IN WILDS; SEARCH IS STARTED

Dispatches from International Falls, Minn., last night brought news that F. C. Lambert of Chicago disappeared Sunday on a fishing trip in the wild Manitou country of Ontario. Volunteers were searching the woodlands for him. A Canadian government plane was assisting.

Lambert, who is 53 years old, is chief electrical operator for the sanitary district. He lives at 5445 Iowa street. He and D. K. McMillan of 5057 Balmoral avenue were staying at a camp on Lake Manitou. They were returning from fishing when Lambert vanished on a portage trail within three miles of the camp. He had been walking some distance behind McMillan.

Mrs. Lambert early today said that she would leave at once to aid in the search.

THE UNITED STATES AND JAPAN IN CHINA.

Secretary Hull says that the American government is increasingly disturbed by the number of incidents in which Americans in China have been mistreated by Japanese police and soldiers. The most recent of these was an assault upon a warant officer of the gunboat Guam, an encounter reported as entirely the fault of the Japanese sentry. The Japanese command has been 'informed that the occurrence is viewed "with grave concern."

The Japanese civil government shows every disposition to preserve friendly relations with the United States. The Japanese people have been encouraged to make demonstrations of their liking for the American people and all of that is sound diplomacy. The military government of Japan, which is supreme when it wants to be, frequently does things the civilian branch does not approve. The disapproval is generally unimpressive.

In China the Japanese army command appears to form its own policies all the time, and some of its procedure, especially in handling other aliens, is motivated by resentment and has retaliatory purposes. The Japanese military and economic objective is as much the expulsion of the occidentals as it is the subduing of Chinese resistance. The United States has no imperialistic holdings in Asia but other nations have. The distinction which might be in favor of Americans does not amount to much when all whites are viewed as enemies by Asiatic imperialists or patriots.

Many Americans, undoubtedly most Americans, have strong feelings in favor of the Chinese. They will, however, have to concede that if American troops, rightfully or wrongfully, were engaged in a protracted war, say in Mexico, and if in every port and important trading center the troops encountered Asiatics or Europeans who asserted special rights, insisted upon special privileges, and acted as if they were altogether superior, there would be trouble. An exception can be made of the United States, but certainly it must be said of every other occidental power in China that its possessions, its treaty rights, and its privileges were extorted by precisely the same means now used, with much greater force, over a much larger area by Japan. The present field of operations is larger, the practice is more ruthless, but the method is the same.

The United States government has been urged for some time to reduce the probabilities of serious trouble by removing the small American armed forces and American civilians from contacts which can produce incidents "gravely concerning" the government. Great Britain has virtually recognized a state of war in China. The fiction that there was none is about exhausted, even as an illusion of international law. Governments do not stick their necks into other people's wars unless they want trouble. They clear out and deal with the interests of their nationals diplomatically and not with armed forces on the spot. Japan is responsible for the protection of legitimate American interests in the zones it has occupied. Mr. Hull might have less difficulty if American soldiers, sailors, and civilians were not where racial and national irritations and provocations can flare up in insults and even combats.

It may be taken for granted that the American people, however much they sympathize with the Chinese, do not intend to go to war with Japan if they can help it. We couldn't police the world if we wanted to and we couldn't be stepping into every quarrel. It isn't easy to make this reasonable rule prevail in Washington. There are numerous attempts, such as was made in Senator Pittman's bill for an embargo against Japan, to go half way to war. Going half way to war is a risky business. The momentum at the half way point may be too great to be checked. Senator Pittman has put his bill on the shelf at the firm request of his associates. One mistake will be avoided if the bill remains there.

One reason the Japanese courted American friendship was to obstruct the Anglo-American alliance which was revealed in the joint use of the Singapore base by the American and British fleets. If the Japanese make friends with the British again they'll have less reason to be even as considerate as they have been of American susceptibilities and material interests. The incidents may then increase and provoke serious controversies in which the United States has nothing whatever to gain. Mr. Hull's grave situation would clear up a great deal if the United States government would endeavor to avoid all the war making provocations it can.

WHAT'S THE FINISH?

Congressmen who are trying to put the clamps on the New Deal's spending might profitably conduct an investigation into the New Deal mentality. Where do the New Dealers think this thing will end? Do they think that the country can permanently sustain an economic system in which the government annually spends 4 or 5 billion dollars more than it takes in, more than it can find in the pockets of the persons who must support it?

If no change for the better has resulted from these years of debts and deficits what assurance is there that any betterment will be produced in the future by such procedure? Arthur Henning's story of Sunday revealed that over 15 billion dollars has been used within the last seven years to promote agricultural welfare. The country has not been lifted out of the slump. The New Dealers must concede that somewhere in the future there is a stopping point. Somewhere there will be exhaustion. Credit and resources are not limitless. When there isn't any money, what then?

The answer must be the totalitarian state. Its progress could not be stopped because there would be no alternative. If that is not the objective of the New Deal, it cannot have any. If it is not deliberately headed for the conscription of all men and money, it is merely lunacy.

SILENCE AT HYDE PARK.

Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Farley have had their talk and the world is no wiser. They parted as "Jim" and "The Boss." Mr. Farley is on his way to Europe. For sound or unsound reasons, he has been placed in the opposition to the third term, one sound or unsound reason being that he wants the nomination himself.

A guess would be that Mr. Farley said more to Mr. Roosevelt than Mr. Roosevelt said to him if any mention was made of the third term. Mr. Roosevelt would be less shrewd politically than he is supposed to be if he said anything. The present inference is that the New Deal can have no other candidate than its present chief. The other Democratic politicians aren't New Dealers and the other New Dealers aren't politicians, nor are many of them Democrats.

As time goes on it is probable that the third nomination will appear more and more as the New Deal imperative. Mr. Browder and his wide awake communists have been declaring for several months that the only alternative is destruction and doom. They speak with intense self-interest. So long as Mr. Roosevelt says nothing on the subject his opposition is shadow boxing. His alarmed radicals will get up steam for him in an effort to save their own powers, privileges, and preferments.

Suspense leading up to the dramatic call of the wild in the convention would seem to be the way to play the game for the third term. Mr. Roosevelt, having organized the inevitable, might bow to it.

THE LOGAN BILL.

The senate has passed the Logan bill, which broadens very considerably the grounds for judicial review of the decisions and rules of administrative agencies. The New Deal Janizaries in that body affect surprise at the action, contending that something has been slipped over on them. It seems probable, however, that the majority of the senators knew what they were doing, and intended to do just what they did.

The provisions of the bill will apply to scores of governmental agencies, the National Labor Relations board, the SEC, and the federal trade and federal communications commissions being conspicuous examples. They will not apply to procedure before the interstate commerce commission or a number of old line bureaus of whose conduct there has been little complaint. The bill gives the federal courts far wider power to review facts than have been invested in them before.

The statute is substantially the one proposed by the American Bar association to curb the excesses of which a majority of its members believe some of the federal administrative agencies, notably the labor board, have been guilty. It has been criticized as going too far.

One argument against the bill has been that powers of review are so great that administrative agencies are reduced to the status of prosecutors, and might as well start their cases in the federal courts to begin with. An opposite argument is that the bill would throw such burdens on the courts in the way of reviewing facts that they would be refused, endangering even the limited review enjoyed at present.

But whatever may be said against it, the Logan bill possesses the supreme merit of granting every man his day in court, a right that has been violated in notorious fashion under the New Deal. If the administrative agencies feel that it deals too severely with their powers they have only themselves to blame. Severe abuses call for strong remedies, and the tyranny that the members of the labor board and like minded burocrats have sought to impose on the nation is ample explanation of the passage of the bill.

SMOOTH AND EASY.

On Monday evening an immense throng gathered opposite the Field museum to hear Lily Pons. At about the same time other thousands were on their way to the circus south of Soldiers' field. The problem of moving these tens of thousands of people in and out of the park was a stupendous one and it is greatly to the credit of the park officials that the traffic flowed with only the fewest of interruptions.

Many Chicagoans can remember the confusion which attended the first large gatherings in Grant park, such as the Army-Navy football game. Obviously the park authorities have studied the problem closely and can now regard it as pretty well solved. The outer drive bridge, the new viaducts over the Illinois Central, the additional road and parking facilities in the park, and a well-trained police force have achieved the desired result. Chicago can boast that there are few cities in the world which can handle such enormous gatherings of people with so little inconvenience and no city which can handle them better.

MUNICIPAL DEBT DECLINES.

[Atlanta, Ga., Constitution.]

Although the present national debt of more than $40,000,000,000 threatens to push the top off the lawful limitation—nearly $18,000,000,000 more than in the dismal year of 1933—some consolation is to be found in the inclination of city debt to decline. In fact, the debt trend of some 300 representative cities, according to the National Municipal league, is definitly downward.

To be more precise, the total debt of 310 cities surveyed is $75,000,000 less than one year ago. On the whole, the older, more experienced municipalities have shown the largest reduction and carry the smallest load. Boston, for example, with a per capita debt of $90 ranks far below the national average per capita of $179.

The decline, however, is traceable not to the lack of a willingness to go further into debt to match federal "contributions," but to the fact that municipalities, in many instances, are now getting or have prospects of getting public buildings and other developments without putting up local funds. While a feeling of anxiety has doubtless grown over municipal debt as such, very little sentiment has developed against the notion that "money from Washington" is not money owed locally and doesn't have to be paid back.

Not until the people back home become thoroughly conscious that public money is the people's money, their money, regardless of the agency through which it is disbursed, will the upward trend in the national debt cease. In any event, there is consolation to be had from the pause, regardless of its cause, in that long skyward movement in municipal indebtedness.

STAR GAZING IN SUMMER.

We were congratulating ourself the other day upon a sudden upturn in the volume of our mail when, lo! we discovered that about one-half of it was addressed to Arch Ward of the "Wake" and the All-Star football game. We were consoled, however, when we discovered that it contained 50,000 last minute votes for Mario Tonelli, our candidate for full back.

* * *

That faint tang of fall that we thought we felt in the hazy air last Sunday night was merely a subconscious reminder to order a pair on the fifty yard line for Mr. Ward's annual tussle between the freshmen and upper classmen of professional football. We were tempted, for a moment, to speak of the All-Stars as the "subdebs" of professionalism, but having noted a few of these hefty young men in the hallways of the Tribune Tower, we decided not to get too smart about them.

A new café is ready to open on Rush street [an old residence] under a good title that contains a good idea: "Kentucky Serves a Meal." . . . The field of restaurants with regional atmosphere and cuisine has overlooked a bet thus far: the Pennsylvania Dutch. We have been informed by hearty eaters that this is the most savory cooking in the United States.

SUMMER IN JAPAN.

Japan! I know your red azalea'd hills,
And live again your silken, starry nights,
Your pleached repose near mossy temple roads;
Once more I hear the soba vendor cry
His wares, and sense the happy childish thrills
Again Hongwanji's bells awake abodes

Too soon this fades. I see your people now
Starring the silken nights with bursting shells;
Hear cries of mangled children disavow
Your Kwannon's mercy and your temple bells.
For me this year the pink azalea bud

Three cheers for your comments on the "left-handed envelope" [July 21]. That abomination has had it coming for a long time.

I'm the kind of a guy who sticks a lot of letters in their original envelopes in a desk drawer. But how are you going to file those cockeyed aberrations of the envelope industry? If you put the slit up, the identifying corner card is at the bottom, where you can't see it. If you put the corner card up, the slit is at the bottom, out of reach when you want to abstract the contents.

Let's form the Association for the Condemnation and Abolition of Left-Handed Envelopes.

W. Dee.

Regarding your rave about left-handed envelopes, you will find this letter enclosed in one. Our firm has been using them for years, because when such important things as checks are mailed they are not torn by the paper knife, as they might be in the other type of envelope.

A Rare Old Whistler Item.

The Art institute boasts in its weekly news letter that it "owns many unique examples of items related to Whistler, the American artist who lived from 1834 to 1903."

There is a large Whistler item on the lake front at 31st street that the Art institute ought to collect before it is given away to the junk men. This is the restoration of Fort Dearborn. Whistler's grandfather had a hand in designing the original fort, and Whistler's father was on hand to watch the work.

THE USE AND ABUSE OF STIMULANTS.

THE offspring of long lived parents have a good chance of reaching the eighth decade of life. While there are exceptions, the rule is reasonably consistent. To the question, "What is responsible for the tendency?" we may direct our attention to what is termed the physical constitution. If it is strong, the cells, tissues, and organs possess great resistance. On the other hand, if it is weak, constant or recurring illness is complained of. For example, if one's grandparents have survived into the eighties or nineties, we may with good reason remark that their progeny are endowed with rugged physiques.

As growth proceeds we develop what we call reserve. Some have it in far greater degree than others. We all wish for it and hope to acquire it. Those in whom the level is high are less likely to suffer an illness with every passing infection, and we build or deplete our credit balance according to the way we live. The strongest frame will rust away under continual punishment.

How frequently and vigorously may we stimulate a tired body? A whip may be needed in an emergency. Should it be applied constantly to stir up flagging fibers which are doing their best, we may anticipate a break sooner or later.

Now most of us are accustomed to a mild sort of excitation through the use of tea and coffee and—less commonly—chocolate. We employ these fluids not only for flavor and sociability but because caffeine—the drug which they furnish—banishes the sense of fatigue and aids the heart to do more work. This organ will stand a substantial amount of overload but we must recall that too much is enervating. If we oblige it to work faster, we shorten the periods of rest. But you say, "This is exactly what happens when I walk rapidly, play tennis, or indulge in any unusual activity." True enough, but this response of the pump to exercise is nature's way of providing more nutriment to working parts and is a proper and correct reaction. When the game is over we relax and the beat returns to normal.

All of which means that caffeine—a powerful circulatory stimulant—should not be taken routinely as we would spur a horse. Some of us may become topers, dependent for a sense of well being upon a substantial dose almost every hour. The housewife who takes three or four cups for breakfast, keeps the pot on the stove for a midmorning boost, and imbibes a generous allotment for lunch, with an afternoon pick-me-up, need not wonder should nervousness increase. Most of us have become accustomed to two or three servings daily and I have known persons who are apparently perfectly well on eight.

It is not the use of these preparations that is harmful—only the abuse. Furthermore, we must realize that there are individual differences. Iced drinks are just as rich in caffeine as the hot varieties and we must not delude ourselves into thinking that because we take these fluids cold we are escaping their effects. The total quantity is the thing that counts. Some will be disturbed adversely by a grain or two of caffeine [one or two cups]. The two hundred pounder who is 6 feet tall, as a rule, can withstand far more prodding of the nervous system than the delicate woman who weighs but half as much.

I never have been willing to indorse the employment of stimulants with children. How many start the day with coffee and doughnuts, toast, or rolls? We are cheating them deplorably with such a menu. Their natural drink is milk, and filling the stomach with an extract that satisfies temporarily is the worst type of deceit. If we inaugurate the breakfast cup at the age of 14 or 15 it will be early enough. The nerves and muscles of our boys and girls do not need bolstering.

NO BAR TO MARRIAGE.

H. R. writes: 1. Is cancer contagious or inherited?

2. Would the death of both parents from cancer be a bar to marriage?

REPLY.

1. Not contagious. There is some evidence that the tendency—not the disease—may pass from one generation to another. This has been demonstrated positively in animals; not conclusively in human beings.

2. Not at all.

HOW MUCH MILK SUGAR?

Mrs. M. B. writes: How much milk sugar should a child of 4½ months receive in her formula?

REPLY.

One-tenth of an ounce is added for every pound of the baby's weight, but the total should not exceed one ounce per day. This applies to the full twenty-four hour period.

PARTNERSHIP ASSETS.

Chicago, July 24 [Legal Friend of the People].—A and B are partners in a place of business. A's wife has been made by A's will his sole legatee. B has stated that when A dies he does not want A's wife as his partner and wants to buy her out. She does not want to sell, but would like to buy B out.

1. She is afraid that since she is not the original partner, and since she gets A's share only on his death, B will have the right to buy her out, and that she will be forced to sell to him.

2. Is this correct?

3. Does she have as much right to buy him out as B has to buy her out?

4. Can B force her to sell out to him upon A's death, whether she wants to sell or not? B has also stated that he does not want to sell out to her when A dies.

5. Since, therefore, neither wants to sell and both will want to buy the other out, they will be at an impasse.

6. What will be done in that case?

J. G.

1. Either the widow or the surviving partner could, by court proceedings, force a judicial sale at which the business assets would go to the highest bidder.

2. No, in the sense that both parties would stand on an equal footing.

3. Yes.

4. Yes, but see preceding answers.

5. We see no impasse. The assets will go to the party who is willing to pay the highest price.

FAMILIES ON PAY ROLLS.

Rockford, Ill., July 24. — Apparently most of the city hall jobs are under civil service. Few of them die and none retire. Therefore would it not be advisable to have a law prohibiting more than one member of a family on city or state pay roll, and that particular member on ONE pay roll only?

If you will carry this investigation through to the bottom you may find some astounding facts. Already you have discovered why there are so few civil service examinations—the answer is evident: no vacancies. Anyway, what is civil service among friends!

A SOUR APPLE.

Chicago, July 22.—Reading about husbands and wives who are on local government pay rolls is certainly revealing. It is distressing to discover that under civil service law they are "untouchables." Too bad we haven't a civil law against greed. J. A. FRONSON.

OUR ANTHEM THE BEST.

Chicago, July 22.—I notice that a reader advocates a change to a new national anthem. Among the grounds she takes for such a change is that "God Bless America" is not war arousing. Wouldn't that be just too grand!

Does this correspondent know what our present national anthem really refers to? It refers to our fight for liberty and freedom! It is the best song we have today and I for one say keep it. It arouses more feeling of patriotism than practically any other song ever could.

V. P. OF SENN HIGH SCHOOL.

WANTS MORE PARK POLICE.

Chicago, July 23.—What has happened to the park policemen? Why must our citizens be deprived of proper police protection in our parks, along the lake front, and on our boulevards? With the park district recently voting $30,000,000 for use for the next three years, why must we have a park force with over a hundred vacancies? It cannot possibly maintain a proper system of public safety. Trafic accidents, assaults, and parked car bandits are now most numerous in the history of the park district. DISGUSTED.

HUSBANDS AND WIVES.

Chicago, July 22.—I read with interest the article on husbands and wives holding jobs and drawing two fat salaries, while others of us cannot get work. I have for years advocated a law that no married woman may work as long as she has an able bodied husband.

I want to congratulate THE TRIBUNE for starting this campaign.

I know many politicians who hold two or more jobs and most politicians are selling insurance, real estate, or some other line. No wonder we have so much unemployment.

Only one member of any family should hold a political job at one and the same time. B. J. GLASER.

IS THIS A NEW RACKET?

Chicago, July 22.—Today I boarded an Addison street bus for downtown and took a seat beside an elderly gentleman who immediately handed me a pamphlet. Pointing to the title, "Something Every One Should Know," he asked me if I would like to read it.

It was about how wrong it is to tell your children there is a Santa Claus, etc. Well, I got that far and the man told me it would cost me 10 cents to finish it. I returned the pamphlet to him, changed my seat, and watched him try it on three other victims, but no luck. Yes, indeed, it is, something every one should know!

ANNA H. THOMPSON.

ONE VIEW OF NEUTRALITY.

Chicago, July 22.—Just as you do, I also get some comfort when the administration's destructive domestic policies are weakened by another defeat, but the price is too great in the case of so-called neutrality. We got into the horrors of the great war because we pretended we were going to stay out. "He kept us out of war," roared the Wilsonites.

If Britain and America had told the kaiser early in 1914 just where they would stand there would have been no war then.

If your Wrong Way Corrigan headlines and cartoons shouting "Peace" and headed for war should embolden Hitler to start war now, history would simply repeat itself and probably draw us in again.

The dove of peace needs to be saved from some of its noisiest friends.

CONTROVERSY VIA RADIO.

Chicago, July 22.—A. F. R. in a recent letter criticized the action of the National Association of Broadcasters in prohibiting the use of paid radio time for the presentation of controversial issues.

The purpose of this action is to prevent wealthy individuals or organizations [who have the money to pay for time to present their side of the case] from having an unfair advantage over those with opposite viewpoints who are not able to pay therefor.

Practically every station affiliated with the N. A. B. gives generously of its time to the discussion of controversial issues for which they make no charge, both sides in the controversy being given equal opportunity to present their side of the question. Such an action viewed in its true light is essentially democratic.

HAMMERING A NUISANCE.

Chicago, July 22.—We enlist your good offices to learn how much longer we and our neighbors will have to listen to the hammering on the new State street improvement. It has been going on for many weeks.

We don't want to stand in the way of civic development or improvement, but when it becomes physically and mentally burdensome and a hazard to all who come within its influence, then something ought to be done about it.

GEORGE F. POND,
Vice President, Pneumatic Scale Corporation, Ltd.

WHAT "NEUTRAL" MEANS.

Orion, Ill., July 21.—It seems that the neutrality law is causing quite a lot of trouble. Neutral means let either side win. We are doing just that at the present time. The United States can stay neutral and yet be on friendly terms with all nations.

Some nations expect us to help them in case of war. Why? We owe them nothing. We ask them nothing because we are a neutral and peace loving people.

UNFILLED PROMISES.

Chicago, July 22.—Before election our street was promised some new lights, our alley was going to be graded, and our garbage would be picked up regularly. They are all empty promises. Our garbage has not been collected for three weeks.

About our alley being graded; around prairies where a certain official lives the alleys were graded, but where we need it so badly the project was halted. The lights no doubt are forgotten. L. D.

A MEMORABLE EVENING.

Chicago, July 21.—The perfection of Wednesday evening under the stars at Grant park band shell deserves tribute.

The music was a polished gem in the luminous setting of the night, altogether lovely from the first note evoked by the youthful conductor on through the "Italian Symphony," the "Berceuse," the clear soprano of the "Romeo and Juliet Waltz Song," to the last mellow tones of "Oberon."

Meanwhile the night had come so gradually, following the last rosy rays of the sun behind the skyline of Michigan boulevard, that only as Mr. Andre spoke did one suddenly become aware that there were stars above and a slim, silver crescent moon in the west, while as far as one could see the twinkling lights of the city created a fairyland of color.

Not only the night and the music, but the people who gathered long before the first white clad musicians appeared, claimed one's attention. Behind us two students discussed a current best seller and puzzled over French verbs; in front of us a calmly capable matron sat with her husband and two teen-age daughters, crocheting so industriously that the tiny circlet grew into a four inch doily before the darkness hid it from our sight. Two men near us, a dark haired youth in work worn clothes and battered hat and a neatly dressed young business man wearing glasses, sat in earnest conversation. Strangers apparently until that moment, they were made comrades by the magic of the evening.

Thus were a few short hours rendered imperishably memorable. AUDSLEY.

THE CONSUMER PAYS.

Chicago, July 22.—A few days ago THE TRIBUNE printed a formidable tabulation showing figures obtained from 106 corporations of assets, taxes, dividends paid, etc.

These figures were most interesting, but as presented it seems to me they are misleading in that they give the impression that these corporations pay taxes. My own feeling is that they do not—they are merely tax collectors. This is well substantiated in the case of the tobacco companies, which are tax collectors on a magnificent scale. There is, in my opinion, only one final taxpayer—he is the consumer, as was well said by a distinguished citizen in 1932 when he said "taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors."

BENJAMIN F. AFFLECK.

THEY ARE OLDER NOW.

Chicago, July 25.—In a recent editorial you encouraged the boys of the American Legion to have a good time when they hold their convention in Chicago during September. Recalling some of the events that happened in the loop during the 1933 convention, I wonder just what constitutes a good time as far as they're concerned? If throwing paper water bags out of windows, damaging hotel property, and throwing trafic out of gear is a grown man's idea of having a good time, don't look for me in the loop in September.

ELMER.

IF HE WANTS TO KNOW.

Chicago, July 22.—Mr. President, just tell the nation you will not run for a third term if you want to know who is holding up the business boom. W. M.

CRY-BABIES' CORNER.

7 SHOT, 1 KILLED IN BATTLE OVER JOBS ON BRIDGE

Shotgun Gang Raids Indiana Project.

27 years old, incurred a broken rib and head lacerations. John Magdziarczyk, Peter Wozniak and Thomas Konieczy were cut and bruised.

Police shot tear gas into the unruly crowd of strikers and sympathetic demonstrators and arrested seven men. The prisoners, six strikers and one worker, were released on bond on charges of assault and battery.

The strike at the plant was called last May by the La Porte local of the International Moulders' union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, to enforce demands for increased pay and shorter working hours.

Strike Splits Union.

After the strike had been in progress for some time a group of employés became dissatisfied with the union's method of handling the matter. They withdrew from the Moulders' union and formed the Federal Wagner union, local No. 7, to conduct separate bargaining negotiations.

The back to work movement was inaugurated by members of the new group.

Although there was no disorder when the workers left the plant at the end of the day's shift, Police Chief Carl Baumgartner said he would have his force ready to meet any violence that might occur tomorrow morning.

200 ARMOUR CIO WORKERS HOLD PROTEST RALLY

Two hundred employés of Armour & Co., all members of the Packinghouse Workers' Organizing committee, gathered yesterday in the company plant at 31st street and Racine avenue and remained for two hours. Their leaders said they made the demonstration because Armour officials had not acted on individual grievances of workers.

Leaving the plant early in the evening, the demonstrators paraded to the P. W. O. C. headquarters at 48th street and Marshfield avenue. They announced they had sent a telegram to Robert H. Cabell, president of the packing firm, demanding a consideration of the grievances today.

The organizing committee has threatened a strike in all the Armour plants in the United States unless a nation-wide contract is signed with the committee. The company has maintained that it is following the law, as administered by the National Labor Relations board, in negotiating contracts with units in the various plants. The P. W. O. C. is affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

C. I. O. TO INVADE BUILDING FIELD, LEWIS STATES

Washington, D. C., July 25 (AP)—C. I. O. Leader John L. Lewis today invaded the building construction field, long dominated by the powerful and closely knit building trades unions of the American Federation of Labor.

In a formal statement, Lewis announced that he would organize a new industrial union among the 3,000,000 wage earners he estimated were in the industry.

His move, which may bring the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. into conflict on a new front, will be carried out by an organizing committee headed by his brother, A. D. Lewis, and a staff of some of the top ranking C. I. O. leaders. The new unit will be known as the United Construction Workers' Organizing committee.

SIREN HELD IN $4,000 BAIL ON CHARGE FILED BY MAN SHE MARRIED

Benton Harbor, Mich., July 25 (AP).—Mrs. Josephine Pelikan, 40 years old, was held in $4,000 bond today on a charge of defrauding a man she married out of $3,700. Similar charges have been made against her in other cities by men who married her only to find both wife and savings missing within a short time.

Mrs. Josephine Pelikan [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Joseph Brcka, who made the charge which caused her arrest yesterday in Allegan, said Mrs. Pelikan was married to him in Michigan City, Ind., in November, 1933, and left with his life savings two weeks later.

Mrs. Pelikan was arrested at Grand Rapids in June and taken to Wilmette, Ill., to face a complaint by Gottlieb Holbick that she had taken $775 and his gold watch while they were on a honeymoon. She was released on bail in Wilmette and disappeared.

TRAVELS ACROSS NATION IN ORDER TO GET INTO JAIL

Mineola, N. Y., July 25 [Special].—Edward C. Ray, 30 years old, of Garden City, had to come back home today to get himself arrested. He had tried twice before—in Mexico and Texas—but found on those occasions that the district attorney of Nassau county was not interested.

Edward Ray. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Ray, former cashier for the Hartin Development company in Port Washington, disappeared on March 23, as did a $700 pay roll. Ray was indicted. Nassau county refused to pay his fare from distant points. Ray then visited his mother in Wisconsin and surrendered here today.

ESCAPED SLAYER OF HER HUSBAND SEIZED IN TEXAS

Velma West Captured with 2d Fugitive.

Dallas, Tex., July 25 (AP).—Two women identified as convicts who escaped from the reformatory for women at Marysville, O., on June 20, were captured in the market district of Dallas tonight.

Mrs. Velma West. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

They are Velma West, 32 years old, under a life sentence for the hammer slaying of her husband, and Mary Ellen Richards, 23, serving ten to twenty-five years for highway robbery. Detectives C. O. Buchanan, J. F. Daniel, and Ben Samford said. Two other women fugitives were being sought.

Tell of Hitch-Hike Trip.

Mrs. West told a reporter the four women obtained a set of keys to the gates and escaped during the night. They decided to hitch-hike to Dallas, but Florence Sheline, one of the four, left en route. The remaining three arrived here three weeks ago, with Virginia Brady, the fourth fugitive, leaving the other two several days ago. Her whereabouts, Mrs. West told officers, was unknown to her.

The detectives were provided with reliable information that the women were in Dallas and later were given additional information as to their exact whereabouts.

In Reformatory Since 1927.

Mrs. West entered the reformatory in 1927 and Mary Ellen Richards entered five years ago.

"I've been in jail the last twelve years," Mrs. West said, "and after seven years the board of pardons told me it was useless for me to seek my release any more. Ever since then I've been looking for a chance to escape.

"I didn't get along well at the reformatory under an old administration and spent thirteen and a half months in solitary confinement. The new matron, however, treated me well and made me a trusty."

In addition to our REGULAR FULL LOAN SERVICE

America's Largest Loan Company offers a

SPECIAL LOAN PLAN

with reductions up to ½ the maximum lawful charge

For years, loan companies have charged everyone who borrowed from them according to standard schedules of charges that gave little or no recognition to people with established good credit. In line with this, some loan companies still charge the maximum rate allowed by law for small loans. Some other loan companies charge slightly less than this lawful maximum. Now Personal adds to its regular service a new "Special" Loan to help responsible persons save on loan costs.

SEE

Under our new "Special" Loan Plan

IF YOU BORROW $100 FOR A YEAR

. . . you get the full amount, and average cost to you is only 82c PER MONTH

NO EXTRA CHARGES!

To obtain a loan under this plan you need:

1. Steady income or salary sufficient to meet payments promptly without undue strain.
2. A good credit record.

You get any amount up to $300 at Personal's new low rate of only 1½% per month on the actual balance owed each month.

2. Persons without established credit and employment ratings.

You get the first $100 at 3% per month on the actual balance owed each month and 2% per month on the remainder above $100. This is less than the maximum lawful rate on loans above $100.

OUSTED HIGHWAY CHIEF INDICTED IN LOUISIANA PROBE

Business Aid Also Named; Fortieth Against Smith.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baton Rouge, La., July 25.—L. P. Abernathy, who resigned recently as head of the state highway commission and as a member of the Louisiana State university board, and two others were indicted today by the grand jury of East Baton Rouge parish. The others are A. K. Kilpatrick and Dr. James Monroe Smith, resigned president of the university.

After his retirement from the highway commission, Abernathy admitted he owned 25 per cent of the stock of the Standard Office Supply company of Monroe, which for ten years has sold supplies to the highway and other departments.

In the indictment Abernathy and Kilpatrick, as a business associate in the supply business, are charged with violating a state law passed in 1906 which forbids "unlawfully deriving pecuniary interest and profit from a contract as member of a public board."

Dr. Smith's Fortieth Indictment.

Dr. Smith, in another indictment, is charged again with embezzlement of university funds in connection with a check issued to the National City bank here and cashed June 8. This is the fortieth indictment against Smith, whose bonds now run up to $219,000. He is in the federal jail in New Orleans.

Hicks Batts, one of six men who signed a general affidavit charging corruption and dishonesty in the use of WPA funds and materials at Louisiana State university and at private homes of high ranking politicians, complained today that he had been discharged as a university truck driver on orders of Richard Morhinveg, acting superintendent of construction.

In the affidavit the six charged dishonesty and corruption involving the administration of WPA funds at the university and at the private residences of Richard W. Leche, then governor; Supt. George Caldwell, now under indictment; Business Manager E. N. Jackson, and others.

Sue to Recover $75,000.

The state university today filed a civil suit here demanding $75,000 from Seymour Weiss, former head of the New Orleans dock board; Monte Hart, a contractor; Louis Lesage, Standard Oil official; Dr. J. Smith, ex-president of the university, and J. Emory Adams, nephew of Mrs. Smith. The five were indicted by the New Orleans federal grand jury last week on mail fraud charges in connection with the double sale of hotel equipment to the university.

DISTRICT CHIEF SLATED TO HEAD NIGHT SCHOOLS

Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson will recommend to the board of education at its meeting today that Harry Keeler, district superintendent of high schools, be made assistant superintendent of schools in charge of night schools and summer schools.

Keeler was principal of Lindblom High school for seventeen years. He joined the school system in 1898 and is 64 years old. He lives at 9654 Longwood drive and is the father of five children. Keeler long has been an advocate of expansion of the R. O. T. C. in the high schools. Two of his sons are officers in the navy and another is a retired army sergeant.

Superintendent Johnson is expected to recommend that James T. Gaffney, principal of Roosevelt High school, be named district superintendent of high schools to replace Keeler. The latter will replace Robert I. White, who retired last month.

BEGIN STATE QUIZ OF SCHOOL RATE FOR ELECTRICITY

The Illinois commerce commission opened its hearing yesterday on the petition of the board of education for an inquiry into electric rates charged the schools by the Commonwealth Edison company. John Howatt, chief engineer for the board, testified regarding the thirty year old contract under which the schools buy light and power. Richard S. Folsom, attorney for the board, said the board would make an inquiry about the rates at the next hearing, Sept. 12. At the opening of the hearing Assistant Commissioner Robert H. Farrell denied a motion to have a petition from Raymond F. Kraft, Winnetka school teacher, who has also asked for the school rate investigation, consolidated with the board of education petition.

Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon Adopt Boy, 4, from England

Los Angeles, Cal., July 25 (AP).—Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon, formerly of the screen but now popular as stage stars in Great Britain, appeared in court here today to adopt Richard Lyon, 4 years old, whom they brought to this country from England. The Lyons said they had arranged with British authorities to adopt the child here because they still regard Los Angeles as their home. They are the parents of a 7 year old daughter, Barbara Bebe Lyon. The family will leave by airplane tomorrow night for New York, to sail for England.

Boy Lost in Woods

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Russell Jensen, 6, who is lost in Paul Bunyan state forest near Lake Kabekona (arrow).

Laporte, Minn., July 25 [Special]—Russell Jensen, son of an Albert Lea packing house foreman, was lost today in the dense Paul Bunyan state forest. A posse of 200 men and CCC enrollees is hunting for him. The boy is 6 years old.

He disappeared yesterday morning after following his father, Curts, and his uncle, the Rev. Roy Olson of Minneapolis, to the beach of Lake Kabekona, where they went fishing. He was last seen walking along the beach and his tracks led into the woods.

Treacherous swamps in which the boy could easily lose his life dot the forest. Besides lack of food and possible inability to find water, the boy's endurance would be further weakened by the swarms of mosquitoes which plague woodsmen at night.

RELIEFER CALLS IT SLAVERY TO WORK FOR FOOD

Hackensack, N. J., July 25 (AP).—Doing odd jobs for his home town to work off relief grants is slavery in the eyes of Ernest Gross, 56 years old, Fort Lee plasterer.

Rebelling against a new order of the mayor and council that relief clients work at the rate of 50 cents an hour, Gross signed a complaint charging Poormaster John Sheridan violated the state poor law—a misdemeanor—in refusing him food orders because he wouldn't work for them. He got the orders for three years prior to July 1.

Lester J. Richardson, clerk of the First District Criminal court of Bergen county here, received Gross' complaint. He refused to issue a warrant and sent the poormaster a subpena to be in court next Thursday. Gross has charged in out of court statements that his constitutional rights under the anti-slavery amendment were being violated.

ESTATE FOR DOG PUTS MAILMAN IN TOUGH SPOT

Baltimore, Md., July 25 (AP).—John H. Bouse, registrar of wills, must write a dog a formal letter—and it's going to put the United States mails in an awful pickle.

Mrs. Mary R. Herman left a $2,000 trust fund for her dog, Flossie. Maryland law requires Bouse to notify any beneficiary by registered letter immediately a will is filed for probate.

But addressees must sign for registered letters. Bouse says it's up to the mailman to teach Flossie to write.

COURT WORKERS TOIL AS FAVOR TO BILLY SKIDMORE

The Municipal court clerk's office obliged William [Billy] Skidmore, the proprietor of large estates in McHenry county, with proof that he signed thousands of criminal bail bonds in Chicago during the last 20 years. This service was given to Skidmore as a courtesy to his attorney, William Goldstein, according to Joseph O'Leary, secretary to Court Clerk Joseph L. Gill, who was absent from the city.

Skidmore wanted this proof, it was explained by government employés, to use in his own defense in the current federal grand jury investigation of his income. Skidmore would like to convince the jury that his fortune was not acquired in recent years as payoff man for a gambling syndicate, but was accumulated in earlier years when he signed bonds for pickpockets, gamblers, and bootleggers, it was said.

Patrick Durkin, chief clerk of the criminal division of Clerk Gill's office, said any person or attorney could get just as good service as Skidmore received. It was some job to dig up Skidmore's records for 20 years back, but the office believes in serving the public, he said.

P. D. FITZPATRICK, GEN. MANAGER OF G. T. W., DIES AT 59

Detroit, Mich., July 25 [Special].—P. D. Fitzpatrick, general manager of the Grand Trunk Western railroad, died here today in a hospital where he was operated upon several weeks ago. He was 59 years old. A native of Springfield, Ill., Fitzpatrick was graduated from Armour Institute of Technology and worked with the Chicago and North Western and the Illinois Central railroads before joining the Grand Trunk in 1913 to work on a new terminal at Bay City.

Transferred to the east, he became chief engineer of the Central Vermont and was credited with one of the outstanding feats in the history of railroads when in the floods which swept Vermont in 1927 more than ninety miles of track were destroyed. With his men working in subzero temperatures Fitzpatrick rebuilt the line in ninety days. Later he worked on the Grand Trunk terminal in Montreal, and in 1932 was transferred to Detroit as chief engineer.

Presently two men with a key that fitted his door came in. One had a gun. They bound McKerracher and searched the apartment until they found the money in a bureau drawer. Taking it, they fled.

TWO WOMEN JURORS, BELIEVED FIRST IN STATE, WIN PRAISE

Two women jurors, believed to be the first to serve in Illinois, won the praise of Judge Harry C. Daniels in the Kane county Probate court at Geneva yesterday. He liked their work so well that he told them to return tomorrow on another case.

Mrs. Rose Tazewell.

The women are Mrs. Rose Tazewell of 471 Hendee street, Elgin, and Mrs. Winifred Dunlop of 202 South 4th street, Aurora. Mrs. Tazewell said she believed women should make better jurors than men because they have to serve as prosecutor, defense attorney, judge, and jury in their homes.

The women were on a jury that found Mrs. Kate Stafford, 80 years old, of Aurora, incompetent to manage her affairs. They served under the new state law authorizing women on juries.

CHA FIGHTS WRIT TYING UP WELLS HOUSING PROJECT

The Chicago Housing authority, through its attorney, Joseph Grossman, assistant corporation counsel, announced yesterday that it would appeal to the Appellate court from the temporary injunction issued by Judge John J. Lupe, restraining the CHA from awarding all contracts for the $8,000,000 Ida B. Wells housing project to one contractor.

Judge Lupe issued the injunction on a petition filed by Robert C. Geigel, 1431 Lunt avenue, as a taxpayer. Geigel's plea accused the CHA of unfair discrimination against most of the city's contractors.

Bids for the housing project were opened yesterday. The base bids ranged from $6,975,000 to $7,695,000.

Chairman Joseph W. McCarthy of the CHA said the authority regretted the delay before it can award contracts. He said the CHA has been under "considerable pressure" to get the project under construction at the earliest possible date.

Mothers Busy Making Plans for Debutantes

BY JUDITH CASS.

BENEATH the quiet of the midsummer doldrums many households are humming with debut plans. Excitement in the William B. Browns' big Wheaton home once again is centering around a debutante. This time the bud is Miss Janet Brown, the third daughter of the house. Miss Brown will be introduced to society at a tea on Sept. 23, just before she returns to Smith college for her second year.

Miss Katherine Hamill, the junior Robert Hamills' daughter, who is making her debut in New York this year, may come west for Miss Brown's party. The two young women will be together in the east next month. Miss Brown is leaving next Tuesday to visit the Hamills in their Long Island home. From there she will go to Maine to visit college friends.

The Hill Blacketts have changed the date of the tea they will give to introduce their daughter, Miss Priscilla, from Sept. 16 to the 14th.

Josephine Wallace Will Bow During Holidays.

Miss Josephine Wallace, daughter of Walter F. Wallace of Winnetka, will make her debut at a tea dance on Dec. 23 at the Indian Hill club. At present she and a nephew, John Sanger Hinchman, are in Santa Barbara where they will spend the remainder of the summer with her mother, Mrs. Harry E. Miller.

Miss Wallace will enter her sophomore year at Vassar in September. Her sister and brother-in-law, the W. Sanger Hinchmans of Winnetka, and their son, David, are leaving this

Miss Patsy Blackett, a debutante of the season, and Zette, a French Briard, who has been a member of the Hill Blackett family since a visit to Paris in 1932. Miss Blackett will bow at a tea at home in Winnetka on Sept. 14, followed by dinner and dancing at the Pump room of the Ambassador East hotel.

Costly Errors Come to White Elephant Tea

BY BETTY BROWNING.

The old saw that "one man's meat is another man's poison" came to mind yesterday at the White Elephant Rummage shop's tea in Lake Forest. Invited to bring a "disappointment" as a ticket of admission, the guests arrived with such castoff possessions as a set of Wedgwood soup plates, an exquisite Victorian desk set of papier maché inlaid with mother of pearl, and a Dresden dish.

A round silver hand mirror came from Miss Martha Sarver with the laughing request to overlook the date engraved on it because "that was the year I was graduated from school."

This was the "nth" midsummer party for which Mrs. D. Mark Cummings has opened her rambling stucco house overlooking the lake to benefit the rummage shop, and so to aid the Children's Memorial hospital. Even Mrs. Cummings herself could not remember how many of these parties there have been. Again the indefatigable shop committee managed the considerable feat of arranging something "different" that would make even a midsummer's party a success.

A few children had come to last year's party, and that had worked out so well that this year there was a general invitation for them to come with their mothers and grandmothers.

A magician swallowed swords and performed other marvels in the large living room. Mrs. Cummings' little grandchildren, Joyce, Ruth, and Nancy, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Cummings, were in the audience. Nancy could not stay because she was on her way to the birthday party of Sheilah Simpson, the junior James Simpsons' daughter, at their farm near Libertyville.

The children found the moose and cariboo heads which Mrs. Curtis Munson, the former Edith Cummings, had brought back as trophies from her hunting trips, almost as fascinating as the magician's tricks. Two of these heads are mounted on the walls of an outdoor living room opening onto the green lawn. The lawn has brilliant flower borders, fine old elms, and back drop of blue lake.

The shop's "little" committee, as Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell, Mrs. Charles K. Foster, Mrs. Samuel Chase, and Mrs. Charles W. Dempster call themselves, had luncheon at Mrs. Chase's and arrived early in order to arrange donations sent ahead of time. Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, and Mrs. De Forest Hulburd also had guests for luncheon and brought them to the tea.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Our Town.

Hollywood, Cal., July 25.—At the House of Murphy, Matty Malneck and his bride; Franchot Tone, Burgess Meredith and Pat Di Cicco. . . . The Ralph Blums [Carmel Myers] giving a cornbeef and cabbage and champagne party. . . . Mrs. Joe Penner's evening gown setting off her tanned shoulders. . . . Darryl Zanuck and Al Ritz in a race track huddle.

California politicians in an uproar because Gov. Olson favors shifting Santa Anita's winter racing dates to Hollywood Park. . . . As everybody in the state holds stock in one or the other of the tracks, the row is widespread.

Irving Berlin and Harry Brand, the Twentieth Century-Fox publicity poo-bah. . . . Add Look-Alikes: Director Arthur Lubin and Harold Lloyd. . . . Those peguin ads are cute, but I liked best the one where he was in the hammock.

Last time Helen Hayes was on the Biltmore stage the play was "Victoria Regina." . . . A convention was parading on the night we saw the show. . . . In the middle of the most dramatic scene the parade reached the corner on which the theater is located and how the tiny star ever struggled through the overtones of yells and drums and guns I'll never know.

Last night's première of "Ladies and Gentlemen" had to buck the heat, but at least there was no fife and drum corps for opposition. . . . Norma Shearer, between acts, confided to this reporter that "The Women" preview took a great load off her mind. . . . "It's one thing to be a mother in real life," she smiled, "quite another to play the part of a mother of children on the screen. I didn't want to play the part. Now I'm glad that Hunt Stromberg persuaded me that it would turn out all right."

At the finish of the picture, with its all femme cast, they thought seriously of using a quick shot of Clark Gable as the husband. . . . The idea was scuttled by Director Clarence Brown because he didn't want to be accused of tricking it up. . . . "It's the first picture in which I ever had to spell out 'love' on a dial telephone," cracks Norma.

In a town of world famous chasses, the slim manicure at the Beverly-Wilshire matches them, line for line. . . . Her name is Margaret McCoy and she hails from Dallas, Tex.

No director has been ribbed so much as John Stahl, because of his insistence on taking a scene over and over again until he is satisfied. . . . Stahl's "When Tomorrow Comes," just completed at Universal with Irene Dunne and Charles Boyer, will end all ribbing. . . . It shapes up as one of the sure-fires of the year. . . . Stahl himself lost nineteen pounds during the trees, was a stage. Ko-Ko shouted and the animated scene resolved into an exemplary audience. First on the bill was a pet show. Trained dogs tumbled and leaped, Brazilian macaws swung on gymnastic bars, cockatoos danced, a canary kindergarten see-sawed.

Then came the rodeo—the leading acts from the show which the Evanston post of the American Legion has brought to town. Out in the center of the lawn little Shirley Lou Adams, a 9 year old cowgirl, performed on her pony, Sonny Boy; the trick mule Mae West; the "pick up" man, Silver Dollar Brady; real Indians in paint and feathers were there and in top form. It was a grand party.

As to the memorial, that is a story of two little girls who used to romp on that lawn and beach—small Marianna, who died tragically in a fire, and Margherita Drew, who was a victim of infantile paralysis. Mrs. Drew will have no monument in cold stone or marble. She prefers a living memorial fashioned of youngsters laughing in the sun.

1,700 Shouting Guests Attend Garden Party

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

Mrs. Herbert Drew entertained on the lake front lawn of her home at 707 Sheridan road, Evanston, yesterday. The 1,700 boisterous guests showed slight regard for the fact that the party had its origin as a memorial. But even the hostess didn't seem to mind the holiday air. It was the 18th annual party that Mrs. Drew has given for Chicago orphans and settlement youngsters.

Freckle-faced redheads, dark Latins, wide eyed colored tots, blonde cherubs and impish angels with dirty faces, they arrived in a cavalcade of twenty buses. The procession was led by a calliope and a shiny red chariot on which ride two clowns, Ko-Ko and Joe Madden. In the rear came three squad cars, packed to the doors. Sympathetic police had picked up the unprecedented overflow.

There were balloons, paper hats, toys, trumpets, and whirlagig noise makers. There were 2,000 bottles of soft drinks, that many ice cream bars, individual picnic bags stuffed with sandwiches, peanuts, plums, oranges, candy, and cookies.

More Country Road Notes.

The road to St. Anne, Ill., and you must be country born and bred to see the beauty along those level highways, writes E. F. V.:

"The fairy umbels of Queen Anne's lace, along with the blue chicory; sheets of pale lavender, pungent horse mint on the slopes and in the fence corners; stately Joe Pye weed, towering over blue vervain in the meadows; masses of pale blue Canada thistle.

"Brown cattails in the slough; surprisingly, an area of Bouncing Betty which, legend has it, grows only where there has been human habitation; tall, yellow verbascum (mullein) and milkweed. On every side fragrant Bokhara clover; black-eyed Susans matching their gold with wild sunflowers; and that 'host with banners,' the corn, 'the golden corn that makes of health and wealth for all the nation,' quoting the late Gov. Oglesby. Much you have missed if you never have walked down those rows of corn and listened to the whisperings.

"And then St. Anne, quiet little village founded long ago by French-Canadians, self-exiled, bringing to the prairie country their indomitable spirit of a 'race that will not die,' of which Louis Hemon has written so heartbreakingly. Sleepy St. Anne, but still rocked by the storm of Father Chinaquay's schism. St. Anne, where the faithful attend mass in the old church built by their fathers who sleep in the quaint cemetery; the church that guards a relic of la bonne Ste. Anne and where miracles are performed during the ancient rites of the Pilgrimage. It would thrill you to walk in one of those candlelight processions, where the dissenters who followed Father Chinaquay worship in the Protestant church. St. Anne, where you may hear the French of Louis XV. spoken in the local A. & P."

Barefoot glamor girls walking across the infield at Arlington, carrying their shoes in their hands. . . . Sun-browned Randolph Scott at the Ambassador, a symphony in tan. . . . Woman checking in at a hospital for an operation, a book in a bright red binding under her arm entitled Appointment with Death. . . . Lily Pons and Andre Kostelanetz with a party of friends supping at the Pump room after her Grant park concert, waiters bringing up shashlik on flaming swords; dark-eyed Miss Pons in a long scarlet gown and small, conical crowned scarlet hat. . . . Add-a-Letter Puzzle Solution.

The first correct solution to P. Fricano's add-a-letter puzzle was Harold S. Darling's. Ruth Chamberlain's verse gives the missing words in capitals:

An AI is a three toed sloth
(The Bradypodidæ clan).
He's lazy, sluggish, IRA is;
His troubles all began
When his keeper at the zoo
Told him RAIN was water!
Tried to TRAIN him not to cringe,
'Twas a STRAIN. You oughter
Look at Ira upside down
Munching a banana,
Pretending that he never heard
Of biographer, P. Fricano.
Our Ira cannot even wash.
His allergy he RETAINS.
So in a slicker bound southwest
Poor Ira now ENTRAINS.
But do not weep at the station.
To Ira tears are pains.
He's bound for Saharan Utopia
Where it never, never rains!

Baptists Agree on Plan to Aid All Minorities

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlanta, Ga., July 25.—Baptists of sixty nations and nearly a hundred national, sectional, and racial conventions agreed here today in a broad program aimed at benefiting oppressed minorities throughout the world.

True to Baptist tradition, all action in the program now being launched at sessions of the Baptist World alliance proceeds through the individual and the sovereignty of his conscience, whether the question be world peace, labor conditions, national politics, or racial intolerance. The word evangelism—but with a larger social meaning than evangelism of the old sawdust trail—embraces the entire program.

For instance, the Rev. Mike Elliott, editor of the Baptist Minister, a Chicago publication, explained that evangelism in the coming world-wide campaign will have meaning for political leaders as they shape up platforms for next year's general elections. He said if human values are being lowered by administration policies, or, if they tend toward dictatorship, with its denial of sovereignty of the individual conscience, the votes of a dozen million Baptists—whose own consciences have been sharpened by evangelism—will register proper spiritual response to the situation.

Dr. N. J. Nordstrom, of Stockholm, in an address this morning, made it clear that a league of nations is impossible until ideas of absolute state [national] sovereignty are revised to put the welfare of humanity above the welfare of the individual state.

Dr. Nordstrom expressed hope for an ultimate international judicial order. However, he explained that the present situation, when no such order exists, calls for armaments.

Dr. Nordstrom's report, which leaders expect will be adopted in some form as the world-wide Baptist position in the coming evangelistic campaign, defined the individual Christian's duty in time of war. He said three views have been argued.

The first is the out and out pacifism of the Quaker. However, he explained, such pacifism does not hold up because a locomotive engineer who pilots a trainload of munitions is as much at war as a soldier, and, if the engineer were an absolute pacifist, he would have to quit his job.

The second view is the middle course, which sanctions participation in war under protest, Dr. Nordstrom declared.

The third view, held by certain smaller religious groups, he said, is that God is a war maker and that God sends wars as punishment to nations for their sins.

Dr. James H. Rushbrooke of London, England, general secretary of the alliance for the last ten years, was elected today by acclamation to the presidency of the alliance.

EASTERN STATES WAKE UP; SEEK TOURIST DOLLAR

2 Vote Funds to Advertise Vacation Charms.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

Eastern states are waking up to the fact that more than 5 billion dollars is being spent annually by tourists in America and that they might as well get their share.

The New York legislature has appropriated $200,000 as the initial step in a long range advertising program designed to place that state in the front rank as a vacation land. The Pennsylvania legislature has gone New York one better by appropriating $400,000. That sum is to be spent over a period of two years, but between now and November $50,000 will be used for newspaper and magazine space. From that $50,000 campaign the state hopes to reap a remarkable harvest—$100,000,000—in new business from travelers.

Philadelphia Rings the Bell!

Word from Philadelphia says the harvest season already has set in. Of the first 12 million persons who visited the New York World's Fair, 4 million went through the Pennsylvania building, a replica of Independence hall. Each one was handed a piece of literature describing points of interest in the Keystone state and suggesting that he visit the original Independence hall in Philadelphia on his way home. Ever since then the Philadelphia shrine has been jammed with visitors intent on seeing the Liberty bell.

In setting aside $400,000 for advertising, the Pennsylvania legislature created a state department of commerce to handle the appropriation. Under Secretary Richard P. Brown this bureau has started an intensive campaign to attract tourists and vacationists. It is making known the fact that three transcontinental highways pass through the state and that there is much for the midwesterner to see on his way east.

Historic Shrines Galore.

"We find the visitors particularly interested in Independence hall, the Liberty bell, the Betsy Ross house, Carpenter's hall, Congress hall, Old Swedes' church, Christ church, and other landmarks dating to Revolutionary days," Orson N. Ritzman of the state commerce department writes the Tribune travel department.

"A visit to Philadelphia makes it easy to include Valley Forge and Washington's Crossing in the traveler's itinerary. Another high spot is the Gettysburg battlefield, where a new attraction is the Eternal Light peace memorial. Still another is Bethlehem, with its Moravian buildings, erected in 1741 and depicting Saxon architecture and various oddities common to that period. And the Pocono region, with its mountain resorts, waterfalls, and sports facilities, is proving a leading attraction."

Touring Is Big Industry.

Advertising for tourists is nothing new for midwestern and far western states. Touring has long been one of the largest industries in Wisconsin and Michigan, along with Colorado and California, and those states, among others, have spent huge sums to build it up and keep it going. Some of the eastern commonwealths have followed suit in rather half-hearted fashion, but not until this year have they taken the race seriously.

A falling off in travel expenditures in the northeastern section of the country probably had something to do with the decision. The 1938 total for the United States has been figured at $5,170,979,579, as compared with $5,365,241,688 for 1937. Heavy advertising and many improvements in resort facilities enabled the south to show a gain, and the west about held its own, but the northeast took a decided drop. Now that area is out to recoup its losses.

ISLE ROYALE PARK DEDICATION SET FOR NEXT YEAR

Dedication of Michigan's Isle Royale as a national park, scheduled for this summer, has been postponed until next year. Acquisition of the land by the national park service has not been completed.

The island, one of the most primitive in America, is to be kept in its present state. There will be no autos, saddle horses, or highways. Travel will be by boats and forest trails. The area will be preserved as a game and fish refuge.

Royale is the largest island between Long Island and Puget sound. It is about 44 miles long and has an average width of 5 miles. It has 24 inland lakes. Its primeval condition is due to the fact that the rugged formation of the rocky masses has kept man from stripping the forests.

Imperial Airways Reports 30 Pct. Gain in Passengers

New York, July 25 [Special].—In the last three months Imperial Airways has flown 30 per cent more passengers than in the same period of 1937. The British company announced today that in the three months it had carried double the amount of mail carried a year ago. It is now averaging more than 40,000 passengers a year.

LOW COST COACH TRAINS TO SPEED TO EAST COAST

Luxury Equipment Offered on Two Routes.

Low cost, high speed coach travel between Chicago and New York will become a reality Friday, when the New York Central's Pacemaker and the Pennsylvania railroad's Trail Blazer start on their maiden trips.

Both trains will operate on a 17 hour schedule. Both will have advanced styles in equipment. Observation lounges, buffets, radios, air conditioning, and reclining chairs are some of the features.

Today the Trail Blazer is to make a trial run of 296 miles, from Chicago to Fort Wayne and return. Tomorrow it will be displayed at the Union station.

DILLINGER DEATH MASK REPOSES IN PORTO RICO JAIL

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, July 25 [Special].—The original death mask of the Indiana gangster, John Dillinger, is behind the bars at Ponce, on the southern side of this territory.

It is being kept in "the strangest police station in the world," so-called because of the curiosities with which it is filled.

Lopez de Azua, chief of police at Ponce, has made a museum of the jail. The chief is also the town's leading lawyer. He hangs his shingle outside the station.

Travel Queries Answered

[What's your travel problem? Address queries regarding where to go, how to get there, costs, and accommodations to the Travelers' Guide, Chicago Tribune, inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.]

What are the dates of the 1940 Olympic games in Helsingfors, Finland? Is it necessary to buy tickets in advance? G. J. A.

July 20 to Aug. 4. The American Olympics committee has been notified that persons wishing to attend the games must buy their tickets and arrange for housing accommodations before Sept. 15 of this year. The committee is trying to get the European officials to postpone the time limit until next spring. Four thousand tickets to the track and field events have been allotted this country.

We expect to visit Yosemite National park this summer, and are especially interested in the giant Sequoias there. Just how big are they? What else can you tell us about them? F. R. W.

The largest one has a diameter of 40.3 feet; the tallest is 310 feet high. They have been known to weigh as much as 6,000 tons, and the roots of the larger ones spread over an area of between two and three acres. One of them may produce a million needs in one season. All are virtually immune from insect attacks and destructive fungi, and show a remarkable resistance to fire. There are seventy groves of Sequoias in the world—all of them on the west slope of the Sierra, in California. Their altitude range is from 3,000 to 8,400 feet. They were named in honor of Se-quo-yah, a Cherokee Indian who completed an alphabet for his tribesmen in 1821.

My husband and I have been having an argument as to which is the world's highest automobile road. Can you settle the question? V. N.

The highway to the top of Pike's peak, 14,110 feet above sea level, usually has been regarded as the highest, but the honor is now being challenged by the newly built highway reaching almost to the top of Mount Evans, west of Denver. The height is about the same. The Trail Ridge road in Rocky Mountain National park has a four mile section more than 12,000 feet in altitude—probably the longest stretch of road ever built at such a height.

Sept. 7.

How long does it usually take for a ship to pass through the Suez canal? B. J. McK.

From 12 to 15 hours.

How do the present round trip fares on railroad coaches between Chicago and New York compare with those formerly in effect? K. H.

By rail to Las Vegas, Nev., and from there by motor bus.

France and Britain Honor Pioneer Flight of Bleriot

PARIS, July 25 (AP).—France and Great Britain today honored the 30th anniversary of Louis Bleriot's pioneering airplane flight over the English channel. Bleriot crossed the channel from a point near Calais early on the morning of July 25, 1909, in a three cylinder five horse power wooden and canvas craft which with his weight and fuel weighed about 660 pounds. His hop of 23½ miles took 37 minutes. Bleriot died on Aug. 2, 1936, in Paris at the age of 64 years.

GOGGLE FISHING ENTHUSIASTS TO HOLD TOURNEY

Beaufort, N. C., July 25 [Special].—Goggle fishing, which has had only a few followers, is coming into its own. The world's first tournament of gogglers and gogglettes will be held here for three days, starting Aug. 4.

Devotees of the sport say angling with rod and reel is too tame for any one who has tried the underwater fishing. The latter requires swimming and diving ability, a keen eye, a quick hand—and fortitude.

Armed with a lance the goggler swims along the surface until he sights his prey. Then he dives down, stalks the fish, and, if he is expert and lucky, gets it with one thrust.

All kinds of fish may be taken, but sheepshead make the best targets.

Yellowstone Park Coyotes Join in Community Singing

Yellowstone Park, Wyo., July 25 [Special].—Yellowstone's coyotes have been joining in the community singing at Mammoth Hot Springs. Whenever the campfire groups have started singing the coyotes in the Gardiner river valley more than a mile away have set up an eerie wailing. Some visitors insist the animals are trying to drown out the harmony of the humans.

RIVERS BECKON OUTDOORS FANS TO FLOAT TRIPS

One Day Journeys Within Easy Reach.

BY BOB BECKER.

One day float trips on rivers in the entral western vacation states are ecoming popular among those who vant a little variety in their outdoor xcursions. Outdoors fans are lucky n having, within easy reach, a num- er of scenic rivers for these trips, hort camping excursions, fishing, nd canoeing.

Some of these "flowing roads," ather small, wind placidly through he green countryside. Others are wift enough to make a one day float r paddling journey a little more in- eresting. Then, within a compara- ively short distance of Chicagoland, here are one or two brawling rivers hat have enough stretches of white ater and rapids to give the traveler real thrill.

Some Enjoyable Excursions.

Wisconsin river. — Swift enough ver most of its route to be fun, yet afe enough for the amateur boat- an; it has both scenery and fishing. ne favorite stretch of the upper ver [below the town of Eagle River] being floated by parties who want nly one day on the stream. Farther outh the river becomes one of the ost beautiful in the state when it nters the Baraboo hills and the ells region. Here the vacationist oks up to towering hills as the ver follows a winding channel.

There are several possible float ips in this region, which is within riving distance of Chicago. One of em starts well above the Sauk ity dam and backwater [called Lake isconsin].

Flambeau river, in Wisconsin.— his is another scenic stream, but en- rely different in character from the isconsin. Its north fork, which rries a larger volume of water an the south fork, is quite swift specially in the upper part]. It talks back" to the traveler by tching through many stretches of pids, and from Park Falls to Lady- mith it flows through quite a wild rested country, well populated by er.

Fifteen Miles in a Day.

One of the best trips on either anch calls for a start at the village Lugerville on the south fork. aving there in the morning, it's ssible to take a fifteen mile float p down to Merrill's bridge, which ay be reached late in the afternoon. n our last trip we had plenty of me to fish the deep holes, take a im, cook lunch on the shore, and ill arrive at the bridge, where a car d trailer were waiting, by 5:30 m. Another trip on this branch the Flambeau calls for embarka- n at Fifield.

On the north fork there are sev- al starting places. From Nine Mile eek [west of Fifield] to Oxbo bend one possibility, and there is the rilling twenty-one mile run down e swift water which ends at Bab's land. You make these jaunts in , flat bottomed boats, the kind at take the bumps against the cks without any trouble.

Fox river, in Wisconsin.—This one s seen famous explorers, fur buyers, appers, and others who played a ominent part in the development the middle west. It flows eastward om the vicinity of Portage, through erlin, and then on to the Lake Win- bago waters before it continues to een bay. An old Indian trading st, still standing on the river bank tside of Portage, is worth visiting.

Ideal for Paddling Trip.

This historic stream, small and iet compared to the Wisconsin and e Flambeau, is ideal for any one o wants to paddle a canoe or use a all motor on a boat. There are veral locks. When we traveled on e river we carried an old-fashioned tomobile horn to signal the lock- nders.

Muskegon river, in Michigan.— ere's a dandy one day float trip om the Croton dam to within a ort distance of the town of waygo. Boats and guides are avail- le. This part of the river is well cked with fish, so the angler finds doubly attractive.

New Train Climbs Pike's Peak

Nearing the summit of Pike's peak, in Colorado, 14,109 feet above sea level, is a new Diesel powered passenger train. The locomotive pushes the 52 passenger observation car up the famous cog road in a little more than an hour.

THE TEN GREATEST.

Washington, D. C., July 15.—To the Travel Editor: Your list—in last Wednesday's TRIBUNE—of the ten world's greatest scenic sights was sent to me yesterday.

I've had the good fortune to see all except the approach to Merok, Norway, and, strange as it seems, I agree with you. But I'd add the drive from Cuernavaca to Mexico City at sunset, when the soft blue of the mountains and heavens turns to silver. It's something one never forgets.

However, your list was one that few could dispute. CELESTE WEYL.

TRAVEL ARTICLES.

Chicago, July 16.—To the Travel Editor: I have an accumulation of a few years' copies of a travel magazine. It is possible that there is some organization in the city which would be glad to have them, due to the fact that they contain articles about many interesting places all over the world.

If you should care to mention the above in your travel column, I would prefer that you do not publish my name, but you may have whoever might be interested call me at Central 7577, and I shall be glad to arrange for the delivery anywhere in the city or suburbs.

IT'S A LONG WAY TO PARKNASILLA.

Chicago, July 10.—To the Travel Editor: As one who has enjoyed a brief but pleasant stay at Parknasilla, may I utter a protesting wail at your "locating" of it in yesterday's SUNDAY TRIBUNE?

"Half way between Cobh and Galway" indeed! Of course, Ireland is a small country, but she has a long coastline, and there's many a mile along the coast between Cobh and Galway.

Actually Parknasilla is in County Kerry, on the Kenmare river [which is really more of a bay than a river]. It is, roughly, about 30 miles from Killarney: so it is quite accessible, since every tourist in Ireland seems to visit Killarney.

Parknasilla, in itself a charming place, is a good center for excursions in that lovely part of Kerry. For example, Darrynane abbey, home of Daniel O'Connell, is not very far away. And thereabouts may be seen the "Kerry dancing" when the people gather at the crossroads.

And now, after having rushed to the defense of Parknasilla, may I congratulate you on the excellence of THE TRIBUNE'S travel pages?

MARY W. BRENNAN.

FROM A TRIBUNE TRAVEL WRITER.

NEILSPRUIT, East Transvaal, Africa, June 20.—To the Travel Editor: Greetings from darkest Africa.

The Kruger National park opening was delayed, on account of fever, until June 15. My daughter, Dorothy, and I got in on June 16. We saw lions, leopards, cheetahs, hippos, elephants, giraffes, kudus, impati, wildebeest, tjesebes, waterbuck, zebras, wart hogs, steenbuck, baboons, monkeys, hyenas, jackals, vultures, secretary birds, butcher birds, turkey buzzards, guinea hens, wild doves, paus, hammerheads, and a swarm of locusts.

All the animals were at large—free to go where they willed. This is the truth, nothing but! MASON WARNER.

PILGRIMAGE PLAY TO BE PRESENTED ON WEST COAST

Los Angeles, Cal., July 25.—[Special.]—Hailed as the Passion play of America, the Pilgrimage play depiction of the life of Christ will reopen July 30 for a four week season.

The spectacle has been presented for fifteen seasons in the outdoor theater in the Hollywood hills. Last year it was replaced by Max Reinhardt's production of "Faust." The play was written by the late Christine Wetherell Stevenson.

Equally known for its dramatization of the Spanish era in California, John Steven McGroarty's Mission play is to be revived for a brief run in Pasadena, beginning Sept. 25. Until its demise in 1933 the production had a record of twenty-one successful seasons in San Gabriel.

NATURE CARVES STONE ELEPHANT TO GUARD GORGE

Au Sable Chasm, N. Y., July 25.—[Special.]—There probably never were any live elephants in this gorge, but this summer's visitors are taking note that a stone one stands about a quarter of a mile from the entrance.

Cut in relief on the towering side wall, the head and trunk are so lifelike that they appear to have been carved by a sculptor. But the sculptor was nature.

In addition to the Elephant's head, the tourists are taking in the Punch bowl, Pulpit rock, Jacob's well, and Hyde's cave. Indians are believed to have hidden in the cave when pressed by their enemies.

Welsh Village Uses Red Flag to Signal for Doctor

BRYNCRUG, Wales, July 25.—[Special.—Time may march on in the rest of the world, but not in this village. Here the people use a red cloth as a signal for the doctor, instead of telephoning him. The cloth is hung on the village signpost. Passing by on his daily rounds, the doctor inquires as to the patient's name and is directed to his home.

CRUISES PLANNED TO TWO SUMMER VACATION LANDS

Ship Will Go to Bermuda and Nova Scotia.

Bermuda and Nova Scotia, summer playgrounds of Americans, are the objectives of a series of cruises on a motorship out of New York this season. On Aug. 5, 12, and 26, and Sept. 9, 16, and 23 the ship will leave for Hamilton, and on July 31, Aug. 21, and Sept. 1 it will set out for Halifax.

Each of the Bermuda cruises will last six days. Those to Nova Scotia will last four days. They have been arranged with the idea of appealing to midwesterners and others who visit the New York World's Fair and have a week or so on their hands before returning home.

Cruise Ports 600 Miles Distant.

It is about 600 miles to either destination. Passengers going to Bermuda will have two days ashore there. Those taking the Nova Scotia trip will have eight hours for sightseeing.

Bermuda is regarded as one of the world's finest vacation lands. The white and pastel colored houses set among the cedars and palms, the flowering vines and shrubs, the coral beaches, and the motorless roads provide the background for an ideal holiday.

Recreation facilities include golfing, swimming, and bicycling. Touring the sea gardens in glass bottomed boats is another diversion.

Many Reminders of Past.

Nova Scotia is different, but almost equally attractive. Halifax, the capital, has a great harbor, an imposing citadel, splendid public gardens, and many reminders of the past. From the city there are trips to Acadian and the Evangeline country, and to the nearby fishing villages. In the Bay of Fundy the visitors see the tides that rise and fall as much as 30 feet. The land is nearly surrounded by water. Its air is freshened by the Labrador current.

The ship will serve as a hotel on each of the nine cruises. It is of comfortable size and has a reputation for steadiness at sea. All expense journeys, covering everything from Chicago back to Chicago, and with from one to three days in New York before taking the ocean voyage, have been scheduled.

[For the name of the steamship company operating these cruises, or any further information concerning them, call the Tribune Travel bureau, Superior 0200, local 707, or write to the bureau at 1 South Dearborn street, Chicago.]

YELLOWSTONE PARK VISITORS COME FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

Yellowstone Park, Wyo., July 25.—[Special.]—All forty-eight states, the District of Columbia, five American possessions, and eighteen foreign countries have sent visitors to Yellowstone thus far this season.

The largest number have come from Montana, California ranks second, Wyoming third, and Illinois fourth.

Good-bye To Vienna

By Olga L. Rosmanith

(Copyright: 1939: By News Syndicate Company, Inc.)

SYNOPSIS.

An American girl and her Viennese sweetheart, Franz Gruenwald, in a café in Vienna hear a radio announcement of Hitler's entry into Austria. The girl, Marian Taylor, has been staying in Franz's home, studying voice. Franz fears for his foster father, Prof. von Plasy, author of a recent anti-Nazi book. He refuses to flee the country and leave his wife, Gisela, and son Johann, who has the mind of a child. Leopoldine, a pro-Nazi woman surgeon, in love with Franz, warns him to send the American girl home. Von Plasy is taken off to jail to die from shock. In order to take Gisela's money out of the country to deliver to her friend, Herr Wiedermann, in Riga, Marian invests it in rare stamps. Herr Speyer, the stamp merchant, guesses her purpose, but is sympathetic and asks her to deliver a picture to a friend of his in Riga, a Mme. Sarobara Lonska. Franz loses his job. When Leopoldine secures one for him he accepts it for the sake of his dependents. In Riga Marian learns Herr Wiedermann is in love with Gisela and wants to arrange for her and Johann to come there. Mme. Lonska, she discovers, is a spy and that the picture from Herr Speyer was a message in code. Marian returns to Vienna. Gisela goes to Riga. She and Herr Wiedermann are married and he adopts Johann. Franz spurns Leopoldine's offer to be his mistress. Next day Franz is seized by the Gestapo. Leopoldine's brother, Karl, a Storm Trooper, intrigued by Marian's beauty, offers to help locate Franz, though she doubts his sincerity. He falls madly in love with her, though she tells him she can love no one but Franz. Leopoldine calls on Frans in prison. Marian calls on Herr Speyer.

INSTALMENT XXXIX.

A SPY ASSISTS.

Marian became aware that Herr Speyer was standing in the doorway of the room behind her. She turned and was at once reassured and encouraged by the friendly smile on his face. He said—"I can only be grateful for the trouble that brings you back to seek my help."

"But how——"

He put his finger to his lips. "Come. When I have private business to discuss I do not share it with the neighbors. Let us talk inside."

"So you think I would not come unless I wanted something," she said, feeling a little guilty as she followed him into the room where he had sold her the precious stamps.

He shut the door behind them and drew the heavy damask portiere. "Let us say rather, I am afraid you would not come. I do not flatter myself I am very exhilarating company for a very young girl."

She sat with him before the evidences of his hobby spread upon the table. "I don't feel a very young girl just now, Herr Speyer. Just a little less than a hundred years old. You see my fiancé disappeared with two Gestapo men and has neither been seen nor heard from since. With the help of friends I have been to every officials likely to know of him in Vienna. Without result. I am almost in despair. Today I remembered you said if I needed help of any kind I was to come to you."

"Only today?" he inquired reproachfully.

She was honest. "Yes. If I had thought of it before I would have come here long ago. I'm afraid I lost my head a little," she said.

"I'm not surprised. It's a frightening experience. A case in which any news is better than no news. Now tell me everything about it. Don't miss a single thing. Right from the beginning."

There was so tragically little to tell. She could only be sure the abductors were Gestapo men because the hausmeister at the apartment was so insistent that he knew all the uniforms.

"You love him very much, kleines mädchen?"

"Yes, mein Herr." Her undramatic statement carried powerful conviction.

"You would take a risk to find him?"

"Any risk. A lot of risk. All there is. If I don't find him I have no particular use for my life."

"There. After all you are very young, although you feel almost a hundred years old. Life grows sweeter as it nears the end. Now a year is nothing to you. There seems to be so many of them. At my age I treasure minutes. I cannot bear to waste my time. I do not give an hour away——"

She waited for him to get back to the subject of the risk she must be prepared to take. He came to it—"the only danger will be of unpleasantness. You must go to see one of the most disagreeable men living—a man whose manners affect the nerves like the touch of sandpaper." Herr Speyer shuddered. "I wish I could go to see him for you myself, but he must not know you know me."

"So I mustn't tell him you sent me?"

"Not on any account. He will then hinder instead of help you. He may not help you as it is. I don't know. The point is if any one living knows where Franz Grunewald is, he knows it. He knows things before they happen. Unless they are accidents. He has a brilliant staff and a phenomenal file of personal dossiers. I could stake my life—and mine is precious to me—that Franz Grunewald's entire career up till this moment is to be found on a card in a file box in his office."

A thousand questions teemed in Marian's brain. She resisted the temptation to ask any.

"I won't write down his name and address. You will remember it. His name is Wilhelm Boehm. He is a high official in the Sturmmers organization, a Brigade Fuehrer. He is elusive to catch because he spends a great deal of his time in a large car going from one office to another, but his evening meal with his wife is a ritual to him. So he is almost invariably to be found at home between nine and ten in the evening. He lives in the old Lachenberg palace on the Keilgasse. Don't be discouraged if you are turned away. If you are importunate enough, you will eventually gain admittance."

Marian's heart was already hurrying with apprehension. This certainly sounded unpleasant enough. She was sufficiently high-spirited to prefer the spice of danger to the sourness of humble pie. But it did not even occur to her to shirk it. Now she did ask a question.

"If he asks me who sent me, what shall I say? He will wonder how I came to know."

Herr Speyer's mind did not appear to be slowing up. He answered without even stopping to think. "Tell him you stopped a Storm Trooper in the street and told him your trouble, and he told you where to go. Your informant will then be anonymous and untraceable. Also another thing. Do not speak German too well—and if it suits your purpose don't hesitate to pretend you don't fully understand it."

He reminded her before she went that the mention of his name would be a hindrance to her so emphatically, that she caught the implication that it would be dangerous.

Thanks seemed very feeble for his service although he also reiterated that although he knew Herr Boehm could help, there was no certainty that he would.

He bent over her hand as she lingered to say good-by to him in the vestibule. "And shall I come back to report progress?"

"I'm glad you mentioned that. You may be watched for a little while. Don't telephone. Don't write. And don't come near my house after you have been to see him. Send me an unsigned postcard saying you are well if you succeed."

"I understand. It's very hot and everyone that can get away is out of the city. Do you suppose it would be any use trying to see him tonight?"

"Decidedly. Herr Boehm does not live by other men's rules. Nor has he time to be aware of the heat. He is the busiest man in Vienna."

"Easier and easier," laughed Marian ruefully. "I must interrupt him at his dinner and infuriate him by making demands on his precious personal time."

"You are not the only one. He will keep you waiting till it suits him to see you. As for his time, it will not cost him any. He has all his knowledge at his finger ends. It will take him one minute to find that card and one minute to tell you what he knows. Now, good fortune to you and auf wiedersehn."

Marian walked out of the gate into the winey gold of late afternoon. She knew the Keilgasse. It was in the very oldest part of the city, on the site of the ancient Vindobona—the origin and the nucleus of the Vienna of today. There was a tavern at the corner over an old wine cellar.

She and Franz had dined in the little tavern more times than she could now remember on wiener schnitzel and crisp salad and rough new wine from the Vienna hills. She would dine there tonight before calling at the palace. She would drink some wine and she would remember and she would get the courage to spur her on.

Edward Dudley Wins Approval as Soloist at Grant Park Concert

The Grant park concerts offered a new soloist last night in the person of Edward Dudley, a smiling, likable 27 year old American tenor. In two operatic excerpts and some smaller songs Mr. Dudley revealed himself as a singer of character and intelligence, one who uses nuance sparingly, and always for legitimate musical purposes. His accompaniments were provided by the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra, Richard Czerwonky conducting. The purely instrumental portions of the evening consisted mostly of excerpts from the works of Wagner.

Doubting Wife Had Best Hide Her Suspicions

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

No matter how justified she is, a suspicious wife doesn't make an unfaithful husband more faithful by showing her jealousy. She doesn't help matters by doubting him and watching and checking on his movements.

Take Mrs. R. She writes:

"I am one of those wives who torture themselves with ugly thoughts. But my husband gives me every reason to do so. He always arrives home hours after work. When I ask him where he has been, he says he has been working or else tells me coldly that it is none of my business.

"I could call my husband's employer and find out his hours. But if I did so and my husband found it out, he might pack up and leave.

"Should I let myself be tormented by thinking he is with some one else, or should I just try to be the miserable wife?"

Poor Mrs. R. doesn't give herself very happy choices. Should she be tormented or should she be miserable? If she is foolish enough to take her domestic troubles to her husband's employer, she may find her husband is quite innocent—but then she runs the risk of having him leave her for doubting him. If she learns for sure that he is wandering, she has no more reason to be happy.

We don't know whether her husband is stepping out with another woman or not. But if Mrs. R. is determined to be a miserable wife, sooner or later she will drive him to some one else. When she voices her suspicions and asks him his whereabouts she puts the idea into his mind.

The happier she can make herself, the more likely he will be to want to come home to her. Let her set herself to making herself cheerful—unless she wants to play into a rival's hands.

Weddings Announced

The marriage of Miss Margaret Courley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gourney of Lake Forest, to Edgar A. Boehm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno J. Boehm of Highland Park, will take place at 3 o'clock Friday night in the chapel of Lake Forest college. The Rev. Stuart S. Pratt, pastor of the Warren Park Presbyterian church and a cousin of the bride's father, will read the service. A reception will follow at the Gourley home. Mr. Boehm and his bride will live in Ravina.

The marriage of Miss Sarah Frances Metcalf, a graduate of the Presbyterian Hospital School for Nurses, to Donald Henry McGeorge Jr. of Cleveland Heights, O., will take place on Saturday in Jamestown, N. Y. Miss Metcalf is the daughter of Mrs. Frank W. Metcalf and the late Dr. Metcalf of Jamestown.

The marriage of Mrs. Norman C. Clarke of Evanston to Richard A. Trenkmann of 1012 Harvard terrace, Evanston, took place on July 22 at the First Congregational church and was followed by a reception at the Edgewater Beach hotel. After a four weeks' wedding trip to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Trenkmann will make their home in Evanston.

Here's Advice on Long Trip with the Baby

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Traveling with the baby, whether by train or boat, airplane or in your own car has been the subject of our articles for two days. This, the third, will be the last day devoted to care of your baby while traveling.

Although other suggestions were given the baby's food has absorbed most of our space. So far preparations for a trip not longer than one day have been discussed. Here is some advice regarding your baby's food for a longer trip.

Either dried or evaporated milk is safer to depend upon than a local supply of fresh milk when you travel. On a long trip you have to figure on going through the sterilizing of bottles, etc., at least once a day. Bottles and nipples must be boiled this often. Whether you are on a boat or a train, in a hotel or tourist camp, some way can be found to do the boiling of bottles and milk mixture and drinking water.

If possible, prepare a day's mixture and place it in a refrigerator. If you can't arrange this, each feeding will require individual preparation. The evaporated milk, of course, can be prepared by simply adding the boiled water; but when dried milk is used, the mixture of milk and water must be boiled before being given to the baby. It is always advisable to see your doctor before taking your baby on a long journey and getting from him any suggestions about feeding while away.

From just one sad experience, but quite sad enough it was, let me urge you to check and double check on times of departure and arrival, and particularly of changes and connections of your train or boat, if that is to be your way of travel! A three hour wait at a little way station with a baby on a hot summer afternoon still lives in my memory vividly enough to make me warn you. Make reservations in advance for berth or stateroom, and if at no other time, treat yourself to the greatest possible comfort on this occasion.

Since arms and lap hours on end are hot for baby [and mother, too] some sort of device should be procured so this can be avoided. A regular deep market basket is comfortable for the baby and easy to carry. It does not tip easily. Just make up the basket like a little bed, and equip it with mosquito netting.

Without going into elaborate details I have covered in these three consecutive articles the essentials of caring for your baby while traveling.

"Training for Bowel and Bladder Control" are two leaflets of interest to parents and nurses. Send a large, stamped, addressed envelope for each leaflet Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago Ill.

Princess Frock and Smock

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Princess lines have proved that their usefulness, flattery, and beauty cannot be discarded to make room for new styles, and this pattern perpetuates a mode that women prefer year in and year out. Both a frock and a smock may be made with this design. The paneled lines hug the figure in flattering fashion.

Sketched at the right, a frock for home or general summer wear. The V neckline has a notched rever collar to contrast, and the pockets are trimmed to match. Down the front are contrasting buttons, too, to add a third color note. The short sleeves are puffed. Checked and striped cottons and silks will make especially well.

The sketch at the top illustrates a smock version of the pattern. Its round collarline has a contrasting shirtwaist collar. The sleeves are long and full, as befitting the protective function of a smock. The hemline reaches the knees. Buttons, in this case, are arranged in groups, if you prefer them that way. This is a particularly dressy smock and would make a grand gift for a student, office worker, or career woman.

Style No. 2578 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 4⅛ yards of 39 inch material with ¾ yard of contrasting.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central station, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Club steaks are almost a meal in themselves, so if the appetites at your house aren't quite at the ravenous stage when you serve this short cut dinner I'd suggest omitting either potatoes or the vegetable combination. It's better any time to stop eating before one becomes uncomfortable.

There are only two ingredients in the cookies which go with the peach sundae for dessert. Stir these two ingredients together, drop the mixture onto a baking sheet, and pop them in the oven. Presto! After ten minutes out they come, golden brown and very delectable.

SHORT CUT DINNER
Club Steaks
Potatoes with Cream and Butter
Carrots and Peas
Stuffed Celery and Tomato Salad
Whole Wheat Raisin Bread
Sliced Peaches on Vanilla Ice Cream
Quick Coconut Macaroons
Coffee

CLUB STEAKS

Have the steaks cut at least an inch thick and broil them until brown, approximately fifteen minutes per side, in a moderate broiling oven. Salt and pepper when the steaks are turned. If steak is liked rarer than medium, shorten the cooking time.

Cook the potatoes until tender in boiling, salted water, drain, and add a fourth cup of top milk and several tablespoons of butter for potatoes to serve four.

Stuffed Celery and Tomato Salad.
[Serves four.]

2 small tomatoes
4 stalks celery
1 3-ounce package cream cheese
Paprika
Lettuce

Peel and slice tomatoes; Mix cream cheese until soft and stuff celery stalks. Cut stuffed stalks into inch lengths and arrange on lettuce with tomato slices. Sprinkle cheese stuffing with paprika. Top salad with French dressing, thousand island, or mayonnaise.

Quick Coconut Macaroons.

2 cups shredded coconut

Mix coconut into sweetened condensed milk and drop mixture onto a buttered baking sheet, leaving inch spaces between the cookies. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for ten minutes, or until a delicate brown. Remove macaroons from pan at once.

Skin Tells the World About Your Health

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Our skin expresses our personality. It tells the outside world what is going on beneath it, both mentally and physically. If there are congestions and poisons in your body, they are very likely to break out in pimples or blemishes on your face. If you are worried or nervous, your skin probably will be dry or break out in a rash. We hardly need to remind you of the wrinkles that dig into the skin, led there by unpleasant thoughts. If you stuff yourself with more sweets than your body needs, eruptions may result.

So, if you want a beautiful complexion, keep your body working smoothly. See that you have calmness and order in your mind, and a healthy routine for your bodily functions. Wash out the impurities in your system with plenty of drinking water, but don't neglect to wash away ugly and worrisome thoughts. Mental and physical indulgences may be done in secret, whether they be self pity, overeating, or overworking. But don't think they won't break out in your skin.

Your mind, your organs, and your skin don't live separate existences. They are mutually dependent and should live in harmony. One cannot suffer without harming the other. And it's generally the skin that complains loudly to the world.

If you have a poor complexion, check on your health, physical and mental. Be sure you give yourself a daily bath, inside and out, and spiritually. See to it that you are getting the proper food, the right amount of exercise for body and mind. Eliminate all that is wasteful in your life. Get rid of yesterday's poisons and the infection of yesterday's worries.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

At the risk of stating the obvious, I must point out that the average defense goes wrong simply because the defenders do not know where to look for the setting trick. It is the commonest of all sights to see them plugging away at an impregnable suit, making no attack whatever on a truly vulnerable suit. Note today's hand:

NORTH
♠ J 7 2

SOUTH

♣ J 7 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 diamonds	2 no trump	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the club queen, logically feeling that the best chance to defeat the contract might be a club ruff. Dummy won, and East's deuce of clubs was highly significant [had West but realized it]. The spade jack was led [not the best play; a low spade to the ten or eight would have been better], and East correctly covered. Declarer won with the ace and sent his singleton diamond toward the king. West hopped up with the ace and made the "normal" continuation of a diamond. Dummy's king won, South discarding a heart, and now another spade was led toward the closed hand. West captured the eight with the nine and, having nothing better to do, cashed the spade king. Declarer now could spread the hand, since he could throw his remaining heart on dummy's long club.

The defense had been ruined at the spin where West, after winning the diamond ace and ace, continued with the diamond queen. I said that this was the "normal" continuation, by which I meant that most players would not give a thought to any other plan. Actually, however, if West had analyzed the situation, he inevitably would have been led to the winning defense. East had played the club deuce to the very first lead, thereby absolutely denying the possession of the club jack. Thus, South was marked with that card and dummy's club suit was absolutely solid. Declarer could have no more than two diamonds, hence there was no possibility of a defensive diamond trick, aside from the ace. This left only the heart suit as the source of a possible setting trick. On winning with the diamond ace, West should have shifted to a low heart, absolutely disregarding the fact that South had bid hearts, Note the difference this would have made. East's heart jack would force one of declarer's honors. Now, if declarer led a spade West would win and return another heart, forcing declarer's remaining honor and rendering him helpless. If he led another spade, driving out West's king, West could cash the high heart; if declarer ignored West's high spade and led clubs to dummy, West could ruff in and cash the heart long before declarer could get his discard on dummy's last club.

The fact that a declarer has bid a certain suit is not sound or sufficient reason for the defenders to "lay off" that suit in the play.

On the House

Keep hose out of sun, and empty, except when it is in active use.

Avoid drawing hose tight when you take it around a corner . . treat it gently when taking it across a concrete drive. . . . Don't use full pressure unless absolutely necessary. . . . Apply friction tape the minute a tiny leak appears . . . and put it away at night, even in hot weather. Housing it on a reel just inside a basement window is good insurance for the garden hose.

Court Limits Use of Records in Broadcasts

New York, July 25 [Special].—A decision which may have wide effects on radio broadcasting of phonograph records was handed down today by Federal Judge Vincent L. Leibell.

Judge Leibell enjoined the W. B. O. Broadcasting corporation, operator of station WNEW, and Elin, Inc., sponsor of a program on which records of Paul Whiteman's music were used, from further use of RCA Manufacturing company records. The opinion amplified Judge Leibell's earlier ruling in a suit in which RCA, maker of Victor and Bluebird records, was the complainant against Whiteman, the radio station, and Elin.

Whiteman previously had charged that the station, by broadcasting nine of his records, had put him into competition with himself. Whiteman had claimed authority to license use of his records. RCA entered the suit by asserting it had a major interest in the case.

Judge Leibell ruled that Whiteman, by his music, acquired a common law right in the records, which he retained unless it was transferred by contract. This would not give him the right to license broadcasts, without permission also of the manufacturers, the court ruled.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A French woman had an excellent idea when she brought out a champagnish, pine scented body rub. It's one of those sparkling, bubbly things that makes you feel wonderful on a hot day. And we can see where it would be a fine thing to have at hand any day in the year. After a quick rubdown with it, following your before-breakfast bath, you can put a little honest zing into your "Good morning!"

This is a light pine, a very delicate one—just right for our tastes. Pine can be too, too hearty for words—and there are times when too much heartiness is more than we can bear. In this cologne the pine fragrance is true but not strong. It's just enough to smell very clean and fresh and a little bit zippy. Even the women who are confirmed pine haters will like this.

The bottle is handsome, modeled after the famous hairdresser form bottle that houses one of the most popular French perfumes. It's ideal for a body lotion because you can get a good grip on it, even with fingers that are moist from the bath.

If you're at all athletic you'll like this as a refreshant after exercise. It feels cool and frothy against the skin and the fragrance is the kind that lifts the spirits. A bit of it in the bath water, or the water in which you bathe your face and hands during the day serves to scent the skin and make it feel good, too.

HENNEMAN ACTS TO ESCAPE TRIAL IN HAAS' COURT

Union Boss Asks Change of Venue in Gun Case.

George Henneman, business agent and boss of the painters' union, asked for a change of venue yesterday when he was arraigned before Judge John F. Haas in the Criminal court on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Judge Haas gave Henneman's attorney, John V. Clinnin, until today to file a written motion. When this is done, the judge said, he will send the case back to Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley for reassignment.

Under the law the only ground on which a change of venue can be allowed is prejudice on the part of the judge to whom the case is originally sent. The judge is not permitted to inquire into the reason for believing he harbors such a prejudice and must allow the motion. Only in a case where the attorney asking for the change of venue is obviously trying to delay a trial—for instance, after a jury has been selected—would there be an exception to this procedure.

Denies Plea for Delay.

Before Clinnin requested the change of venue, Judge Haas denied the lawyer's motion for a week's delay pending action in the Municipal court where a similar charge against Henneman is pending before Judge Joseph B. Hermes. Judge Haas ruled that the Criminal court now has jurisdiction.

Henneman, who has had frequent brushes with the law, was indicted on the concealed weapons charge after his arrest June 27 in a tavern at 5432 Wentworth avenue. Police said they found a revolver on him and that another revolver was in the glove compartment of his automobile.

Judge Haas, a Republican, was elected to the Superior court on June 5, and was assigned to the Criminal court. He ran on the Democratic ticket for a two and a half year vacancy caused by the death of Judge Harry B. Miller.

Polled Highest Vote.

Judge Haas received the highest vote of any candidate in the judicial election, polling 506,029 ballots. In the bar election, which preceded the regular election, he received 1,883 out of a possible 2,083, leading all other candidates. He also had the top vote among candidates in the bar association balloting when he ran for reelection to the Municipal court in 1934, 1936, and 1938.

Venue Change Asked

(Story in adjoining column.)

4 GUNMEN SLAY N. Y. PUBLISHER IN MYSTERY PLOT

New York, July 25 [Special].—Irving Penn, 42 years old, a successful music publishing company executive, liked by his employers and subordinates and happy with his wife and two daughters, was waylaid and shot to death today as he walked from his Bronx home to the subway.

Neighbors had noticed four men waiting in a parked car for about two hours before the shooting. Penn walked less than a block when one of the men jumped out with a pistol in his hand and began shooting. Five bullets fired struck him. The car was found abandoned a few blocks away. In it were two .32 caliber revolvers, one empty and the other loaded. Police said the car had been reported stolen on July 21. The license plates also had been stolen.

Detectives dug into Penn's past in an effort to find some motive for the murder, but discovered nothing. "He's the last man in the world I'd think of as having been shot," said a man who had known him for fifteen years.

STEPS ON RAKE; DIES OF LOCKJAW.

Edward Bouska, 9 years old, who lived at Cass avenue and Ogden boulevard, Westmont, died Monday night in the Elmhurst sanitarium of lockjaw. The infection set in after he stepped one an upturned rake a week ago.

BANK TO RUN WHITE SOX FOR EIGHT YEARS

DODGERS WHIP CUBS, 8-6 AND 3-1; SOX LOSE TWICE

ROOT KNOCKED OUT IN OPENER; CASEY WINS 2D

Durocher's Homer Beats Page.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Cubs' homecoming celebration yesterday afternoon against the Brooklyn Dodgers, leaders of the second division, was as dismal as the weather at the start of their double-header. Three consecutive victories, which concluded the eastern trip, presaged better times on their home grounds, but it was not to be. Charley Root, with a one run lead, weakened in the ninth inning of the first game, the Cubs losing, 8 to 6. Then Hugh Casey, who once was a Cub, turned in a neat six hit performance in the second battle, winning as he pleased, 3 to 1.

Hugh Casey.

Dodgers Win in Ninth.

The crowd of 12,011 paying customers and a second deck group of 3,200 youngsters, also included P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, who saw his club play for the first time this year. The only rallying point for loyal adherents was a smashing sixth inning club rally in the opening game, in which the home boys scored all their runs on six hits, including homers by Billy Herman and Glen Russell.

This vicious sortie, reminiscent of the closing days of last season, gave Root a 6 to 5 lead which he protected in the seventh and eighth inning. The ninth, however, was a story of Dodger power, a parade of pinch batters, and substitute runners that rushed three men across the plate and forced Manager Gabby Hartnett to call for three relief pitchers.

Cubs Drop to 4th Place.

The Dodgers used 19 players in this hour and 20 minute game, including four pitchers. The two victories not only permitted Pittsburgh to oust the Cubs from third place, but left Chicago vulnerable to Brooklyn's challenge in the remaining games of the series. By losing both, the Cubs would drop to fifth position.

Brooklyn's second victory was more easily achieved. The Dodgers scored in the first inning with three hits and then put the decision beyond reach in the fourth when Manager Leo Durocher homered with Coscarart on first. Vance Page, who started for Chicago, struck out three and clung on until removed for pinch hitting Manager Hartnett in the eighth.

FIRST GAME

There was a question whether Root would finish the first inning. Del Almada lined a single into center field. Cookie Lavagetto then drove the ball high into the left field bleachers, scoring behind Almada. Curt Parks doubled off the wall in left center for the third consecutive hit and the Cub pitchers immediately went to work in the bull pen. Root struck out Camilli, floating a third inch past the Dodger first baseman. Manager Harley touched Babe Phelps' drive and Dick Bartell threw him out, Parks going to third. Gene Moore doubled to left, scoring Parks.

Dodgers Add to Lead.

The Dodgers resumed production in the sixth. Parks' easy grounder went through Herman's legs and Camilli hit Root's first pitch into the right field runway for his sixteenth home run of the year, scoring behind Parks.

Hamlin's five innings of hitless

Some one wrote Vox Pop the other day pleading with THE TRIBUNE to start a movement for the elimination of the words "swell" and "glamorous" from the slanguage. "Glamorous," yes, but as for doing away with "swell," what does he want to do, render two-thirds of the population practically speechless? Besides, without "swell" there are a couple sports announcers I could mention who would have to go back into trade.

Hold everything, fellas. I've been afraid of it and today I picked up the paper and there it was. The bustle, says the style notes, is coming back. Every girl soon will be carrying her own rumble seat.

Love is a sentiment hard to explain,
No one can put it in words,

Love that is genuine never wears out,
Never beguiles or deceives.

Sunsets and rainbows and stars,
Hoping that one day my fingers may clasp

Of your soft luminous eyes,
Dreaming the long dreams that seldom come true—
That's love—and it never dies.

BOSTON GAINS REVENGE; WHIPS SOX, 3-2 AND 6-5

Grove Beats Knott; Home Runs Wreck Brown.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., July 25. — Clint Brown, a splendid gentleman with some reputation as a relief pitcher, made his thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh appearances of the season in today's double-header between the White Sox and the Red Sox, both games of which were won by Boston, 3 to 2 and 6 to 5.

The White Sox had all but lost when Clint went in to finish the first game, and shortly afterward the Red Sox and Lefty Grove did hang up the 3 to 2 decision, Grove's tenth of the year.

Homers Wipe Out Lead.

But Brown's spot was a vastly different matter in the second game. The White Sox had gone ahead 5 to 3 in the eighth inning when a double by Gee Walker accounted for three runs. The Red Sox opened their eighth with a single and Footsy Marcum simply gave way to Brown. Brown was all right in the eighth, but in the ninth he gave a demonstration of home run tossing very greviously in contradiction to his reputation as a doctor, fireman, or whatever names are applied to game savers.

Bobby Doerr knocked his ninth homer of the year and Jimmy Foxx followed with his second of the game and twenty-first of the season to tie the score. Emerson Dickman put the White Sox out in order in the tenth, then the Red Sox scored on a walk to Cronin and singles by Vosmik and Tabor to produce the winning run before any one was out.

It was the first time this year the White Sox have suffered a double socking in one afternoon. Previously they had swept five double-headers and had split eight.

FIRST GAME

There wasn't a score in the first game until Joe Cronin opened the fourth inning with his twelfth homer, a rising shot against the screen atop the left field wall.

The Chicagoans effected a tie with two out in the sixth. After Kuhel had popped to Cronin and Tabor had thrown out Kreevich, Rosenthal singled to right, took second on Williams' fumble and scored on the second of Walker's hits, a single to center. Walker broke for second on a pitch out by Grove and Desautels' throw would have had Gee by ten feet if Cronin hadn't dropped the ball. The error momentarily angered

MADIGAN PLAYS OVER AGAIN '35 ALL-STAR GAME

It's an Institution, Says St. Mary's Coach.

BY EDWARD P. MADIGAN.

Moraga, Cal., July 25.—Time has made an institution of the expression "it seems to me," yet it seems to me that time and able direction has made an institution of the national All-Star football game. While it appears to be a sign of age to become reminiscent, I cannot help from time to time but replay the game of 1935, when I was privileged to be a member of the coaching staff which directed the All-Stars of that year.

Edward Madigan.

The opportunity to collaborate with such able coaches as Frank Thomas, Charley Bachman and Dr. Clarence Spears was not the only source of gratification but to associate with, and to contact daily, fifty of the greatest American college athletes was a privilege which I always have esteemed with considerable pride.

Great Football Exhibition.

The 1935 game was one of the finest exhibitions of football one would wish to see. The Chicago Bears won, 5 to 0, by reason of a field goal in the first quarter by that great place kicker, Jack Manders, from the 18 yard line, and a safety in the closing minutes of the game.

Bill Shepherd of Western Maryland, Allen Nichelini of St. Mary's, Don Hutson of Alabama, and John Regeczi of Michigan, able punters, were the standouts for the All-Stars.

There are some interesting problems for the coaches of an all-star group. Neither the hurried installation of a system, strange to probably half of the squad, nor the welding of many brilliant individualists into a strong team are the biggest.

The task of getting every player on the squad into the game looms the largest. Every backfield, for example, requires a kicker or a runner, a passer or a blocker, a signal caller and a safety man. The coach must see to it that those departments are represented at all times.

Enthusiasm Is Amazing.

The thing that I have found most amazing was the enthusiasm and spirit of the college boys. Although they represent more than a score of universities in all sections of the country and have completed four years of thoroughly saturated play in college, here they are as finely keyed and determined to win as they ever had been in college.

Although many miles removed from the seat of the contest I always follow with interest the selection of the players for each succeeding team that has represented the All-Stars. I shed my professional cloak and don the robes of a rooter and I'm ready to give an extra cheer this year when the All-Stars meet the New York Giants in Soldiers' field Aug. 30.

Rockingham Daily Double Split Due to Dead Heat

Salem, N. H., July 25 [Special].—As the result of a dead heat in the first race between Howellville and Foggy Day, the daily double payoff at Rockingham park today was split. The combination of Howellville, paying $121.80 for $2, and June Bee, which paid $17.40 as winner of the second race, rewarded three holders of the tickets $1,565.60 each. But those who held the combination of Foggy Day and June Bee received only $54.30.

COMISKEY WILL REVEALS ESTATE OF $2,325,000

Creates Four Trusts for Heirs.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Chicago American league baseball club, known as the White Sox, will, barring sale of the property, be operated for a period of eight years by the First National Bank of Chicago.

Charles Comiskey II.

The bank will serve as trustee for the widow, Mrs. Grace Reidy Comiskey, for whom an estate consisting of one-half the club holdings was created, and for the children, Dorothy, 22; Gracie Lou, 18, and Charles A. II., age 13, who share equally in the other half, it was revealed yesterday when the will of John Louis Comiskey, president-owner of the club, was filed for probate. Comiskey died on July 18 in Eagle River, Wis.

The will also stipulated that Vice President Harry Grabiner be retained for ten years at a minimum salary of $25,000, and Joe Barry, traveling secretary, for a similar period at $6,000. In addition the late owner expressed a desire that the club remain a family holding until his youngest surviving child attains the age of 35.

Sets Up Four Trusts.

The will, executed on Jan. 23, 1932, revealed the White Sox as an Illinois corporation consisting of 7,500 shares with a par value of $100 each. All these shares were owned by Comiskey with the exception of fifty held by Grabiner.

One-half of Comiskey's 7,450 shares are to be set aside in a separate trust for the widow. Net income derived from these shares is to be paid to her until Charles reaches 21 years of age. At that time the trustee, unless cause for sale of the stock should have arisen during the interval, "is directed to transfer and deliver to Mrs. Comiskey the principal of the trust estate consisting of one-half [3,725] of the testator's shares."

Trusts for Children.

The remaining half of the shares are to be equally divided into three separate trusts for the children. The net income from these trusts will be paid to the children or expended for their benefit. One-third of each trust is to be delivered to each child as he or she attains the age of 21. Another third will be released to each child upon reaching the age of 30 and the remaining third upon reaching the age of 35.

Under these terms, Dorothy Comiskey already is eligible to receive outright the first third of her share of the estate.

The petition for admission of the will to probate, filed by the bank, which also is named executor, stated that Comiskey's personal estate has a value of approximately $2,250,000 and the real estate a value of approximately $75,000. One-half of the residuary estate is given to Mrs. Comiskey outright and the other half is given to the First National bank for the benefit of the three children under the same terms applicable to the bequest of the baseball club shares.

Bank May Sell.

In expressing his wish that the club remain a Comiskey institution as it has been since the birth of the American league, Comiskey said:

"It is my present opinion and my desire that the trustee shall not sell said shares of the capital stock of the American league baseball club of Chicago prior to the time when my youngest surviving child attains the age of 35 years, but if circumstances should arise after my death which in the opinion of my trustee would render a sale of said shares prudent and desirable, then it shall have power to sell all or any part of such shares of stock held by it as trustee."

Sale of a controlling interest in the club would be subject to the approval of the American league which, under its constitution, reserves the right to pass on the eligibility of would-be purchasers.

No Change Contemplated.

No immediate action in connection with the business management of the club will be taken by the trustees.

As soon as the will was made public yesterday it was announced by Roy C. Osgood and John C. Meachem, bank officers who will act as trustees, that no change in management or policy of the club is contemplated.

It will be necessary for the trustees to appoint a board of directors and a president for the corporation.

"It is a matter in which we will need time and just what the procedure will be isn't definite," Meachem explained.

It is considered possible that Grabiner, who for years has been the actual business manager of the club, may be appointed to the presidency.

A TOUGH HOMBRE GETS AWAY WITH DANVILLE PURSE

Milky Way Colt Wins at Arlington.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Tough Hombre, a chestnut colt owned by the Milky Way Farm stable, qualified impressively for next Saturday's $50,000 Futurity yesterday by getting home six lengths ahead of his field in the Danville purse at Arlington Park. Trainer Roy Waldron had this well built youngster in a running mood. Though never pressed, Tough Hombre sprinted the 5½ furlongs in 1:04 4-5, which was only 3-5 of a second slower than the track record.

Breaking with a rush from the No. 3 post position, the Milky Way colt took immediate command, moving with a remarkably smooth stride while his six rivals were floundering in an attempt to match his early pace. He was at the quarter in :23 1-5 and the half in :46 2-5. Sustaining his speed through the stretch while continuing to draw away, he reached the five-eighths in :58 3-5. In the last seventy yards, Jockey Al Robertson took him in hand and he came coasting to the finish.

Dollarville Is Second.

Tough Hombre's nearest rival was another Futurity eligible, Dollarville, owned by the estate of E. W. Duffy, Detroit horseman who died several days ago. Liberty Kerr was third, a neck further back.

The Calumet Farm's Star Chance, which had run an excellent race to win his only previous start, was made the odds-on favorite, 3 to 5. He was considered a likely starter in Saturday's big stake. After showing good early speed, he weakened and finished fourth. The other starters—Mi Jock, Hard Loser, and Clyde Tolson—finished in that order.

Tough Hombre got to the post at odds of more than 12 to 1, paying off at $26.80, $11.20, and $5.40.

Mrs. Ethel V. Mars, owner of the Milky Way farm, purchased this colt from Arthur B. Hancock, Kentucky breeder, for $10,500. He is by Hard Tack out of Alice Harris, the dam being by Ambassador IV. Tough Hombre has made three previous starts, all at Detroit. After running fourth and eighth in two efforts, he won a five furlong allowance event in 1:00 4-5 on July 15.

Two other Kentucky bred futurity candidates—War Beauty and Jeanne D'Arc—both owned by John Keene of Lexington, were on the track for brisk training moves yesterday. War Beauty, which ran second to Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Now What in the Lassie stakes, breezed six furlongs in 1:12 4-5. Her stable mate went five in 1:00 4-5.

Two Easterners Are Here.

Two eastern candidates, Arnold Hanger's Roman Flag, winner of the Mayflower stakes at Suffolk, and Mrs. Parker Corning's Straight Lead, already are on the grounds, working under the supervision of Trainer Max Hirsch. E. R. Bradley's Bimelech and Mrs. Charles Sheldon's Boy Angler are due tomorrow.

Jockey Warren Yarberry, who ended the Lincoln Fields meeting under suspension, has run afoul of the Arlington stewards and will be on the ground for the rest of this meeting, also. His handling of Boiling Point, which was disqualified after winning the last race on Monday's program, prompted the officials to issue the order yesterday with a recommendation to the racing commission that the penalty be increased by six days to make a total of ten. Yarberry took Boiling Point across the field sharply to get to the rail on the first turn of the mile and three-sixteenths race.

Medalist Wins by 8 and 7 in County Women's Tourney

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Mrs. Evelyn Moore of Navajo Fields, runnerup in 1938 and medalist on Monday, yesterday led a number of favorites through the first round of match play in the twenty-fifth annual women's Cook county tournament at Jackson park. Going out in 39, she went on to win from Helen O'Rourke, competing unattached, 8 and 7.

Other favorites advancing were Mrs. Isabelle Meany of the home club, four times runnerup in the last decade; Mrs. Hunter Dickson, Flossmoor champion; Evelyn Bailey, another Jackson entrant, and Mrs. Mildred Simmons, a home contender, who won the title in 1937.

Miss Bailey captured the feature contest, 1 up, against Buelah Hurst, unattached. Evelyn was 4 up at ten holes and then began to miss putts, but won, with a scare at the home green.

Mrs. Moore meets Mrs. Meany today in the second round, while Miss Bailey opposes Mrs. Paul Daube, unattached, who defeated Mrs. Josephine Maynard of Jackson, despite the latter's birdies at the ninth and eleventh holes.

Sarah Peters, unattached, had to go five extra holes to win over Mrs. Ruth Liljeberg of Waveland. Making her first tournament bid, Sarah was 4 down at nine holes, but she kept on fighting and was even at the eighteenth. She won at the twenty-third.

Summary of yesterday's matches:

LITTLE HIG, away fast, and having speed, took command easily, as ISOLENE weakened on the turn, opened up a commanding lead under light urging in the stretch, then held sway to win with something left. VALDINA was a prominent factor from the start, lost ground on the turn, and closed well when straightened up in the stretch. DARK SEEKER raced wide throughout, was under strong hand riding after reaching the last three-eighths, and held on well.

Ward. Went to post at 2:46½. At post 2½ minutes. Start good, from Bahr gate. Won ridden out, place driving.

COLOSSEUM raced into the stretch strong and full of run. The start, moved up gradually after reaching the final quarter, swerved to the inside after taking command in the last sixteenth, and kept under pressure to the end, won with little left. YOU ALONE made the early pace under light restraint, drew out when called upon in the stretch, but tired sharply in the closing stages. STORCKY was strongly ridden from the start, lost ground, and weakened near the end.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

PRAIRIE DOG, quickly straightened up after swerving to the inside, shortly after the start, was kept under a steadying hold until the final quarter, closed resolutely on the outside and was drawing away at the stretch turn, came out in the stretch and, wearing down the leaders, drew out to win easily. GRIDIRON, away slowly, met with light interference early, secured passage on the inside the final three-eighths and closed well, in a good effort. RADDA had speed from the start, raced BUCKET HEAD into submission, then hung on gamely to the last eighth where she weakened.

SEVENTH RACE—Mile and one-eighth. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

At post 3 minutes. Start good for all but Hope Diamond, from Bahr gate. Won driving, place same.

MAYRO took command at once, drew out steadily while making the pace under restraint to the final three-eighths, was shaken up on the stretch turn and, under strong urging the last three-sixteenths, weakened badly after a mile but lasted. DECOURCY, under mild reserve for about seven-eighths, held on resolutely under strong handling thereafter. PRESIDENTIAL raced wide, did not respond to pressure when leaving the backstretch, rallied after straightening out in the stretch and, finishing with determination, was wearing down the leaders.

E. Irby. Went to post at 5:49. At post 1½ minutes. Start good, from Bahr gate. Won driving, place same.

RICH GIRL, away fast, but unable to keep up and jostled about on the first turn, began to move up fast when racing on the inside on the second turn, closed fast after coming out in the stretch and was ready to draw out. RARE BEN, moved from the inside when racing to the lead after a quarter, was steadied after drawing clear and kept in hand to the stretch, stood a mild drive gamely but was not good enough. BRILL, a strong contender from the start and raced wide, made a bid when called upon but weakened near the close.

SOMERVILLE AND ADAMS RALLY TO WIN IN CANADIAN

ST. BRUNO, Que., July 25 (AP).—Defending Champion Ted Adams of Chillicothe, Mo., and Ross [Sandy] Somerville of London, Ont., last year's runner-up, both had their troubles in the first round of the Canadian amateur golf tournament today, but managed to win, as did most of a strong United States delegation.

The champion had to make up a three hole deficit to beat Herb Pickard of Winnipeg, 3 and 1, after taking a 41 on the first nine. He was all square at the 14th and took the lead on the 15th in a fine comeback. Somerville was carried to the last green to turn back Joe Atkinson of Montreal, one up.

RIGGS CAPTURES OPENING MATCH AT SEABRIGHT

Seabright, N. J., July 25 (AP).—The nation's top ranking tennis amateur, 21 year old Bobby Riggs of Chicago, ran through his opening match in the Seabright invitation singles tournament today, losing only three games as he paced a representative field into the third round. Seeking to repeat his victories of 1937 and 1938 and retire the historic Seabright bowl, Riggs gained a 6-1, 6-2 triumph over Carlton Rood of Brooklyn.

Elwood Cooke overcame Robert Peacock of the University of California, 7-5, 3-6, 6-0. Others on the seeded list—Bryan Grant of Atlanta, Frank A. Parker of Pasadena, Cal., Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., and Wayne Sabin of Portland, Ore.—joined Riggs in the third round.

Top seeded Dorothy May Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., was pressed to three sets to eliminate Hope Knowles of Philadelphia, but Dorothy Workman of Los Angeles and Virginia Wolfenden of San Francisco, other seeded performers, advanced without difficulty.

Cubs Lose 2 to Dodgers; Drop to 4th

Hartnett bounced a hard grounder off Evans' glove, Durocher throwing Gabby out as Reynolds advanced. Glen Russell followed with a drive which hit the short protective screen on the left field wall, bouncing back into the field. Reynolds scored, and Babe Pinelli, third base umpire, waved Russell on to the plate from second. Pinelli was surrounded by the Brooklyn players, none of whom apparently knew of the recent ground rule adopted when the screen was erected to the effect that drives off it are home runs. The Cubs now led, 6 to 5.

Then Comes the Blowup.

The decisive ninth started with successive singles by Al Todd and Ernie Koy, batting for Durocher and Ira Hutchinson, respectively. Hutchinson, Brooklyn's third pitcher, had relieved Evans. Lynn Lary ran for Todd. These two hits sent Root on his way and Claude Passeau came in, Mel Almada greeting him with a single to left, scoring Lary with the tying run.

After Lavagetto forced Almada Parks' single scored Koy, and Larry French replaced Passeau. He walked Camilli to fill the bases. Jummy Hudson batted for Phelps and grounded to Hack, whose throw to Herman was wide, Lavagetto scoring.

SECOND GAME

Page granted only one run in the opening inning of the second game, although he was hit for a double and two singles. A throw by Galan nipped Parks at the plate when he tried to score from second on Moore's single. Almada opened with a double to left and scored on two infield rollers.

Brooklyn's lead became 3 to 0 in the fourth when Durocher hit a home run, scoring behind Coscarart.

Boston Whips Sox Twice, 3-2 and 6-5

Sox Enter Tie Again.

The run with which the Red Sox resumed the lead in their half of the sixth was a bit fuzzy. Williams opened with a single to center. Cronin popped a high fly back of first which Kuhel, Hayes, or Rosenthal could have caught. They let it plunk among them for a single, Williams taking third. Williams scored on Vosmik's sacrifice fly to Rosenthal, then Tabor flied to Walker and Hayes threw out Desautels.

The White Sox tied the score in the seventh. Knott singled to center with one out, went to third on Hayes' sacrifice, and scored on Kuhel's single to right.

The Red Sox broke the tie and knocked out Knott in the eighth. Williams opened with a 402 foot triple to the right field wall and scored when Cronin knocked a double over Kreevich's head.

SECOND GAME

The Red Sox accumulated a 2 to 0 lead in the first inning of the second game. Doerr opened the Red Sox offensive with a single to center. Finney flied to Rosenthal, after which Foxx banged his twentieth homer high over the sign board in left center, scoring Doerr. Hayes threw out Williams and Cronin was called out on strikes.

McNair opened the Chicago third with a single to left and Tresh walked. The bases were loaded when Tabor threw the ball away after picking up Marcum's grounder. Hayes doubled over Finney's head, McNair and Tresh scoring and Marcum stopping at third. At this juncture, Galehouse called a halt. Kuhel lifted a short fly to Vosmik, Kreevich fanned, and Rosenthal bounced to Foxx.

The Red Sox stepped out in front again in the fourth. Williams opened with a single to center and stopped at second when Cronin beat out a bunt to McNair. The runners advanced on Vosmik's sacrifice, then Tabor was given an intentional pass, loading the bases. Peacock forced Tabor, Williams scoring. Peacock stole second, but Galehouse was called out on strikes.

Luke Breaks Through.

Appling, who was stopped in the first game after hitting in fourteen consecutive contests, opened the seventh inning with a double to left. Luke held second on McNair's fly to Finney, after which Tresh was called out on strikes and Doerr tossed out Marcum.

In the eighth Kuhel walked with one out and stopped at second while Kreevich was beating out a tap to Galehouse. Rosenthal supplied the second out with a pop to Doerr, Walker then socked a double to center, scoring Kuhel and Kreevich. It appeared Walker had been sunk at third until Doerr's relay from Finney went over Tabor's head and into the Chicago dugout, Walker proceeding home. Appling singled and McNair walked, whereupon Heving replaced Galehouse and Radcliff batted for Tresh. Radcliff popped to Peacock.

LOWER COTTON, GRAIN EXPORTS CUT INTO TRADE

Foreign Commerce Less Profitable This Year.

Severe declines in exports of cotton, corn and wheat from the United States in the first half of this year, reduced this country's excess of exports over imports to $320,864,000, the department of commerce revealed yesterday in its monthly report on foreign trade.

The margin of exports over imports fell to about one-half of the $629,833,000 export excess in the first half of 1938. This country's industry and agriculture sold $1,415,427,000 of goods to foreign consumers and purchased $1,094,563,000 from other countries in the first half of 1939. In the same period in 1938, exports totaled $1,590,788,000 and imports were $960,955,000.

Lower Prices Have Effect.

The commerce department said the drop in exports was caused in part by lower commodity prices but more by curtailed shipments of cotton, corn and wheat.

Raw cotton exports in June slumped to 69,077,000 pounds from 103,258,000 pounds in June, 1938. Exports in the first half of 1939 fell to 752,287,000 pounds from 1,256,106,000 pounds in the first six months of 1938.

Despite the overwhelming cotton surplus in this country cotton mills imported 6,520,000 pounds last June and 48,297,000 pounds in the first six months this year.

Imports of cotton have been attributed to the vast frozen reserve cotton accumulated by the government under its loan program. It has been charged that the government holdings have prevented mills from obtaining adequate supplies of raw cotton.

Cotton Pledged for Loans.

Exports of corn dropped to 228,000 bushels in June and to 16,677,000 bushels in the first half this year from 13,343,000 in June, a year ago, and 97,614,000 in the first six months of 1938.

Wheat exports last month fell to 3,929,000 bushels and in the first half of 1939 to 47,963,000 bushels from 7,059,000 in June, 1938, and 50,327,000 in the first half of last year.

The commerce department also reported that June exports of $236,058,000 were below $249,259,000 in May but increased from $232,726,000 in June, 1938. June imports totaled $178,405,000, compared with $194,196,000 in May and $147,779,000 in June, 1938.

This compared with net income of $660,551 in the preceding quarter and net loss of $5,010,426 in the corresponding period of 1938. Net income for the first half of this year totaled $1,970,311, against net loss of $6,302,577 in the first six months of 1938.

E. R. Stettinius Jr. reports on profits.

Several other steel makers also announced favorable results in quarterly or six month periods.

Shipments 3½ Per Cent Lower.

Edward R. Stettinius Jr., chairman of the board of the United States Steel, said shipments of finished steel in the second quarter were about 3½ per cent less than in the first quarter.

"Prices realized for steel products shipped during the second quarter remained at substantially the same low levels that prevailed during the early part of the year," he said. He attributed the improved earnings "mainly to seasonal factors."

Stettinius asserted that shipments were keeping pace with production and that there had been no accumulation of stocks at the mills. Foreign business was well maintained, he said.

Shipments Near Half Capacity.

Shipments of finished steel products for the June quarter were 2,158,057 tons, or 48.2 per cent of capacity. For the six months shipments were 4,393,266 tons, or 49.2 per cent of capacity, against 3,010,354 tons, or 33.6 per cent of capacity for the corresponding period last year.

Current assets of United States Steel totaled $410,186,626, against $426,924,766 on March 31, and $426,984,023 on Dec. 31, 1938.

The number of employés for the six months ended June 30 was 208,113, against 206,357 in the corresponding period of 1938. Total pay rolls were $163,461,751 against $135,252,626.

About $3,400,000 of capital obligations maturing or retirable through sinking funds were paid, making a total net outlay on capital account in the second quarter of $8,100,000.

Dutch Currency Declines Again in Terms of Dollar

Dutch currency yesterday declined 0.14 cent in foreign exchange trading at New York, closing at 53.49 cents. Bankers attributed the further drop to reports that the Dutch government faced new difficulties over its recently formed cabinet. Other principal European currencies were unchanged. The New York Federal Reserve bank announced the engagement of $3,840,000 of gold in Canada for shipment to this country.

M'Ninch Asks to Resign FCC Chairmanship

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—Frank R. McNinch, chairman of the Federal Communications commission, today told President Roosevelt that he wished to resign. It is reported he told the President that he despaired of ever patching the commission together to run smoothly under his leadership.

Frank R. McNinch.

He advised Mr. Roosevelt to select a new man to carry on administration plans to revamp the legal framework and the administrative machinery so that one man rather than a commission will be the czar of the radio industry.

Ill for Several Months.

As he left the President, McNinch admitted he had asked permission to resign, but did not give the breakdown of the FCC as a reason for his request. He said he had been ill for several months and his retirement would aid his recuperation.

McNinch said his future plans are dependent on the President and that there may not be any news for several weeks.

In the meantime he said he will continue the leave which he requested at the beginning of his illness. He said his service with the FCC had convinced him that its chairmanship was not a job he would like to hold for life.

Begins Job by Firing.

McNinch was named to the FCC almost two years ago. He began by firing a number of FCC employés and ran into opposition from his fellow commissioners. The conflict extended into all commission decisions, with the result almost no orders were issued by the commission. Its meetings devolved into a series of heated arguments.

Not until McNinch's illness forced him to go on leave did the commission begin to function.

McNinch came to Washington as a member of the power commission in 1930 as a reward for his work in behalf of the candidacy of Herbert Hoover. Although a Democrat McNinch worked against Al. Smith in North Carolina in the 1928 presidential campaign. He was held over by the present administration.

GOVERNMENT PAYS OUT 46 MILLION DOLLARS FOR POOR FARM LANDS

Washington, D. C., July 25 [Special].—The United States government within the last five years has purchased more than 9 million acres of submarginal farm land at a cost of about $46,000,000, it was announced today. H. H. Bennett, chief of the soil conservation service, said acquisition of these areas, described as unsuitable for growing crops, constituted the largest program of its kind ever undertaken by the government.

The federal government, in acquiring farm properties on the foreclosure of loans, has become the largest landlord in the world outside of soviet Russia.

The 46 millions expended formed a part of the program for agricultural assistance which in the last seven years has cost the federal treasury about 15 billion dollars. Subsidies paid farmers for curtailing their production consumed about 3 billions of this amount, and loans to farmers 7 billions.

ILLINOIS OUTPUT OF OIL SOARS TO ANOTHER PEAK

Illinois oil production shot upward last week with an increase of 15,957 barrels a day, the Oil and Gas Journal indicated yesterday. Daily output in the week ended July 22 averaged 281,650 barrels to mark another new peak in the state's production.

The previous high in the Illinois daily average output was 265,693 barrels in the week ended July 15. With exploration and drilling advancing rapidly in the last year and a half, the oil fields in southern Illinois have risen to a prominent place among the nation's producing areas.

Illinois fields are now pumping 94,250 barrels a day in excess of the state's estimated daily requirement for July of 187,400 barrels, as computed by the United States bureau of mines.

TIRE SHIPMENTS IN JUNE HIGHEST FOR SIX YEARS

New York, July 25 (AP).—Tire shipments during June rose to 5,733,216 units, the largest for any month since June, 1933, the Rubber Manufacturers' association reported today.

Replacement shipments were largely responsible for the increase and were also the biggest since June, 1933. They totaled 4,264,298 units, compared with 3,240,936 for May and 3,177,572 for June, 1938.

SILVER MINED BEFORE JULY 1 GETS OLD PRICE

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—Two million ounces of domestic silver unsold when the President's monetary powers expired June 30 may be offered to the treasury at the old price of 64.64 cents an ounce, President Roosevelt announced today.

The silver was mined but not offered to the government before June 30 when the old price expired. In the bitterly debated monetary bill, congress neglected to state the price for an estimated 2,000,000 ounces of silver caught between the expiration of the old law and the effectiveness of the new act.

Using the monetary powers granted in this law, the President proclaimed that the treasury price for the stranded silver would be 64.64 cents an ounce. The old price would also effect silver mined on July 1.

KANSAS POWER'S BIG BOND ISSUE OFFERED TODAY

A banking group headed by the First Boston corporation and Dillon, Read & Co., will offer today a new issue of $26,500,000 first mortgage 3½ per cent bonds of the Kansas Power and Light company, due 1969. The bonds are priced at 108½ and interest.

According to the prospectus, the net proceeds of the new issue, together with a bank loan of $3,500,000, will be applied primarily to redemption of the company's $28,440,000 outstanding 4½ per cent first mortgage bonds, due 1965, at 108.

WILLIAMS MADE TOP OFFICER OF NORTH WESTERN

C. & E. I. Veteran to Succeed Sargent.

Appointment of Rowland L. Williams as chief executive officer of the Chicago and North Western Railway company was announced yesterday by Charles M. Thomson, trustee for the road. Both were former executives of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway, Williams as executive vice president and Thomson as trustee.

Williams, who began his railroad career thirty-two years ago as a messenger boy in Salem, Ill., his birthplace, will assume his North Western duties at once. The post of chief executive officer has been vacant since the recent resignation of Fred W. Sargent as president because of failing health.

Railroad in Receivership.

The appointment gives Williams one of the top executive positions in the railway industry, as the North Western ranks as one of the leading railroads operating from Chicago. Both the North Western and the C. & E. I. have been in federal receivership for several years. The C. & E. I. achieved the record of making the most rapid progress in reorganization among the carriers which have operated under jurisdiction of the courts. Its reorganization plan was given court approval on June 16.

Williams is 50 years old and lives with his wife and son at 5801 Dorchester avenue. He began to work for the C. & E. I. thirty-two years ago. When C. T. O'Neal became president of the line in 1931 he promoted Williams to the position of executive assistant to the president and later named him executive vice president.

Drop Plan to Name O'Neal.

O'Neal was originally regarded among railroad men as a likely choice for the post of North Western chief executive officer, but a month ago it was reported the plan had been dropped.

Williams said yesterday that he would not discuss his probable course with the North Western until he has had further opportunity to study the line and discuss its problems with operating officials.

The North Western, which serves important agricultural and industrial areas in states north and west of Chicago, has a major improvement program pending. Federal Judge John P. Barnes two weeks ago approved a budget which will enable the road to purchase 500 coal cars costing $1,450,000 and 300 box cars costing $960,000, to be financed by the sale of equipment trust certificates.

Williams was 15 years old when he entered railroading as a messenger with the old Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern at Salem, Ill., during his school vacations. His first full time job paid him $10 a month.

CHICAGO BANKER CHOSEN MANAGER OF KELLOGG FIRM

W. H. Vanderploeg, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, was elected yesterday to the position of executive vice president and general manager of the Kellogg company. He has been a director of the company since 1937. The company manufactures packaged breakfast foods at Battle Creek, Mich.

Vanderploeg immediately submitted his resignation to the bank. He explained that originally he expected his connection with the Kellogg company to be temporary, but at the request of W. K. Kellogg, head of the organization, and other directors, he had decided to become actively associated with the company.

Vanderploeg, a native of Pella, Ia., formerly was president of the Washington Park National bank. In 1931 he became assistant vice president of the Harris bank.

HIBBARD AGREES TO BUY ASSETS OF CHANNON CO.

C. J. Whipple, president of Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co., Chicago hardware wholesaling company, yesterday announced the company has arranged to acquire the assets of the H. Channon company. Channon, also a Chicago company, distributes mill machinery and hardware supplies.

Whipple said the acquisition is based on a purchase price of $7.50 a share for Channon's 41,872 outstanding shares of $10 par value preferred stock, and 75 cents a share on its 44,121 shares of $1 par common, subject to approval of 95 per cent of Channon's stockholders by Sept. 1.

It was reported holders of about 75 per cent of the Channon stock have already approved the acquisition and that no new financing by Hibbard will be required to complete the transaction.

CORN REACHES LOWEST MARK IN NEARLY 6 YEARS

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Monday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$ .61⅝	$ .60⅝	$ .67⅝
Corn	.38⅛	.38⅞	.57⅛
Oats	.24⅞	.24¾	.23¾
Rye	.39¼	.39⅛	.48
Soy beans	.66⅝	.66½	.83¼

Liquidation by holders of corn futures was resumed yesterday after the market had rallied about 1 cent in the early trading. Prices crumbled later as the result of steady selling in small lots by commission houses. The market fell about 2 cents a bushel from the early high to new low levels since October, 1933. The close was at net losses of ½ to ¾ cent.

Other grains showed resistance to selling pressure and prices averaged higher. Wheat futures gained ⅝ to ⅞ cent. Oats and soy beans finished unchanged to ⅛ cent higher.

Corn lacked support. Traders in commenting on the reports that the department of agriculture had called for bids on steel bins to store 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels of loan corn said this would not remove the grain from farms and it would be a constant threat hanging over the market.

Prices Offered Farmers.

At the close of the market yesterday farmers were being offered about 30 cents a bushel for No. 2 yellow corn at central Illinois country elevators and about 5 cents a bushel less in Iowa.

Export sales of about 100,000 bushels of American corn were reported, the first in many weeks.

Strength in the Liverpool market was largely responsible for the rally in wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. The July delivery in the English market equaled the all-time low price for futures at the opening yesterday, but immediately started to rally and closed equal to ¼ to ½ cent a bushel higher.

Importers Are Active.

Importing countries were estimated to have purchased nearly 4,000,000 bushels of foreign wheat yesterday. Included in the total were about 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian, 1,000,000 to 2,500,000 bushels of American, and 800,000 bushels of Australian grain. The United Kingdom was said to have been the buyer of the Canadian and Australian wheat, and the American wheat and flour went largely to the continent and the orient.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 25.—The stock market closed irregular today after a wave of afternoon selling canceled or reduced gains which were made in a brisk morning advance. At the close 296 issues showed gains, 333 were lower, and 211 were unchanged.

Trading, which was fairly active at the opening, showed a tendency to dry up when prices declined. Dealings totaled 1,229,650 shares, about one-third of which took place in the first hour. The volume compared with 1,069,210 shares Monday.

The first hour buying splurge was ascribed to public demand. Large blocks of stocks changed hands in an accumulation of overnight orders.

Steel stocks, led by United States Steel, Bethlehem, and National Steel, showed gains ranging up to 2 points in early dealings. United States Steel, however, closed only ¼ point higher, Bethlehem closed unchanged, and National Steel's gain was cut to a point.

Chrysler approached its 1939 high before meeting resistance. It closed 1⅝ points lower. Studebaker was given a whirl, rising ⅛ of a point to equal its 1939 high of 8½.

New York Bonds.

New York, July 25 (AP).—Low priced rails and some foreign dollar bonds were receptive to favorable news developments in today's market, rising major fractions to more than a point in many cases. In the case of the railroads it was the brighter prospects for federal legislation to aid the carriers that spurred buyers.

United States government issues kept in the background. Closing prices ranged from 3-32ds of a point lower to 3-32ds higher.

Chicago Stocks.

Commonwealth Edison and sixteen other issues yesterday sold at their highest prices of the year on the Chicago Stock exchange. On a turnover of 3,500 shares, Edison touched 30⅝ and closed at 30⅝ for a net advance of ¼ point. The stock returned to its usual position at the top of the trading list.

Middle West, second most active issue, lost ⅛ point, closing at 9¼.

Bank Stocks.

Trading in bank stocks yesterday was negligible, although some interest was displayed in Continental Illinois shares. Prices follow:

N. Y. Central's Operating Net Shoots Higher.

Several large railroads yesterday reported higher net operating incomes for June and the first half of 1939 than for the corresponding periods of last year. A few of those reporting also announced increased net income or reduced losses for June.

The New York Central announced net operating income of $2,456,388 for June, compared with $922,244 in the 1938 month. For the six months ended June 30 net operating income increased to $8,689,953 from $108,187 in the first half of 1938.

After 26 years of service with the Inland Steel company, Henry R. deHoll has retired as general superintendent of the Indiana Harbor works, effective Aug. 1, it was announced yesterday. A testimonial dinner will be held in his honor at the South Shore Country club tonight.

De Holl, who will remain with the company in a consulting capacity, has been general superintendent of the plant here for nine years. Prior to joining Inland in 1912, he was associated with the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company at Birmingham, Ala. His successor has not been named.

J. W. Hill has been named general trafic manager of the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad, with headquarters at Denver, Colo. Hill was formerly assistant freight trafic manager of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway.

FIGHT TO BLOCK REGULATION OF WATER CARRIERS

Washington, D. C., July 25 (AP).—A bipartisan bloc in the house launched a campaign late today to eliminate all regulation of water carriers from the transportation bill.

Representative South [D., Tex.] proposed the amendment to strike out the section dealing with water carrier regulation by the interstate commerce commission, but the house adjourned until tomorrow before the debate was completed.

The move was made after the coalition had scored a preliminary victory on an amendment which, proponents said, would safeguard the water carriers' low freight rates.

The preliminary amendment, by Representative Wadsworth [R., N. Y.], would restore a senate provision permitting all types of carriers to reduce their rates to a point just high enough to "maintain a compensatory return to the carrier." It was adopted on a teller vote of 147 to 119. Its backers said it would enable water carriers to maintain rates low enough to survive rail competition.

GEN. HOUSEHOLD UTILITIES FACES BANKRUPT SUIT

Involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were instituted in the United States District court yesterday against the General Household Utilities company, manufacturers of radios, electric refrigerators, and like articles, with a plant at 2638 North Pulaski road. The pedition was filed on behalf of creditors with claims totaling $2,000.

According to Attorney Michael Gesas, counsel for the corporation, a plan for reorganization of the concern will be submitted to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, to whom the case was assigned, in the near future. Liabilities consist principally of $400,000 in unsecured claims and a debt of $340,000 to the Reconstruction Finance corporation which is secured by collatrela. Assets consist of approximately $1,000,000 in real estate, merchandise, and equipment.

Daily Average Milk Sales Show Increase for June

The daily average of sales of fluid milk in the nation in June was 6,758,508 quarts, an increase of 5.7 per cent over the total of 6,388,855 in June, 1938, the Milk Industry foundation reported yesterday. Its report was based on figures received from leading distributors in 136 markets.

CORN REACHES LOWEST MARK IN NEARLY 6 YEARS

by England is expected to be placed in storage as an emergency reserve. It was announced on Monday that the British government contemplated buying 50,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, holding the grain at Atlantic port elevators so that it would be available for shipment on short notice in case of untoward political developments in Europe.

Weather Helps Illinois Corn.

Weather conditions during the last week "maintained or improved" already good prospects for corn, soy beans and late crops, A. J. Surratt, state and federal agricultural statistician, reported yesterday in the weekly Illinois crop review.

"Mostly moderate to warm temperatures with wet weather part of the week were favorable for the growth of all green crops, but adverse for the purpose of hay harvest and grain threshing as well as for the quality of these crops," the review said.

Average small grain quality was "only fair," Surratt reported. The condition of the corn crop was described as "the highest in years." The soy bean outlook "is for a large crop on a record acreage, while the Illinois corn acreage is the smallest since 1934." Winter wheat was reported as "about 95 per cent cut and 75 per cent threshed or combined."

ASK COMPETITIVE LAKE SHIP-SHORE TELEPHONE RATE

Washington, D. C., July 25 (AP).—A plea for establishment of a competitive basis for ship to shore telephone charges on the Great Lakes was presented to the federal communications commission today. Louis B. Gilmer, vice president of the Donnelly Radio-Telephone Company of Lake Bluff, Ill., entered the plea.

The commission resumed its investigation of existing and proposed rates of the Loraine County Radio-Telephone Corporation of Ohio, which it has suspended along with rates of the Donnelly company pending completion of its study.

Frank W. Wozencraft, representative of the Radiomarine Corporation of America, which intervened in the proceedings, said his organization had been granted experimental licenses for radio-telephone stations at Cleveland, O., and Buffalo, N. Y.

"AND ACCRUED INTEREST."

In the newspaper advertisment announcing the offering of Shell Union corporation debentures the price is 97¾ "and accrued interest." All funded debt offerings seem to carry the phrase "and accrued interest." What does it mean?—H. C.

The expression "and accrued interest" means that the purchaser of a bond must pay the offering price and the interest which has accrued to the date the purchase is made.

Suppose, for example, a $1,000 bond bearing 4 per cent interest, or $40 annually, is offered for sale. The interest is payable $20 on Jan. 1 and July 1 of each year. This interest cannot be collected before it is due.

If, however, the underwriters, having loaned their money to the company issuing the bond, have held the bond from Jan. 1 to June 1 they are entitled to interest on their money for that period. Therefore, when the bond is sold, it is at a price plus this interest due the underwriter.

The purchaser pays the sales price and the accrued interest. But he does not lose this money paid in interest. On July 1, the purchaser receives $20 interest for the first six months.

NOT ALL GONE.

Please tell me what has happened to General Household Utilities corporation. I bought some shares last year and a few months later trading in the stock on the Chicago Stock exchange was suspended Do I have to lose all my investment?—S. C.

Answer: General Household suspended manufacturing operations in October, 1937. Its business since that time has been confined to the disposal of inventories. No plan for rehabilitation of the company has been announced.

Negotiations are under way for the sale of General Household's plant at Marion, Ind., to Farnsworth Television and Radio corporation. General Household would receive $270,000 in cash and 25,000 shares of stock valued at $6 a share from Farnsworth. Part of the proceeds would go to pay federal taxes of $76,000.

The stock is quoted over-the-counter in Chicago. The bid quotation is at only a few cents a share.

"SEVEN-THIRTIES."

Answer: This refers to bonds bearing interest at the rate of 7.3 per cent. During the civil war, the United States government borrowed large amounts by issuing "seven-thirties." The peculiar rate was based on its being equal to 2 cents a day for each $100 invested.
